MAAS ASSAILS WAR CLAIMS OF U. S. AS FALSE

Japs Are Winning, He Insists.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—Rep. Melvin J. Maas of Minnesota, a colonel in the marine corps and senior Republican member of the house naval affairs committee, charged in a sensational radio speech tonight that Washington officials have issued misleading and "ofttimes pleasing" information about the progress of our war with Japan.

Rep. Melvin J. Maas.

"We are still losing the war in the Pacific," Col. Maas said. "We have been losing it every day since Pearl Harbor."

The fighting congressman returned to his duties in the house just before the Nov. 3 election after four months of combat land, sea and air duty in the Pacific. He purposely waited until after the election to blast the administration's conduct of the war with Japan lest his attack be attributed to political motives.

Navy Opposed Talk.

It was reported in authoritative quarters that the navy department sought to persuade him not to make his radio speech tonight, or at least to modify it substantially, but that he refused to be silenced.

Without mentioning the present operations in North Africa, Maas asserted that we "are fighting dozens of separate wars all over the world."

"They are not coördinated and are not all part of one over-all plan to defeat our enemies," he said. "Many of these 'fronts' are pressure fronts—that is, undertaken locally to satisfy various of our allies, but not as part of a well worked out general plan. Each united nation is now demanding a larger and larger share of our war production and more and more American troops to fight in their area. We are carrying on so many 'second fronts' that we seem to have had little or nothing left with which to carry on our own 'first front' in the Pacific."

Fears Jap Consolidation.

Japan will have won the war if she holds what she has conquered, Maas said. If she is permitted to develop her conquered resources of oil, tin, rubber, bauxite, iron, etc., and convert them into war production, we shall never be able to defeat her in war or to compete with her in post-war trade, he asserted.

"It will make little difference in the end who wins in Europe, we or Hitler, if the Japs win in the Pacific, for in 20 or 30 years a billion and a half orientals, industrialized, organized, and mobilized by Japan, will over-run a war devastated Europe and, finally, America too," Maas continued.

The American people do not realize that we are losing the war in the Pacific, Maas said, because the public has been misled by the official war communiques issued in Washington.

Losses Played Down.

"Unjustified optimistic releases created the impression that all was proceeding well in our war with Japan," he said. "Our naval losses were played down and concealed from the public long after Japan knew all about them."

Defeats and disasters have been distorted into successes and victories, he said. He bluntly charged that "one naval battle was and still is publicly acclaimed as a great American victory, when, in fact, our losses were greater and far more serious than those of the Japs."

Maas refused to identify the naval defeat which he said was represented as a great victory, but it is believed that he referred to operations in the Solomon Islands.

Another illustration of misrepresentation, Maas said, was "the naval disaster on the night of Aug. 8 in the Solomons when four heavy cruisers were sunk by the Japs—three American and one Australian.

"Even tho our forces had warning

Draft Childless Illinois Married Men by Dec. 15

Married men without children in Illinois will be drafted for army service by Dec. 15. Since last June the married men inducted have been those who married after last Dec. 8 or who married at a time when their induction was imminent.

Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service, said last night that the army's need for men is critical and that because it will take at least 45 days to start drafting 18 and 19 year old youths after President Roosevelt signs the draft law amendment the Illinois board would have to take married men.

Heavier draft calls upon Cook county boards will be made in the next few weeks because downstate boards have exhausted their supplies of 1A registrants.

"Virtually all Illinois draft boards," Armstrong said, "have exhausted their supplies of normal 1-A men and are about to begin inducting registrants with collateral dependents [parents, grandparents, brothers and sisters].

"The number of normal 1-A men plus those to be obtained from the groups with collateral dependents, however, is small and the supply will not last for more than 30 days."

THE SPIRIT IS FREE TO RISE AGAIN

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 12 [Special].—Modoc, the runaway elephant, was still on the loose in the veldt along the Wabash tonight. If you don't believe it, ask Edwina Allen, 17 year old cub reporter for the local paper.

Edwina was sent to the river bottom area, where the pachyderm has been eluding scores of searchers, to scout the activity. She was strolling thru a clearing when the two ton female fugitive charged out of a thicket about 500 feet away and thundered toward her.

"I don't know how I got up in that tree but I did it in nothing flat," Edwina related breathlessly afterward. "I went up so far I couldn't even climb down and had to drop to the ground after Modoc left."

Disappears in Marsh.

One female was apparently as frightened as the other, for the elephant fled from the scampering girl reporter and was soon lost to sight in the marsh that has provided her security in her day and a half of wild life.

Altho the unscheduled big game hunt provided numerous thrills for residents of the countryside, most of whom tried to get as close as possible, it caused discomfiture to others besides Edwina. Local policemen called out on the chase missed the banquet at the annual meeting of the Fraternal Order of Police, which they had been looking forward to for a year.

Terrill Jacobs, wild animal trainer and owner of Modoc, led the most hopeful effort of the hunt late today. Accompanied by two of Modoc's female mates, he tried to lure her from her stomping ground. But she spurned the companionship of her former friends and, at last reports tonight, was lost to sight. Her subdued mates were taken back to their circus quarters at Peru.

Call "Here, Modoc."

Thruout the day scores of searchers wandered along the river bottoms calling "Here, Modoc. Here, Modoc," in pleading voices, but she refused to listen. The hunters included state police, local officers, members of the Indiana state guard, and numerous citizens, most of them armed to the teeth despite Jacobs' pleas not to infuriate Modoc further by peppering her with buckshot.

Every time the pursuit got too close, Modoc forded the Wabash river, leading the crowd a hectic chase. She crossed the river five times during the day.

Modoc has been a fugitive since yesterday afternoon when she broke away from her keepers as they were taking her into the high school gymnasium for a show. After tearing up the business district and playfully rolling a woman on the floor of a local drug store with her trunk, Modoc ambled out of town and hasn't been back.

PROFESSOR GOES FOR PAPER AND FINDS NEW STAR

Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 12 (AP).—Dr. Edison Pettit arose before dawn last Tuesday, went outside to get his morning paper, and discovered a new star.

The California Institute of Technology professor described today how, glancing at the southern horizon, he noticed a bright star which shouldn't have been there, verified it with a six inch telescope in his back yard, then photographed it thru Mount Wilson's 100 inch telescope early yesterday.

He described it as a nova—one of the type which suddenly flares to many times its normal magnitude, then burns out within a week or so.

Kaiser Builds Cargo Ship in 4 Days, 15 Hrs.

Richmond, Cal., Nov. 12 (AP).—The 10,500 ton freighter Robert E. Peary, which grew from keel to completion in 4 days, 15½ hours, slipped from the Henry J. Kaiser ways today to break all records for speed in merchant ship building.

It is expected to be delivered, fully outfitted, to the maritime commission before next Monday—still another and even more significant mark.

Here is its schedule [in California time]: Keel laying, 12:01 last Sunday; launching, 3:30 p. m. today; anticipated time for keel-laying to delivery, 8 days or less.

Previous Record 10 Days.

The previous record for a similar ship was 10 days, 11 hours, and 55 minutes from keel-laying to launching, and an additional 3 days, 12½ hours for outfitting—both set by a Kaiser yard in Portland, Ore.

Today's ship was sponsored by Mrs. James F. Byrnes, wife of the national economic director and former Supreme court justice. It slid into San Francisco bay to the accompaniment of an a capella choir.

Not Trying for Records.

Clay P. Bedford, manager of Kaiser's yards here, credited workmen with making the new mark possible but said "we are not primarily trying to break any records.

"Our primary purpose has been the experimenting in new prefabrication methods for months, and after receiving hundreds of valuable suggestions and time saving inventions from our workers, we all decided to try them on one hull and see what would happen."

The hull of the Robert E. Peary had been constructed in large sections, even before the keel-laying, yard officials said, and the ship was 91 per cent complete at its launching.

NEW U. S. FORCE LANDS 60 MILES FROM FRONTIER

Hint Troops May Be Across Border.

LONDON, Nov. 13 [Friday]—(AP).—A powerful allied striking force advancing at a 75 mile a day clip early today was nearing the frontier of Tunisia, where reports said the Nazis had landed at least 2,000 men by air in an expanding effort to hold that strategic Mediterranean corner now under RAF assault from the opposite direction.

RAF twin engined bombers based on Malta aided the allied land forces by heavily attacking the axis infiltrated region of Tunis, capital of Tunisia, yesterday, and these blows were expected to increase in coordination with the American-British advance from the west.

The Vichy radio said the Tunis area was attacked again last night and that anti-aircraft guns in the French protectorate were in action during an alert lasting from 8:15 to 10:30 p. m.

[General rides submarine to plot African invasion with French. Story on page 9.]

Might Have Crossed Frontier.

Continuously fed from the sea and gathering momentum by land, the combined assault armies had reached and occupied Bone, eastern Algeria, only 60 miles from the Tunisian frontier, yesterday morning, according to Vichy reports.

By now it was believed here the Americans and battle veterans of the British 1st army might have plunged across the frontier.

Altho official silence cloaked the actual progress thus far, the allied ground troops were said in a Vichy broadcast to have been bolstered by American troops landed from British ships at Bone.

The allied troops were trying with the utmost speed to close a 1,000 mile coastal gap and catch the remnants of Marshal Erwin Rommel's troops, which now are between them and the British 8th army crossing into eastern Libya from Egypt.

Commanded by Veteran.

The American-British force advancing on Tunisia is commanded by a veteran of Flanders and Dunkirk, British Lieut. Gen. Kenneth Arthur Noel Anderson. Many of the hardened Tommies in his 1st army have met the German enemy before.

Under Gen. Anderson, in command of the Americans, part of the major force which the United States landed at Algiers, is Maj. Gen. Charles W. Ryder, U. S. A.

[Some entirely unofficial estimates placed the combined force at nearly 150,000 men.]

By axis accounts, the flow of allied ships supplying and reënforcing the Anderson-Ryder armies was under air

Marine Downs Zero, Crashes Another, Lives

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on page 10.)

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, Oct. 26 [Delayed].—A young marine fighter pilot yesterday had the most exciting half hour of his life. He shot down a Japanese Zero fighter during a dogfight, crashed into a second Zero and sent it spinning into the sea, then was forced to leap from his own plane. This was not enough for him, however.

Lieut. Jack E. Conger.

When picked up by shore watchers, the American pilot was nearly shot by a Jap pilot who objected to being rescued from the ocean.

He is First Lieut. Jack E. Conger, 21 years old, the son of D. E. Conger of Des Moines, Ia., and a nephew of the Rev. John Evans, religion editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Conger has two bombers and six Zeros to his credit as of this date, and brought down six of the total in the last 10 days.

Dives to Tackle Zero.

Here is Conger's story:

"Four Grummans set out to strafe three Jap destroyers. After strafing, one of our Grummans was out of ammunition, and I followed him to our field, then joined another fellow who shot a Zero above the field. Then I dived from 15,000 feet onto a Zero that was strafing the field, and got in a short burst, but do not know what happened to him.

"Then I got into a dogfight just off the beach and shot down a Zero. I didn't see him drop, but three other fellows afterward said the Zero burst into flames. Then I saw a plane heading my way, and we both were firing to beat hell when I ran out of ammunition."

[Paragraph eliminated by censor.]

"I pulled up, and they said later that I cut off five feet from the fuselage [lots more than I expected] and he went down; I went into a helluva spin. My motor was going crazy and I tried to right the plane but was unable to do so. I unhooked my safety belt and was half out of the cockpit when my .45's holster caught and I was unable to budge.

Plane Burns Near By.

"Finally I lunged out into space, and three seconds after pulling my ripcord, I hit the water. I swam under water a little way, unsnapped my parachute, and inflated my life jacket.

"I started swimming toward shore, half a mile away, and just then a Jap pilot of another plane sailed down 20 yards away. Then a Zero came down and burned about 100 yards distant.

"Soon a boat came out, and the Jap waved it to me. They pulled me aboard, and went back after the Jap, but he motioned the boat away.

"Two more boats came up and we surrounded the Jap and tried to rescue him. I hooked his belt with a grappling hook and he pulled out his pistol and struck me in the face. I fell back and he put the pistol to his head and pulled the trigger, but it failed to go off.

"There was an empty water can handy, so I hit him on the head. He sank, but came up again, and we took the grappling hook and hit him and pulled him in. He was knocked out by that time, and showed burns on his face and hands."

Conger got only one day's rest—that against his wishes—and will fly again tomorrow.

Conger and his comrades shot down more than 25 planes yesterday, and as a result there are no Jap planes over the field today for the first time in more than two weeks.

ADMIRAL HELD IN AFRICA JOINS ALLIES' APPEAL

Message Sent from Warship, Belief.

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP).—The voice of its longtime commander was added tonight to the radio chorus urging the French fleet to steam away from Toulon where it is lying strangely orphaned—the last bit of unoccupied France.

From Algiers, where he is a prisoner of the Americans, Adm. Jean Darlan broadcast a "request" that the commanders at Toulon bring their ships to North Africa. The former collaborationist and onetime commander of all Vichy French armed forces did not order the ships to sail but merely suggested that they join the allies or at least flee the German menace.

Talks from Warship.

A British Broadcasting corporation source in London said the appeal probably was made from a British or American warship on a wavelength that Darlan knew the French fleet would hear. BBC's monitors did not pick up the broadcast.

This message followed similar appeals by British and American military and naval leaders which have been beamed toward the silent French Mediterranean port for days.

Ordered End of Firing.

It was he who gave the cease-firing order at Algiers and who yesterday directed an end to all French resistance in North Africa—an injunction that was heeded despite the fact that he had been officially removed as Vichy generalissimo by Marshal Petain after the Algiers surrender.

But both of these actions were dictated by military necessity and today's broadcast seemed to be the first positive evidence that he was swinging his weight to the allied side in spite of his known dislike for the British.

Some sources on the continent with close connections in France persisted in the belief that at least some of the vessels at Toulon had detached themselves from the fleet in the last several days to join the allies.

Advance Short of Toulon.

But Hitler, treading lightly lest he frighten the French ships into flight, pulled up his forces at Marseilles, 30 miles short of Toulon, and the German controled Vichy radio said this concession was ordered because the French navy chiefs had pledged themselves to resist "any aggression."

British naval authorities shrugged off as worthless Hitler's promise to "safeguard" the fleet.

At the showdown, they believe, the feelings of the French officers and sailors—now men with power but without a chosen ally—will determine on which side they will fight.

The big prize at stake with the axis standing on the near side of the Mediterranean and the allies on the other, consisted of 82 warships, including three of the capital class.

Hitler Makes Decision.

A Vichy dispatch said that Hitler himself decided the Toulon naval base should not be occupied, and that the base had been labeled a "camp retranche," to be by-passed and set apart from occupation.

The French communique said:

"At Toulon the chiefs of our marine, having made an engagement to defend themselves against all aggressors, the German authorities have decided that the fortified port of Toulon will not be occupied and our ships will be safeguarded."

Despite Hitler's protestations, allied observers on the continent read into the communique the inference that the Germans stopped because a costly fight might develop against the naval big guns.

The difficulty of boarding a fleet that does not want to be boarded by hastily drawn-up land forces is apparent, and there is always the possibility of scuttling by the crews in the event of hostilities.

The complete loss of the fleet thru scuttling would be to the advantage of the allies, which have a preponderance of sea power; or if the French hold out against all comers their thus neutralized ships also would be to the allies' interests.

FINAL APPROVAL GIVEN TEEN AGE DRAFT BY SENATE

Brooks Pleads for Thoro Pre-Combat Training.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—On a voice vote late this afternoon the senate approved and sent to the White House legislation providing for the drafting of 18 and 19 year old youth into the nation's armed forces.

President Roosevelt's approval is assured and he is expected to sign the measure by the week-end, setting into motion the machinery for inducting teen age boys.

Passage came with only a few dissenting voices on a conference report, shortly after the senate heard an eloquent plea from Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] that these boys be given thoro training before being sent into battle on foreign soil.

Angry at Conferees.

The chamber was bitter over the action of its conferees in yielding to the house by eliminating from the legislation a senate amendment that these young soldiers receive at least 12 months' training before going into combat abroad. Senate conferees were subjected to a verbal lashing as aroused colleagues voiced their wrath.

But it was the short extemporaneous statement by Brooks, just returned from his triumph in last week's election, which most moved the chamber and highlighted the expression of senatorial sentiment that since there is no safeguard in the legislation for minimum training the responsibility must rest upon the administration and military leaders who objected to the training provision.

Others protesting the action of the senate conferees in killing the amendment, which had been approved, 39 to 31, by the senate on Oct. 24, included Senators Robert A. Taft [R., O.], Hiram W. Johnson [R., Cal.], Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], George W. Norris [Ind., Neb.], John A. Danaher [R., Conn.], and W. Lee O'Daniel [D., Tex.], author of the training amendment.

Farm Workers Deferred.

The legislation amending the nation's draft law not only reduces the minimum draft age from 20 to 18, but also provides deferment for essential agricultural workers, and permits the temporary deferment of high school students until the end of the school term if called for induction during the last half of the school year.

The legislation also provides that men reaching their 45th birthday anniversary may not be inducted without their consent, altho they registered for the draft when younger. It, too, makes subject to the draft those convicted of crime providing the offense was not punishable by death or more than one year's imprisonment.

Brooks explained that he would vote for the conference report because there was no other choice in approving the drafting of these young men but he made clear his protest against the removal of minimum training restrictions as the result of administration pressure.

Reassurance for Parents.

He observed that we have gone from the position of staying out of war to that of being in all the wars of the world on 40 fronts and having to take 18 and 19 year old boys to fill a sudden need for 7½ million men. The least that might be done, he asserted, would be to reassure the parents of America that their children will not be sacrificed untrained all over the world.

Explaining that he would vote for the full report, as required under parliamentary rules to preserve any of its parts, the Illinoisan said he could not do so without registering the expression that it is the will of the people of America that these youths be trained adequately before being sent to distant service.

"These young men will make the greatest soldiers in the world," Brooks continued. "There is no doubt of that. I know something about it. I served with them once. I know the courage and the daring of young men, but, thank God, in the unit in which I had the privilege of serving we were all trained, and I hope these boys will be trained.

Will of the Senate.

"I am sure that must be the will of every one here, and I hope those on the committee on military affairs, and the conferees who did or did not make such a gallant fight to sustain the amendment of the senate, will say to the admirals and to the generals, when they come: 'Certainly it was the will of the senate that you train these men before you send them to face their death under various climatic and physical conditions, and up against the steel of the whole old world' much of which we sent them. Before they face that steel and those trained armies these boys have a right to be trained.

"If I had any other way than by voting against drafting them, I would utilize it, but I have no other way, so I want my expression to hold, so far as I am privileged to represent the people of my state, that I think now we should all reëmphasize privately wherever we can that it is our will that these young men be trained adequately so that they can defend adequately their young lives and the whole future of America," he concluded.

Overwhelmed By House.

Sen. Chan Gurney [R., S. D.], author of the 'teen-age draft bill, speaking for the conferees, defended their action in yielding to the house on the training amendment. He claimed that the senate conferees had fought to retain it but the opposition from the house appeared overwhelming. Other conferees from the senate included Senators Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], Lister Hill [D., Ala.], and Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.].

But supporters of the amendment, who claimed 14 members in addition to the 39 who originally voted for it, were unconvinced by the conferees' explanation, and bluntly told them so.

"If you're the sort of men I think you are, you'll not tolerate the conferees' action on this amendment," Johnson told the chamber with great feeling.

Reversal of Stand.

Wheeler said he could not support the conference report because it represented a complete reversal of stand by military leaders who not long ago advocated 18 months' training for American soldiers before going into battle. Danaher charged that some Connecticut soldiers were being sent across after only six weeks' training.

Gurney declared, however, that the war department had assured him that most of the boys would receive 12 months' training, anyway, without the statutory restriction before going into combat service.

"I'm not going to have it on my conscience," said Wheeler, "that we're turning over the 18 and 19 year old boys—taking them out of high school—and saying 'You can send them anywhere in the world that you want to.' England doesn't do it. Canada doesn't do it. I don't know of any of our allies that do it."

Hits "Dictator" Statement.

Wheeler strongly attacked a recent statement which he said appeared in a publication of the International Teamsters' union, headed by Dan Tobin, White House intimate, urging a dictatorship in the United States.

"The people of this country are already saying 'We don't want any dictatorship and we don't want congress to abdicate'," said Wheeler, "and it wasn't because 'only the well-to-do voted in the recent election'," [a statement made by Vice President Henry A. Wallace].

REP. IZAC WINS IN CALIFORNIA BY 777 VOTES

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 12 (AP).—Ed V. Izac, Democratic congressman, was reëlected on the basis of the official canvass of San Diego county's general election vote tonight. He had a margin of votes over James B. Abbey, his Republican opponent. This made California's congressional delegation stand at 12 Democrats and 11 Republicans.

many hours in advance, we still were caught totally unprepared. We suffered a disaster that night second only to Pearl Harbor, but worse in one sense, since this time we had advance warning in time to have been prepared.

"The Japs, with only cruisers and several destroyers, struck in the middle of the night, caught our fleet literally asleep, opened up with their deadly attack, and were gone out of range of our guns without even being fired upon by our ships. The whole thing was over in eight minutes."

After that "major disaster," Maas said, "the announcement was made from Washington that our navy had won a major victory from Japan, dispersing their fleet." He quoted the statement of Adm. Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the fleet and chief of naval operations, on Aug. 10, that our losses were "at least one cruiser sunk and two cruisers . . . damaged."

Lack of Organization.

Maas said the Solomons campaign was not well organized and not followed up at all. Our own army and navy, he said, have different ideas about the war in the Pacific, while the local commanders do not have sufficient authority to order all branches into one unified plan.

"A really united force, with one war plan, under one commander, with adequate supplies, ships, planes, and troops can defeat Japan. Japan is vulnerable. She has been hurt and wounded badly.

"We can break Japan's conquests now. Let them set, and we may never again have a chance to break them."

ARMY WILL OPEN WEATHER SCHOOL AT GRAND RAPIDS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—The war department announced today an army air forces weather training center, with facilities for 5,000 students, will be opened at Grand Rapids, Mich., in about two months.

The army has acquired the Pantlind hotel, the Civic Auditorium building, the Fine Arts building, the Manufactures Exhibit building, the hospital of the Michigan Soldiers' home and the city wholesale market to house the school.

Commanding officer of the school will be Col. Edward C. Black, formerly in command at Sheppard field, Wichita Falls, Tex, a native of Fairfield, Ill.

PACIFIC FLYER SAYS FIRST U. S. PLANES 'MOLDY'

Lieut. Gene F. Drake, 22 year old, multi-decorated flying hero from Wilmette, said the planes first given the American air force in Australia were a "moldy," outdated type of P-40 greatly inferior to the Jap Zero fighters that attacked them. He spoke last night at a meeting of the Fellowship Forum of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the restaurant at 171 West Madison street.

Drake has been awarded the United States silver star, the Purple Heart, and the Oak Leaf Cluster "for conspicuous gallantry" in several air engagements during which he brought down one Jap bomber and a pursuit bomber.

By coincidence his brother, Lieut. Stafford Drake Jr., 24, a marine flyer, arrived on leave at the family home at 1011 Greenwood avenue, Wilmette, two days before Gene came in on furlough from New Guinea in time to beat a cablegram he had sent to his parents from the southwest Pacific by two hours.

HAUPT'S FATHER TELLS STORY OF SABOTAGE PLOT

Confession Admitted

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Hans Max Haupt (right) in custody of Deputy United States Marshal Louis Kaplan in the federal courthouse yesterday. Haupt's confession of collaboration with his son, Herbert, one of six executed Nazi saboteurs who landed in America from a submarine, was admitted into evidence in the Chicago treason trial yesterday.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

The government last evening brought to a smashing close its treason case against six Chicago men and women accused of sheltering the Nazi saboteur, Herbert Haupt—since executed—and of helping him prepare for a campaign of fiery destruction among American war industries.

Over dogged opposition by defense counsel Federal Judge William J. Campbell admitted to evidence a 23 page confession by Herbert's father, Hans Max Haupt, one of those on trial. This amazing narrative not only linked each of the defendants to young Haupt and his mission for Germany but disclosed that the Nazi spy net in America reaches high places as well as low.

It revealed also that the German U-boat, bringing Haupt and three of seven fellow saboteurs to this country, sank at least two freighters en route and in turn was bombed by a plane whose depth charges burst near enough to jar the submarine severely.

Government Rests Today.

After reading Hans Haupt's confession to the jury of eight women and four men, J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, said the government would rest its case this morning. The defendants, besides Haupt, are his wife, Erna; Herbert's uncle and aunt, Walter and Lucille Froehling, and two family friends, Otto Richard and Kate Wergin.

Hans Haupt's statement begins with a family history; the birth of all three Haupts in Germany, his four years in the German army during World War I. and their emigration to America in the early 1920s. Haupt rose from journeyman bricklayer to contractor, but lost all in 1929 and was intermittently on relief up to 1933 when he started over. Mr. and Mrs. Haupt became citizens and took the oath of loyalty in the 1930s.

Gives Money to Herbert.

In June, 1941, a few weeks before Herbert would have registered for the draft—he was 21 on Dec. 21, 1940—he determined to leave the country. His father gave him $50. Herbert, with Wolfgang Wergin, son of the defendants Wergin, crossed into Mexico and made contact with the German consul in Mexico, D. F., according to the statement.

They had determined to reach Germany via Japan, and their way was smoothed for them thereafter. All this was related by Herbert when he returned to Chicago last June 19 and went to the Froehling home, according to the statement.

In the presence of the Froehlings and his mother and father, Herbert said that to board the last ship bound from Mexico to Japan it was necessary to fly to Mexico's west coast, the statement goes on. There was a crash and Herbert received four broken toes, but caught the boat.

To France on Freighter.

"In Tokio they were met by the German consul," the confession continues. "Later they [Herbert and Wolfgang] took a freighter and went to Bordeaux, France. He said he went thru the British blockade. Then Herbert told me he received the iron cross, second class, and they got a medal for going thru the blockade."

Haupt's statement says Herbert visited Paris, Verdun, and Cologne.

"From there [Cologne] he went to Berlin. He had been called there and they gave him a course in the military school [at Brandenburg] for intelligence work. Herbert said he went thru hard training on how to blow up factories, bridges, depots, etc.

"After he completed this course, Herbert was given a higher rank. Wolfgang signed up in the German army for a period of 12 years."

The statement then relates that Herbert was given a vacation and visited relatives at Podjuch. He took Wolfgang as his guest. When the short leave ended:

"Herbert received instructions to report back to his headquarters and was told to come to the United States aboard a German submarine. Herbert stated that when he went into the U-boat, they put a wreath around the head of each member of the crew.

Tells of Sinking Ships.

"Shortly before arriving on the east coast of the United States they saw freighters. He estimated the U-boat sank about two freighters and named them, but the names I cannot recall.

"I believe that Walter Froehling will recall the names of those ships. Herbert then said that a flyer went overhead and dropped depth bombs. One was pretty close and shook the U-boat up.

"When close to the east coast of Florida a rubber boat was set afloat from the submarine and two sailors rowed Herbert and three others to the shore. He stated he had a German marine cap and that in case they were caught he would only be taken as a prisoner of war.

"He said that as soon as they reached the coast they buried their caps and other things, dynamite and so on. Then the rubber boat went back to the U-boat. They blinked lights that everything was okay."

Entrains for Chicago.

Herbert and his three companions made their way to Jacksonville, Fla., where Herbert bought clothing and a gold wrist watch. Then, with one of the other three, Herbert entrained for Chicago. The identity of this companion was not disclosed, but it may have been Hermann Otto Neubauer, since executed with Herbert. Neubauer once lived in Chicago. The confession continues:

"Herbert stated that this man who accompanied him moved into the Knickerbocker hotel in Chicago and Herbert gave him the telephone number of Walter Froehling so that, if he desired to contact Herbert, he could do so. While we were at Froehling's I saw Herbert open his suitcase.

"When we were about ready to leave, I saw Herbert holding a greyish green zipper bag, and I believe he handed it to Walter Froehling. I stated to Herbert: 'What is that bag?' Herbert stated he had about $15,000 in the double bottom of the bag. Herbert told Walter he should keep the bag until he picked it up.

Money from Government.

"We asked him where the money came from and he said he got it from the German government. Mr. and Mrs. Froehling and my wife and I were present when Herbert stated he got this money from the German government.

"Herbert said they were to have a meeting July 6 at the Knickerbocker hotel and that the men were coming from New York, and that the head boss would be there. Herbert said he would give the zipper bag to the head boss. The head boss was to take the bag to New York and give it to a banker and have the money changed to other denominations.

"The banker, I believe Herbert said, is the president of a bank in New York and works with the German government hand in hand. I think Herbert stated the name of this banker, but I cannot remember it. However, I believe that Walter Froehling possibly knows the names of this banker and the bank he is connected with."

The Haupts entered their automobile to leave the Froehlings after Herbert had told of his travels and plans. At the last minute, the youth said he had forgotten his money belt, went back inside, and returned with it.

Money Hidden Under Rug.

"When we got home Herbert looked at the belt and saw one section was ripped open," Haupt's statement reccords. "Then he found a brown envelope. He took the money out of the belt and put it into this envelope. There was about $3,600. He put the envelope under our bedroom rug. My wife and I got very scared and said we would have to watch that boy. I knew this money came from Germany."

The next night the Haupts and Herbert paid a midnight visit to the Wergin home. Mrs. Wergin was alone, her husband playing drums that evening in the band at the Haus Vaterland, a hangout of the German American bund on Western avenue. Herbert said little, as the Haupts were suspicious of Lorraine Demmler, a roomer at the Wergins, who came in soon after they arrived. Miss Demmler's testimony last week at the trial proved that their fears were well grounded.

The statement goes on to relate what happened after Wergin had come home and Miss Demmler had gone to bed:

"Then Herbert started in with the whole thing, telling the same story he told at Froehling's home the night before. Mr. Wergin then asked Herbie: 'Did Wolfgang get medals, too?' Mr. Wergin drew Herbie closer to him and asked Herbie to describe to him how the medal looked. Herbert said Wolfgang received the iron cross and the blockade medal, too.

Says Wergin Pledged Aid.

"Then, when they came to the conversation about what Herbie is doing here, Wergin said: 'O, I see. The intelligence.' Wergin said to Herbie: 'If you need me, I am willing to go along; just let me know. I am not so dumb. I know how to help you out.' Later my wife told me Herbie had given Mrs. Wergin $30.

"Herbert was discussing with Wergin the manner in which a plant for freezing metal is operated. He said these plants have three or four lines. In case one of the lines is damagede, the other lines can be used to run the plant.

"This was all before Wergin said he would help Herbert. Herbert and Mr. Wergin talked privately for quite some time, but I didn't pay much attention because I was very tired. I know that Mr. Wergin knew what Herbie was to do in this country to commit acts of sabotage.

"I wish to state that my wife and Mrs. Wergin were present and heard the conversation between Mr. Wergin and Herbie. Mr. Wergin appeared to be much interested in Herbert's description of the trip to the United States on the submarine."

Haupt Frightened, He Admits.

The Haupts left the Wergins at 4 a. m. and drove to the Froehlings, where Herbert spent the remainder of the night. He was expecting a phone call that [Sunday] morning from his fellow saboteur at the Knickerbocker.

Herbert, his parents, the Froehlings, and the Wergins were together again Sunday.

Monday morning, the statement says, Hans Haupt sternly ordered Herbert to register for the draft or not stay at the Haupt home. Herbert did so. He visited the FBI office and spent a casual half hour. Agents told him they had no record against him. That night he showed his parents the registration card he had obtained and they felt relieved.

Herbert then began urging his father to buy him an automobile. Ernest Peter Burger, one of the two surviving saboteurs, testified early in the trial that Lieut. Walter Kappe of the German sabotage command had ordered Herbert to provide a car for his group. The car was bought in the name of Hans Haupt, the confession says.

Drive to Grunau's Home.

The next day the Haupts and Herbert drove to the home of Andreas Grunau, superintendent of the optical company where Herbert had worked on the Norden bombsight. Burger testified Lieut. Kappe also had ordered Herbert to return to work there.

Herbert talked privately with Grunau and announced afterward he was to go to work Thursday. [Grunau, an alien, now is in the federal detention home at 4800 Ellis avenue.]

Haupt's statement continued that he was certain Herbert had confided his sabotage mission to Martha Wernecke and her son, William, a bund leader, now under a federal charge of draft evasion. When arrested two months ago, Wernecke was posing as a minister and had a store of guns, ammunition, and explosives in his home at 6250 Wayne avenue. Herbert told his father he wanted to meet a physician "who had fixed Wernecke up some way so he wouldn't be called in the draft."

Haupt believes also that his son told Grunau of the trip, according to the statement, which adds:

"I did hear Herbie tell Wergin that the money in the money belt was for his personal expenses, while that in the zipper bag was to pay people he hired to do sabotage work. Herbie left the house Saturday morning, June 27, and I haven't seen him since.

Says Story Told to Others.

"I wish to state that Herbie told the complete story to my wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wergin, and Mr. and Mrs. Froehling and they have full knowledge of the purpose of him being in the United States. They know more about Herbert's activities than I have mentioned. They were with him more than I.

"Herbert also mentioned the fact that it was the intention of the German government to send more saboteurs by means of submarines if the first eight men arrived safely."

The statement was signed July 3, 1942, and was witnessed by Agents Ralph F. McCay, George D. O'Connor, and Millard E. Shaeffer of the FBI. The treason trial resumes today.

EARLY SHOPPING FOR CHRISTMAS URGED UPON ALL

Wartime Difficulties Are Cited by Merchants.

The pre-Christmas buying rush will be a nightmare of confusion, delays, and disappointments unless Chicagoans do their shopping early. This warning was given yesterday by merchants, who said the well worn slogan, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early," is given this year in desperate earnestness.

Two factors make the situation serious: [1] a shortage of help in the stores and a scarcity of competent extra helpers for the Christmas rush, and [2] transportation difficulties, including both the handling of customers and the delivery of their purchases.

Merritt C. Penticoff, president of the Chicago Retail Merchant's association, said the sales force of most stores has been reduced by enlistments and the draft and the movement of workers to jobs in war industries.

Temporary Workers Scarce.

For the Christmas season the stores normally employ many thousands of temporary workers, but this year they are finding difficulty in hiring them. Penticoff said the board of education has agreed to release high school pupils in the upper grades for full or part time work in loop stores beginning Dec. 5, and this is expected to help the stores considerably.

Christmas shoppers, however, must expect to find many inexperienced sales persons and less efficient service, Penticoff said.

Start of gasoline rationing on Dec. 1 and curtailment of bus service are expected to result in jams on all transportation lines during the holiday rush. In addition, the stores face the problem of making heavy deliveries under the government enforced program of saving tires, gasoline, and man power.

Transportation difficulties also will handicap the stores if stocks of certain goods are exhausted, since it will not be possible to replace them quickly. Penticoff said there are reasonably large supplies of most goods on hand, but he warned that early shoppers will have the advantage of a large selection, while late shoppers may have no selection.

Asked to Carry Packages.

All shoppers will be asked to carry as many packages as possible. They will be advised to bring shopping bags so the white boxes to be used by some stores may be slipped into them without protective wrappings. There will be no special Christmas boxes this year.

Santa Claus, in a chariot drawn by six champion horses, will jingle up and down State street from Congress to Lake streets tomorrow morning. At 11 a. m. he will halt at State and Madison streets to greet children and to be welcomed by Dr. Leverett S. Lyon, vice president of the Association of Commerce; A. S. Bauer, second vice president of the Chicago Retail Merchants' association, and Elmer T. Stevens, president of the State Street council.

Santa will find State street without Christmas lighting and decorations for the first time in nearly 20 years. The State Street council voted yesterday to dispense with the decorations in compliance with a War Production board request to conserve electricity and vital materials. Store windows and interiors will be lighted as usual.

COUNTY LACKS MONEY TO PAY POLL WORKERS

Checks totaling $91,462 that have been made out for registration clerks and canvassers are being withheld for lack of funds, it was disclosed yesterday. Delay in paying 22,685 judges and clerks of election is expected also.

"These bills all will be paid when the county board gets the money," said County Treasurer John Toman. "I am leaving office on Dec. 7 and I want to leave clean."

Checks awaiting Toman's co-signature now are for 494 registrars who worked in fire stations for eight days ending Oct. 5 and for 7,958 canvassers who worked on Oct. 8 or 9.

AFTER 4 MONTHS, CHANDLER'S POOL IS HELD ILLEGAL

Senator's Contractor Friend Penalized.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—The War Production board today made a belated finding that a $3,500 swimming pool built last summer for Sen. A. B. [Happy] Chandler on his country estate near Versailles, Ky., was constructed in "willful violation" of WPB regulations.

The finding was significantly delayed four months from the time of the violation until after the Nov. 3 election in which Sen. Chandler succeeded in retaining his office.

Contractor Penalized.

Today's WPB order penalized the contractors who built the pool, Ben H. Collings and Bess H. Collings, his wife, by denying them all priority assistance in obtaining materials for a period of three months. Sen Chandler himself was whitewashed by the WPB, which found he had "no responsibility" for the violation.

At the time Collings built the swimming pool on Sen. Chandler's estate, Collings was also doing subcontracting work on military projects for the government. Chandler said the pool was a gift from Collings built "in the name of friendship and accepted in the same spirit." Chandler is a member of the senate military affairs committee which passes on all war department appropriations.

Roosevelt Got Protest.

Complaints that the pool construction violated federal regulations were made last July to President Roosevelt, the WPB, the FBI, and the Truman committee by John Young Brown, Chandler's opponent in the Democratic primary, but no action was taken until today.

The WPB order which was ignored by Collings was issued last April 9. It prohibited residential improvements costing more than $500 as well as the use of critical materials for construction without WPB authority.

Today's penalty order said the violations by Collings "have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States." It found brass parts were purchased for the swimming pool and that it was built without WPB approval.

CANADA TAKES ACTION AGAINST REPORTER ON TIME'S NAZI STORY

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 12 [Special].—The Canadian department of justice today announced that a warrant had been sworn out charging Edward J. Rohrbough, an American citizen, with a violation of the defense of Canada regulations.

Rohrbough, described as a Toronto newspaper employé working at Barrie, Ont., was charged with having air mailed to the magazine, Time, information which provided the basis of an article dealing with the shackling of German war prisoners at a camp at Bowmanville, Ont.

Time Upholds Rohrbough.

New York, Nov. 12 [Special].—A statement issued tonight by Time, Inc., in connection with the arrest of Edward J. Rohrbough, said:

"We are very sorry to learn that action has been taken against Mr. Rohrbough. He acted in good faith, and we feel sure the record will prove he had no intention of embarrassing Canada's war effort or aiding the enemy, or of giving any news which would be detrimental to the cause of the united nations."

WOMAN FIRST TO LOSE A GAS RATIONING BOOK

The distinction of probably being the first person to lose a gas rationing book goes to Mrs. Dorothy Blue, 3? years old, 329 South Artesian avenue. Her husband, George, entrusted her with the book which he got at the Grant school, 2433 West Wilcox street, yesterday.

"I went home to put the book away and when I got there it had disappeared," she reported to Sergt. William Barratt of Warren avenue police.

$8,000 JEWELS STOLEN IN HOME OF C. F. CHILDS

Ladder Burglar Enters Lake Forest House.

The north shore burglary gang has struck again, stealing jewelry valued at more than $8,000 from the home of C. Frederick Childs, investment banker, at 747 East Deerpath avenue, Lake Forest. Mr. Childs is head of C. F. Childs & Co., 141 West Jackson boulevard.

The same gang is believed responsible for a series of burglaries on the north shore in the last six months. Between Oct. 23 and Nov. 6, four homes in Highland Park were looted of silverware, clothing and oriental rugs valued at more than $3,000.

Apparently Enters By Ladder.

The burglary of the Childs home, reported yesterday, was committed Wednesday evening while Mr. and Mrs. Childs and five servants were in the lower part of the house. The burglar apparently used a ladder to enter a window of Mrs. Childs' bedroom, nearly 25 feet from the ground. He ransacked the drawers of her dresser and dressing table, taking a bracelet with 170 diamonds, valued at $4,000; a platinum ring set with diamonds and rubies, valued at $2,000; a platinum bar pin, set with 10 diamonds, and other jewelry valued at more than $1,000. Nothing else in the house was touched.

Muddy Tracks on Floor.

Chief Frank Tiffany of the Lake Forest police found mud tracked on the bedroom floor, and theorized that the burglar used a ladder to gain entrance. There were no ladder marks in the ground, however, indicating the thief may have used a plank on which he set the ladder. Chief Tiffany did not dismiss the possibility that the burglar may have entered and departed thru the front door of the house.

On July 7, 1936, the Childs home was robbed of jewelry valued at $30,000 by a burglar who entered the front door. This man was heard by a maid, and when he called out "I'm busy," she thought he was the chauffeur and paid no more attention.

300,000 Are Registered for Basic Ration.

About 300,000 more Chicago automobile owners will register for their basic gasoline ration books today. Those whose names begin with M thru R will register at their nearest elementary schools from 7 a. m. until 1 p. m. Drivers with names S thru Z will register from 1:30 p. m. until 9 p. m.

Michael F. Mulcahy, Office of Price Administration agent in Chicago, said that a total of 298,004 motorists in the Chicago area, 236,805 of them in Chicago proper, had received their basic gasoline ration cards yesterday when motorists with names beginning with A thru L registered.

Mulcahy warned passenger car drivers that tonight will be the deadline for accepting registrations at schools.

During the first few hours the applicants were mostly men, but as the day progressed, more women appeared at the schools, and in many places baby buggies were lined up two and three deep.

Swamped by Tire Calls.

Railway Express offices were swamped with last minute calls to pick up tires. By 2 p. m. the main office had received more than 1,800 calls. In the brand office, tire forms were used up quickly, and late comers were told they could not leave their tires.

In desperation, many car owners left their tires at the express offices without asking for a receipt, so they would be able to get their gas ration book. At the express office at Clark street and Wilson avenue, tires were piled 12 feet high, donated by people who didn't care to wait.

Frederick Glover, district manager of the Railway Express, reported that 50,000 tires were piled up at terminals because they were coming in faster than the government could take them. He said that six government warehouses already were jammed, and the agency was seeking additional space.

More Forms Sent Out.

Glover said that 12,000 forms had been distributed to branch offices in the morning, and that an additional 10,000 would be sent out today to take care of motorists with more than the five tires allowed.

Mulcahy said there were no hitches in the program and motorists received good service.

"After the experience Chicagoans have had with sugar rationing and draft registration they proved themselves cheerfully able to get the job done," he said. "We had many calls at the board of election commissioners—around 40 a minute from people to ask where they should register. Outside of that every one seemed to know what to do, and did it without confusion or trouble," he said.

Josephine Clinnin, principal of the Von Humboldt school at 1410 North Rockwell street, reported that everything went smoothly. "We only had around 100 people come in during the morning, but nearly all of them had their blanks correctly made out, and consequently there was no delay," she said.

Mrs. Francis Derengowski, 2611 Homer street, voiced a common complaint of many other women registrants. "With this gas rationing," she said, "it will be impossible for me to use the car to get my marketing done.

"I have two young children that I can't leave alone at home while I go out, and it is hard to buy wisely unless I visit different stores. Formerly I took the children in the car with me, but now I don't know how I will manage it," she said.

Many to Ask Extra Gas.

At the Le Moyne school, 851 Waveland avenue, 500 people had registered by 10 a. m. Many of the applicants were taking supplemental registration blanks, intending to apply to their local rationing board for additional gas.

Mrs. Rita Hayden, a teacher, said that the people were good natured about the procedure, and asked few questions. "Nearly all of them had everything correct," she said, "so it made the work much easier."

Several schools reported that they did not know how to handle applications covering cars owned by men in the armed services who were not able to sign the application. Mulcahy said that if the person bringing in the application could show good cause why it was impossible to get the owner's signature, the boards should issue a ration book.

In the suburbs, registration began at 2 p. m. First reports indicated that the machinery was functioning as smoothly there as in the city. All applicants interviewed agreed that if rationing were necessary as a war measure, it should be accepted gracefully.

Lake County Divided.

In Lake county, four townships, Waukegan, Shields, Deerfield, and West Deerfield, registered car owners. The other 14 townships will hold registration on Nov. 18, 19, and 20.

The rationing, originally scheduled to start Nov. 22, has been delayed until Dec. 1. Persons needing additional gas for occupational driving can obtain supplemental applications which will be passed on by local rationing boards.

Approximately 41 counties in the state began registration yesterday. The others, which did not have adequate supplies of ration books, will start on Nov. 18.

Decides on Divorce

MARY ASTOR.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 12 (AP).—Mary Astor and her husband, Manuel Del Campo, now on leave from the royal Canadian air force, disclosed today that she would file suit for divorce in Los Angeles within a few days.

Said the MGM press agent who made the announcement for the Del Campos: "They made a property settlement last April. They decided Miss Astor was to file the suit while he was here. Neither had any comment."

Married in Yuma, Ariz., in 1937, the Del Campos have a boy aged 2½. Miss Astor has a daughter, 9, by her first husband, Dr. Franklin Thorpe.

TOMORROW LAST DAY TO GET OIL BEFORE 'FREEZE'

Users of fuel oil have one more day in which to obtain oil without the use of ration coupons, by signing promissory notes to deliver the coupons to the dealers after the coupons are distributed.

The period in which oil may be purchased in this manner will close Nov. 15, and will be followed by a week's "freeze" of all fuel oil sales, during which time consumers will redeem their promissory notes by giving the dealers the required number of stamps for fuel already purchased.

After Nov. 23, purchases will be by coupon. Distribution of the coupons will be made, the rationing office said yesterday, in time that all redemptions may be made during the week of frozen sales, in order that dealers may replenish their supplies.

STOP GROUSING ON MEAT QUOTA, OPA TELLS CITY

Portland, Ore., Nov. 12 (AP).—Portland was advised by Regional OPA Food Administrator Guy R. Kinsley today to stay within its meat quota and stop complaining. No city, he said, has been granted a higher quota because of population increase.

As a matter of fact, Kinsley said, Portland isn't as bad off as some other cities. Las Vegas, Nev., for example, has more than doubled in population yet gets only a percentage of its peacetime meat quota.

Portland packers say a meat shortage is imminent because they have exhausted their slaughter quota for the year. They said they expected a quota increase because of the city's growth.

VOID 'B' AND 'C' GAS BOOKS FOR TRIPS TO SPORTS

38 Motorists Spotted at Events Lose Rating.

New York, Nov. 12 [Special].—The OPA proved today that it isn't kidding about gasoline rationing. Its New York district office announced the revocation of the "B" and "C" ration books of 38 motorists who had been spotted at race tracks and football games. All admitted they had used their supplemental ration coupons illegally.

The crackdown was the first result of a six day investigation, during which OPA agents found thousands of apparent violators who had driven to sports events in the Metropolitan area.

Some Novel Excuses.

The sending of summonses for questioning began last week. Since Monday, 253 drivers have been examined. A women, who admitted driving to the Empire City, Belmont, and Aqueduct tracks on supplementary coupon gas, said her "B" book had been issued on a doctor's certificate that she was lame and had heart trouble.

A physician, spotted at the Yonkers track, explained that "professional duties" took him there. He said he had an 84 year old patient whose relatives told the doctor he had gone to the races. Fearing the effect of the excitement on the patient, the doctor said, he went to the track to look after him.

Let Off, but Warned.

About 10 per cent of the motorists satisfied the OPA that they had not violated regulations. About 50 per cent of them were let off with warnings that a second offense would mean revocation of all their ration books.

Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New Jersey are coöperating with New York in the enforcement campaign. The OPA office here has received the license numbers of many New York drivers spotted at football games in New Haven, Philadelphia and Princeton.

U. S. SUBS SINK 7 JAP VESSELS, HIT DESTROYER

Wildcats on Guadalcanal Down 17 Planes.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—American submarines have sunk seven more Japanese ships in the western Pacific and have damaged and probably sunk a Japanese destroyer, the navy announced today.

These latest blows at the enemy's extended supply lines included the destruction of three large ships, a transport, tanker, and cargo vessel; two medium sized ships, one a cargo carrier and the other an auxiliary, and one small cargo ship and a patrol vessel.

All the communique said of the destroyer was that it was "damaged and believed sunk."

141 Jap Ships Bagged.

Announcement of these latest successes by United States undersea raiders raised to 141 the number of Jap ships sunk or damaged by submarines since Pearl Harbor. Of this total, 93 vessels have been sunk, 21 probably sunk, and 27 damaged.

Earlier the navy had announced that aerial defenders of the American base on Guadalcanal Island in the Solomons shot down 17 Japanese dive bombers and fighter planes yesterday and probably destroyed 5 others while losing 7 of their own planes.

A brief communique, which made no reference to the progress of ground operations on the island, said that the Japanese attacked the American held section of the island twice Nov. 11 [Guadalcanal time].

Intercept Enemy Planes.

The first wave consisted of 10 bombers and 12 fighters. Grumman Wildcat fighters intercepted them over the island and bagged 6 bombers and 5 fighters. The second wave consisted of 25 bombers and 5 fighters, and that time the Wildcats shot down 6 more bombers.

"Three additional enemy bombers and 2 fighters were reported as probably destroyed during the encounters," the navy said.

The last report on ground activities was made yesterday, when a communique said that troops supported by bombing planes were continuing offensive operations against both the eastern and western enemy positions.

U.S. VESSEL SUNK OFF S. AMERICA; 19 OF CREW LOST

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—The navy announced today that a small United States merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine during the middle of September in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America. Survivors have been landed at an east coast port.

The sinking raised the Associated Press count of announced allied and neutral losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor to 522. In these sinkings 3,546 persons have perished, 1,958 are missing and 15,891 were rescued.

Nineteen of the 31 man crew were lost including the ship's master, Millard E. Newcomb of New York. The vessel sank in less than a minute. Those lost had been unable to reach deck. A navy ship rescued the survivors after they had been afloat 10 hours.

Rumors of Plot to Slay Doriot Denied by Germans

Charges Threat

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MRS. KAY WOMACK.

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 12 [Special].—Attractive Mrs. Kay Womack, 32 years old, told in District court today of threats allegedly made against her by Herbert Lubin, 56, former movie magnate and now a wealthy New York and Dallas oil man. He is seeking a receivership for $26,000 worth of gifts he said he gave her on the assumption she would become his wife.

Mrs. Womack said Lubin made the threats from New York by telephone while she was in Chicago having dates with another man. She said she had always told Lubin she never would marry him and asserted the closest he ever came to embracing her was when he once "pecked" her on the cheek as he gave her a diamond ring.

"He called me a liar and a cheat," she said, relating the telephoned threats. "He said he would strip me down to my handkerchiefs and ruin me until the day I died. He said he had spent $30,000 once before to ruin another woman and that he would spend $100,000 to ruin me."

M'ARTHUR PLANES SMASH 4 LOADED JAP TROOPSHIPS

Flyers Catch Foe in the Solomons Harbor.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 13 [Friday]—(AP).—Sharpshooting American flyers banged their bombs into four troop-laden enemy ships in a dawn raid on the Buin-Faisi base of the northern Solomons Thursday, inflicting heavy damage on the enemy, the high command reported in its noon communique.

Today's raid, made at dawn, caught Jap ships in the harbor loaded with troops and equipment. The bombers, supporting the defense of Guadalcanal in the Solomons to the southeast of Buin-Faisi, hit four of the loaded ships and losses inflicted were believed heavy.

Raid Buin Airfield.

The ships were of the cargo type, used for transports, and their total tonnage was estimated at 37,000. One ship appeared to be of 12,000 ton type, another 10,000, a third 8,000, and the fourth 7,000.

Prior to the attack by heavy bombers on the ships in the Buin-Faisi area, medium bombers struck at the Buin airfield, catching enemy planes on the ground and starting eight different fires.

Oust Japs at Oivi.

In Portuguese Timor other medium bombers attacked enemy barracks and other installations at Bobonaro and Maobisse.

Meanwhile the land battle for control of northeastern New Guinea progressed in the allies' favor with the Japs cleared out of the Oivi-Gorari area, some 50 miles southwest of the coastal base of Buna. The Japs were retreating toward Wairopi, having lost heavily in equipment and yielded some of their number as prisoners. Equipment losses included field guns and horses.

HOW JAP BOMBS, TORPEDOES SANK YANKEE CARRIER

Eyewitness Tells of Raid in South Pacific.

[Jack Rice, Associated Press photographer from San Francisco, has been in the midst of virtually all major naval operations in the Pacific area. Here he gives an eye-witness account of the sinking of a United States aircraft carrier, as yet unnamed by the navy, which went down in the South Pacific on Oct. 26.]

WITH THE UNITED STATES FLEET IN THE PACIFIC, Oct. 26 [Delayed]—(AP).—We had been waiting since dawn for the general alarm, knowing it would be due in midmorning. When it finally came at 10 o'clock today all hands rushed to battle stations. My station was high up in the open amidships.

One cruiser was a few thousand yards away from the carrier when the attack came. We saw small bits of smoke and flame on the horizon where our fighters intercepted the Japanese planes.

At 10:11 a. m. the Jap planes arrived and peeled off from high above the carrier in single file. The first was a Zero fighter equipped with a small bomb. He came in with all his guns chattering in a strafing maneuver.

Guns of Warships Blaze.

Guns of the entire task group were blazing away at him and finally got him. He fell in flames. Then the dive bombers followed. It was the third dive bomber, I think, that crashed the carrier after he had been fatally hit making his run. The plane was in flames from about 1,500 feet up. Its bomb, torn off by the crash, went right thru the deck of the carrier and exploded in a compartment below.

I think they got two or three hits out of that first dive bombing attack. About 12 Japs made dives.

Following their usual custom, the Japs made their deadly torpedo plane attack right in the middle of the dive bombing. There were possibly 12 to 15 or more torpedo planes. They came in fast from several directions.

Torpedoes Hit Carrier.

Five inch anti-aircraft guns of every ship in our group opened up with telling effect as the Japs neared the carrier to start their runs. Some of the enemy went down in flames, but inevitably some got thru to launch their deadly "fish." One hit forward, causing considerable damage to personnel.

The total action lasted only a few minutes. The attack on the Yorktown at Midway was almost a dead ringer for this action.

The carrier was hard hit. She had a good many wounded aboard. Her rudder was jammed from a torpedo hit astern. Other ships in the force formed a circle around her as a destroyer went alongside to remove the injured.

One of our cruisers took a line from the stricken ship and attempted to tow her, but with no success due to the jammed rudder. Her steam lines had been severed by a torpedo, and during the next few hours we were filled with the hope we could get her under tow and out of that area before the Japs returned.

Japs Attack Again.

Those hopes were in vain, however. The cards were stacked against us. The carrier was too badly hit to allow hasty patching up and the Japs returned to punish her further.

The second round of Jap attacks started early in the afternoon while the cruiser still was trying to tow the carrier and while the destroyer was tied up alongside. The cruiser cast off hastily and fell into the circle of ships formed about the carrier.

Then, once more, dive bombers screamed down loosing their bombs from about 1,500 feet.

The order was passed to abandon her. The operation was carried out coolly and calmly despite frequent air attacks. Shortly before sunset the last man was off and onto other ships in the force. She sank under cover of darkness.

[The navy announced on Oct. 31 that the unnamed carrier had sunk on Oct. 26 near the Santa Cruz Islands in the South Pacific, and that reports indicated but few casualties. "This carrier and the United States destroyer Porter," the navy said, "were the only United States vessels lost in the above engagement."] attack all along the coast of Algeria. There was, however, no confirmation from the allied side of extravagant axis claims of bombing of aircraft carriers, cruisers, transports and supply ships.

More Ships at Gibraltar.

Far behind Anderson the reënforcements apparently still were coming; axis reports said 38 more merchantmen had arrived in Gibraltar, joined by a large protecting force of warships.

Long range two engined RAF fighters attacked the El Aouina airfield at Tunis, capital of Tunisia, yesterday set afire 19 planes definitely identified as German and damaged 19 others.

The attack on the Tunisian airdrome was coupled with a bombing of axis air bases on the big Italian island of Sardinia, north of Tunisia.

Generals Anderson and Ryder were heading for Tunis and the key naval port of Bizerte, which have many excellent airfields, by the one route into Tunisia which is not strongly defended.

Bizerte has strong fortifications but they largely command the sea; the rear is relatively unprotected. In the southeast, facing Libya, the protectorate has the Mareth or "little Maginot" line of defenses based on the Matmata mountains.

In London it was considered certain that the combined allied army moving from the west would far outnumber any air-borne force which Adolf Hitler could send there.

The allied forces moving toward Tunisia left behind them more than 1,000 miles of Moroccan and Algerian seacoast and cities in which all effective resistance had ended.

Reuters [British] news agency reported from Tangier, Spanish zone of Morocco, that 54 United States parachute troops had made forced landings in various parts of the Spanish zone, which is bordered by French Morocco. All their equipment has been taken from them by authorities, the report said.

Asked whether there was any information about Dakar, the Senegalese capital on the bulge of West Africa, an allied spokesman said, grimly: "I think they are in a rather hopeless position." He refused to amplify the remark.

The Vichy radio last night broadcast that the French fleet had suffered "severe losses," apparently referring to the action in the Atlantic off Casablanca, French Morocco. It said the new 35,000 ton battleship Jean Bart, engaged around Casablanca, was out of action.

Germans Bomb Algiers.

BERLIN, Nov. 12 [from German broadcasts] (AP).—The German high command said today that axis planes had bombed American held Algiers and that German planes had scored hits with heavy bombs on an aircraft carrier, a cruiser, and a big merchant ship off the Algerian coast.

It said military objectives in the harbor of Algiers as well as the vicinity of the airdrome were destroyed by bomb hits.

The communique said that two transports totaling 16,000 tons were sunk at Bougie, and that "continuous waves" of axis planes attacked a landing group and damaged 12 large merchantmen and passenger ships and one aircraft carrier and two destroyers were hit.

German submarines were said to have sunk one troop transport of 19,600 tons, a 12,000 ton transport of the Blue Funnel Line, and one freighter of 4,000 tons in the western Mediterranean. Further, it said, the U-boats damaged two men of war, including a tribal class [British] destroyer, by torpedoes.

In the Atlantic a submarine attack resulted in hits on three other ships in a convoy off Casablanca, the communique continued.

AXIS SUSPECTED PLANS IN AFRICA, STIMSON SAYS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today that the enemy apparently had suspected that a North African attack was planned, despite efforts to keep preparations secret. He said the axis was reported to have concentrated an extremely large submarine force in that area.

"The army is deeply grateful to the navy and to the British navy for the magnificent service they rendered in escorting our troops thru waters which we know were infested with submarines," he told his press conference.

Stimson said that it would have been foolish to underestimate enemy intelligence to the extent of assuming the axis knew nothing of the proposed African attack.

But "so vigilant were our naval units that the enemy submarines were almost impotent," he added.

Stimson revealed that one troop ship was disabled by enemy torpedoes, but the troops launched landing boats and went ashore.

Setup of War Command in North African Operations

PERSHING URGES COMRADES OF '18 TO JOIN ALLIES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—Gen. John J. Pershing, ageing leader of the armies in France in 1917, said tonight "the axis has met its Marne" and invited his former French comrades in arms to join the ranks of the allies so they "will once more be free."

Pershing, who holds the rank of general of the armies, appeared yesterday with President Roosevelt at the Armistice day ceremonies at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

He expressed himself to the French people thru the medium of a letter written to Mr. Roosevelt today.

Spanish Morocco Put on 'Good Behavior' by Edict

TANGIER, Spanish Morocco, Nov. 12 (AP).—The high commissioner of Spanish Morocco today notified all Spaniards and Moroccans under his jurisdiction that recent events in North Africa have not changed things in this region. He added that the press will continue its normal attitude and asked everybody to maintain good behavior. He invited people to denounce to the authorities those who do not do so.

[Spanish Morocco is a strip about 200 miles long and 50 to 75 miles wide along the North African coast, across from Gibraltar. It borders French Morocco, which has been occupied by American and British forces.]

TRAIN, CAR CRASH; 1 DEAD.

Kankakee, Ind., Nov. 12 [Special].—Verne Short, 46 years old, farmer of North Judson, Ind., died here today from injuries suffered last night when his car was struck by a troop train near Lake Village, Ind. His sister, Mrs. Minnie Flagg, and her husband, Charles, of Lake Village, were injured.

Fight as Team

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP).—It was apparent here today that the British and American officers, who Prime Minister Churchill said "worked together like a band of brothers" to plan the North African campaign, also are fighting together as one team with American Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as captain. The set-up was described in London was this:

Eisenhower is commander in chief of the allied expedition.

Under these two Americans are three task force commanders: Maj. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., in the west [Morocco], Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall in the north center [of Algeria], and Lieut. Gen. K. A. N. Anderson, the British commander in the northeast near Tunisia. American Maj. Gen. Charles Ryder is an assault force commander under Anderson in that sector.

Also under Eisenhower are the heads of the coöperating services: Adm. Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham of the British navy, Rear Adm. Henry K. Hewitt of the United States navy, Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle of the United States army air forces, and Air Vice Marshal W. L. Welsh of the RAF.

Pay Fines or Make Repairs, 350 Property Owners Told

Fines of from $25 to $200 were assessed by Municipal Judge Cecil C. Smith yesterday against owners of 350 buildings for violation of city building codes, but in each case motions to vacate the fines gave the property owners another 30 days to make repairs. A week before, 320 such cases were brought before Judge Smith.

Bellringer Shortage Perils Pealing of Africa Victory

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP).—The secretary of the council of church bellringers, G. W. Fletcher, expressed fear today that the council was going to fall down on its first big job since the start of the war—the chiming of bells Sunday to celebrate the Egyptian victory. "We are trying to find bellringers," he said, "but the majority are in the armed forces and there has been no opportunity to train women. There will not be nearly enough for the Sunday occasion."

ARMISTICE DAY IN ALGERIA: YANKS, ARABS PARADE!

French Ignore Vichy Edict and Celebrate, Too.

Yanks on Guard

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN ALGERIA, Nov. 12 (AP).—American troops, dusty and weary, settled down today to guard Algeria against the axis while negotiations went forward between the allied command and the French over final armistice terms. Fighter planes patroled the harbor and city.

SOMEWHERE IN ALGERIA, Nov. 11 [Delayed] —(AP).—American troops joined with Frenchmen and Arabs in this Algerian town today for the first Armistice anniversary celebration since the fall of France and, for the French, in violation of a Vichy order not to celebrate the 1918 victory.

Perhaps never has Armistice day been commemorated by a more picturesque gathering.

Spitfires of Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle's 12th air force still patroled the skies over Algeria, hunting scattered points of resistance, but in this town there was ample evidence of the renewal of Franco-American comradeship.

Americans in Parade.

The ceremony began with a procession to a monument honoring the town's heroes of 1914-'18. The mayor led off, followed by an honor guard of American infantrymen. Behind them marched veterans of the last war, many of them wearing the tiny red ribbon of the French Legion of Honor.

Then came one of the strangest marching groups ever seen in Africa—a land of strange sights. Without suggestion or command, American officers and enlisted men, French townspeople, and Arabs spontaneously stepped into the line of march.

Mayor Hails Americans.

A stout French woman and a dark skinned native marched beside Capt. John Glendinning. In the midst of a swarthy, turbanned group was Capt. Charles Crathern of Worcester, Mass., who fought with the French army in 1916-'17, with the United States army in 1918, and with the Greeks in Turkey in 1921-'23.

Speaking at the monument, the mayor reminded the townspeople that observance of the holiday was made possible by the arrival of the Americans, "who for the sake of France came here as allies. France must liberate herself with the help of the United States."

GERMANS CLAIM QUEEN ELIZABETH LINER TORPEDOED

BERLIN, Nov. 12 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command said today the 85,000 ton British passenger ship Queen Elizabeth, sister ship of the Queen Mary, had been torpedoed in the North Atlantic.

[There was no confirmation of this report from allied sources, and the German high command did not claim that the ship had been sunk.]

It was the liner Queen Elizabeth which was torpedoed, the high command said, instead of the British battleship Queen Elizabeth, as reported in a communique yesterday.

The Queen Elizabeth is the largest ship in the world, her 85,000 tons exceeding the Queen Mary's 81,235 and the Normandie's 83,423. She never was completely finished for civilian passenger service.

NORTH AFRICAN TOWN 'CAPTURED' BY LONE OFFICER

ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 12 (AP).—Front line reports today told the amusing story of how a British officer in an American major's uniform "captured" the town of St. Cloud, near Oran, in the name of the United States army.

The officer had come ashore on reconnaissance, and to facilitate his traveling he had been given an American uniform and a Jeep.

Coming to a road block near St. Cloud, the Jeep was stopped by an American private who said: "Glad to see you, sir. The people of this town want to surrender and you are the only American officer I have seen who can accept the surrender."

Not giving away his identity, the Briton solemnly accepted the surrender of the town and remained there until more American troops arrived to take over.

HOW YANKS TOOK ALGIERS TOLD BY AN EYEWITNESS

1st Troops Ashore Seize Airfield Without Stop.

[The first detailed story of the landing of the allied forces in Algeria is told in the following delayed dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent assigned to the expeditionary force.]

BY WILLIAM KING.
[U. S. war correspondent with AEF in Africa.]

WITH UNITED STATES EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, East of Algiers, Nov. 9 [Delayed]—(AP).—United States soldiers swept in from the Mediterranean to take all vital objectives east of Algiers in a single day, despite opposition which was fierce in spots.

The attack, which was the easternmost tip of a three pronged thrust against French North Africa, was launched with a 1 a. m. landing by assault troops. Wave after wave of soldiers, vehicles, and artillery following them thruout the night and day.

With an armistice in effect this morning, battle stained soldiers set up defensive positions against possible counterattack and made preparations to occupy the remaining points in this area.

Land on Three Beaches.

A heavily guarded convoy brought troops into position for landing operation in combat transports promptly on schedule Saturday night.

Silently and in total darkness, landing craft were lowered into choppy water and the first assault troops swung over side on nets of heavy rope and took their positions in the boats.

In simultaneous operations, units from this battle force made landings on three beaches in the neighborhood of Sintaya and Surcouf, promptly on the zero hour of 1 a. m. The easternmost beach was used for vehicles and artillery. United States amphibious infantrymen raced up the deep sand of the middle beach and British commandos headed the attack on the third.

The first company of the battalion on the middle beach began marching toward the airport at Maison Blanche immediately after landing. Other units followed swiftly and the 11 mile march was completed without rest.

Algerians Fire, Surrender.

The spearhead of the advance on the airport was commanded by Capt. Frank Gunn of Crawfordville, Ga., whose company circled the giant field and attacked from the southeast.

Lieut. Edwin Perry of Framingham, Mass., said that as he led his platoon across the field there was a short burst of fire from fixed machine gun position manned by Algerian troops, but before he could order answering fire the Algerians surrendered.

Similar token opposition met the company attacking the main gate, but the airport was taken without the firing of an American shot and there were no casualties on either side.

The troops reached the field at 5:45 a. m. and it was in their hands at 6:20.

Our troops captured an Italian warplane and a German divebomber on this airport. A number of French fighter planes also were on the field. The French administration of the 'drome was not disturbed, but the normal guard was disarmed and replaced by American soldiers.

Some American Casualties.

This operation was under the command of Lieut. Col. A. H. Rosenfeld, a former Camden, N. J., lawyer.

Another battalion landed and started toward Maison Carree, but encountered opposition from dual purpose anti-aircraft guns at Fort Deleau and suffered light casualties.

The Americans countered with mortar fire and the French guns were silenced. The batterymen surrendered, but soon were released.

The Commandos also ran into trouble when they attempted to silence batteries commanding the eastern part of the harbor at Algiers and threatening transports and cargo ships lying off the beaches. The French commandant of one battery refused to surrender, but his men refused to man their guns.

Axis Planes Attack.

Against another stubborn position naval fire from British cruisers and dive bombers were brought into play. A fortified battery finally was taken by short range fire from a United States cannon company manning 75s.

This correspondent stood on a cart in a farmyard which served as temporary regimental headquarters and watched a bombardment a few miles away.

I also watched as axis air forces pressed home a terrific attack just before nightfall on transports and a beach on which vehicles and troops still were being landed.

High level and dive bombers dropped high explosives but were driven off by massed fire from the transports' guns and supporting fire from British naval vessels. An officer reported no ships were hit and all bombs aimed at the beach fell into the water.

Spitfire squadrons flown in from Gibraltar and operating on the field captured by United States forces protected this area.

On the vehicle landing beach, men drove themselves after 36 hours without sleep, landing ammunition, and unloading jeeps, tanks, and guns in a high surf. Soft sand made each step a labor and the heavy vehicles had to be virtually dragged thru it.

Two tank lighters turned over in the surf and underwater rocks hampered the operation of others.

During the height of activity, the ranking officer in this area said:

"This is Dunkirk in reverse."

After the first wave of troops left our ship to initiate landing operations, I returned to the wardroom and with a grim faced group listened as the radio reported a United States communique that an expeditionary force had landed in North Africa.

Landing a Success!

While we were listening to the communique, the radio officer rushed in to say that communication with the beach party had been established and the landing was a success.

When the landing boat to which I was assigned pulled alongside, I left the bridge where I had watched the first groups go over the side and then had seen the flashes of gunfire as action started ashore. Then I groped my way down the landing net. A choppy sea made the landing craft bob constantly up and down. I had to slide down the guide rope to get into the boat.

The loaded craft rode smoothly and the trip was uneventful, altho land batteries were firing constantly and we never were sure they would not lob one in our vicinity.

There also was the constant danger of a shore searchlight catching us in its beam as it swept the water. We were headed into an unknown situation, since communications between the ship and land forces were still fragmentary at that point.

As we approached the shore we passed a lighter stranded atop a rock. The coxswain zigzagged to avoid the rocks, then drove straight at the beach. Just as the nose struck the sand the assault troops began pouring over the front.

Just then a huge wave burst high over the boat. It didn't stop the debarkation, however. Another wave rocked the boat and the man ahead of me fell as he climbed. He fell on top of me and I went slithering down on the boat deck.

People Cheer Yanks.

When I scrambled to my feet it was my time to leap out of the bobbing boat into the surf. I made it and struggled thru ankle deep water to the beach.

Hugging the sides of the street in single file, my company made its way silently thru Sintaya. We passed a few turbaned figures and an occasional creaking cart. From doorways silent people watched our progress.

From temporary headquarters I tagged a ride in one of the first jeeps brought across the sandy beach. Thru the heavy mist of early morning it raced along a narrow road toward the airport, which was the objective of our troops.

As we went thru the little town of Rouiba Das, the sun was up and people lined the streets cheering, clapping, and shouting to us. They obviously had turned out early to see what was happening. Their cheers were genuinely clear and spontaneous.

By the time we reached Maison Blanche airport it already was in American hands and our soldiers were establishing gun points against possible counterattack.

CHICAGO FATHER TOLD SON, 18, AIR CADET, WAS KILLED IN CRASH

A. B. Exley, 1522 East 86th street, was notified yesterday that his son, Warren, 18 years old, an army aviation cadet, had been killed in the crash of a training plane at Enid, Okla., where he was stationed. He enlisted last February, soon after his 18th birthday, and was called to active duty on June 20, after his graduation from Hirsch High school.

FAST TALK WINS FRENCH AIRPORT; NOT A SHOT FIRED

Algerian Field Yielded to 4 Yanks and Colonel.

ALGIERS, Nov. 8 [Delayed] (AP).—Four American Commando soldiers led by a fast talking British lieutenant colonel seized the vital airdrome at Blida, 30 miles southwest of Algiers, from several hundred well armed French troops today.

The bold band took the field without firing a shot after a friendly French captain had warned the United States air force that authorities were enraged because an American plane had bombed the airdrome at dawn.

They simply drove along a road covered by several machine gun posts until they met several high French officers, then spent three hours talking and gesticulating until the Frenchmen realized they did not want to fight but were determined to have the field.

A Smile and Handshake.

Suddenly the conferees smiled broadly, shook hands, saluted, and promptly the field was given up. But then the French authorities insisted that the allies, who finally had been reënforced by 150 American and British Commandos, should help the French defend the field, saying German parachutists might try to land or hostile French elements might try to seize it.

The French provided eight trucks in which to take 150 men to the field.

The first car arrived at the "battle zone" just after dawn. It was a ticklish business, because a French plane was ablaze on the field. It had been hit in a bombing raid.

The bulk of the Commandos still had not arrived.

Planes Roar Above.

The French officers in charge of the air field asked whether the intruders were friendly. The colonel replied, "Of course. We want to help you. We are here to fight the Germans and Italians, and we need your air field."

He apologized for the bombing, explaining that it must have been a mistake—but the French were reluctant to yield.

Allied fighters with American markings were roaring over the field.

Shortly after the French were persuaded to relinquish the field, one of the planes landed, got a written document attesting to its surrender and returned to his base on a British aircraft carrier.

SPANIARDS DENY NAZIS HAVE GIVEN ANY GUARANTEES

MADRID, Spain, Nov. 12 (AP).—The Spanish foreign office authorized the foreign press tonight to issue a denial of a dispatch published abroad, under a Madrid dateline, saying that the German ambassador had given Generalissimo Francisco Franco assurances that Spanish neutrality would be respected.

The United States and Great Britain both gave Spain and Portugal assurances that their territories in North Africa would be respected. These assurances were simultaneous with the opening of the North African front last week-end. There has been no such word of German assurances to Spain.

INDIAN GETS 10 JAPS IN 16 SHOTS WHILE FIGHTING ON BATAAN

The Japs know by now what the American pioneers learned—that American Indians can shoot straight. Joe Longknife of the Assiniboine tribe proved it when he got 10 Japs out of 16 shots on Bataan.

The exploits of Joe and of Charles Ball, another Indian from the Fort Belknap, Mont., reservation, were recounted yesterday by a delegation from the Assiniboines and Gros Ventres tribes of that reservation, the first Indian delegation to visit the office of Indian affairs since its removal from Washington to Chicago.

Altho the delegation came to Chicago primarily to obtain federal assistance for their live stock and agricultural activities, they were more willing to talk of the adventures of some 60 members of the two tribes, scattered over almost every fighting front, with 12 reported missing.

Charles Ball received the distinguished service cross when he remained at his machine gun, altho wounded, and held off a Jap attack on Bataan until his regiment could retire to a new position.

2 OFFICERS GIVEN NAVY CROSSES AT GLENVIEW BASE

Lieuts. W. F. Christie and Edward H. Bayers, members of the carrier qualification training unit at the Glenview naval air base, received navy crosses last night from Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the Ninth Naval district, in a ceremony at the Glenview base. Both flyers won their citations for extraordinary heroism in fighting in the Pacific area.

Lieut. Christie, a native of Flint, Mich., bombed and sank a Japanese aircraft carrier and in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire, took part in the damaging or sinking of eight other vessels. In lieu of a second cross, Lieut. Christie will receive a gold star for making a bomb attack on a heavy cruiser.

Lieut. Bayers, whose home is in St. Louis, Mo., will receive his cross for attacking two Jap Zeros and destroying one, destroying an enemy torpedo plane, and penetrating anti-aircraft fire to damage a Japanese destroyer. The training unit uses the carrier Wolverine, which is based on Lake Michigan at the Great Lakes naval training station.

DIES OF FALL INJURY.

Mrs. Mary Woeltel, 86 years old, 1434 Catalpa avenue, a widow, died yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital of an injury suffered Oct. 25 when she fell on her way to St. Ita's Catholic church, Catalpa avenue and Broadway.

SEIZING ALGERIA A HALF HOUR JOB FOR U. S. FORCES

Quick Capitulation of One Fort Cinched It.

BY WILLIAM H. STONEMAN.
U. S. Correspondent with the AEF in Africa.
[Distributed by Associated Press.]

SOMEWHERE IN ALGERIA, Nov. 12.—The American success in Algeria was cinched within a half hour of the zero hour early Sunday morning.

It was made possible by the well greased capitulation of Fort Sidi Ferruch, a strong point commanding our principal landing beaches on the coast, 15 miles west of the city of Algiers.

Four of us—two Commando officers, a friendly French officer, whom we had encountered in the darkness, and myself—walked right into the main gate of the fort 20 minutes after we had scrambled ashore with the first assault force.

Fort Strongly Defended.

Still dripping from the surf, we shook hands with the commander of the garrison, which far outnumbered our own force, and were assured he did not wish to resist us.

He showed us the order he had received the previous evening, instructing the local commanders to "facilitate the debarkation and the establishment ashore of the American troops."

Sidi Ferruch, which we had expected to take by assault, was far more potent than we had dreamed. It had four 75 mm. naval guns and plenty of Hotchkiss machine guns.

If we had had to fight for it we might not have taken it, and we certainly would not have taken it within the 30 minutes allowed us.

Problem Facing Yanks.

If the fort had opposed us the landing of our main forces on adjacent beaches would have been jammed badly, but once Sidi Ferruch was in our hands it was simply a question of getting our main combat team ashore and cracking on eastward to high ground overlooking Algiers from the west.

If we could do it by dawn and before the Vichy people had time to countermand the orders, then we probably would force the city's capitulation without a shot being fired by our force.

If it proved impossible to follow our very tight and optimistic landing schedule and our troops did not push 15 miles eastward by dawn, then there almost certainly would be some shooting before the city fell.

As it turned out, our troops did not keep up to schedule and the shooting happened.

We spent a wild night trying to capitalize on our coup and we were only partly successful. I set off in a frantic effort to locate our combat team and get them on to Fort L. Empereur, western bastion of Algiers, before dawn spoiled our game.

What we found was a single battalion, led by one very tired lieutenant colonel, which had been landed miles away from its designated beach. When we found them—about 4 a. m.—they were stretched out over a distance of three or four miles and the vanguard still was 10 miles from L. Empereur, with a bare two hours in which to make it.

Needless to say, it did not make it, and that was why the same battalion had to fight its way thru the region of El Biar on Sunday afternoon.

Recruiting Progress

Progress of the army aviation cadet recruiting program.

Fifty-three youths, many of them in the 18 to 19 year age group, were qualified yesterday for aviation cadet training by the army cadet examining board, and increasing applications for flight training give hope that the army's Chicago goal of 20,000 cadets by 1943 almost will be reached. Since recruiting of cadets was started in Chicago, Sept. 1, 1941, the board has accepted 12,700 young men. Many of those applying now are being enlisted as privates in the air force and sent to army camps to await their call for flight training.

PLANE CREW ALL SET EXCEPT FOR—O, YES—THE PILOT

AN ADVANCE BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, Oct. 18 [Delayed]—(AP).—Sergt. Ted Fuller, Canton, O., is the conscientious—and embarrassed—crew chief of a transport plane.

The plane was about to take off. Fuller carefully checked the weight and the number of passengers. He found both just right and closed the cabin door.

Up dashed a jeep and a man jumped out, and pounded on the plane door. Fuller stuck his head out and said:

"Sorry. We've got a full load now."

The newcomer grinned and said: "Guess I'll have to go along, sergeant—I'm the pilot."

Fuller had failed to recognize Lieut. Col. Wyman F. Marshall of the marines, Washington, D. C., who was not wearing officers' insignia.

When Present Stocks of New Cars Are Sold, THERE WON'T BE ANY MORE! If You're Going to Need a New Car for Essential Work—BETTER APPLY FOR ONE NOW.

RIGHT now, Buick dealers can offer you selection from complete stocks of unused 1942 Buicks built before automobile production halted.

But every week that goes by increases the number of cars now in use that simply must be replaced in the very near future.

These cars can be replaced only from existing stocks. If you regularly drive a car in really essential service, don't take a chance on finding present stocks exhausted by trying to get the very last mile out of it.

Turn it in, for use by some other essential user who doesn't drive as much as you do.

New-car buying regulations are aimed at conserving both new cars and cars now in use. They also seek to put new cars in the hands of those who need them most.

Thus if you can show real need—now, while cars are available—you can get a permit to buy now, while cars can be bought.

Permits to buy won't do any good when there are no cars to be had!

Your Buick dealer will be glad to give you all information on new-car buying regulations and procedure. At the moment, he can make immediate delivery to qualified buyers on almost any 1942 Buick model.

But because Buick factories have been all-out on war production for many months, your dealer won't be able to help you when cars now available are sold.

Better see him NOW about applying for that car you're going to need.

IF YOU ARE INCLUDED IN THIS LIST YOU'RE ELIGIBLE

There are seven major classifications for persons eligible to buy new cars under basic rationing rules.

These include: (1) persons engaged in the production of war materials or in the prosecution of the war, directly or indirectly; (2) physicians, nurses, clergymen, veterinarians; (3) carriers engaged in public service, such as fire departments, public health, highway maintenance, etc.; (4) owners of taxicabs and other means of transportation; (5) farmers; (6) newspaper wholesalers; and (7) traveling salesmen in certain fields.

Your Buick dealer will be very glad to help you determine whether you come under the rules of eligibility. He will also be glad to help you fill out the proper applications.

GENERAL RIDES SUB TO SET OFF AFRICA INVASION

Disclose Plot with French to Take Area.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—A daring undercover trip to French North Africa by submarine, during which a Commando-escorted party of American officers prepared the way for the occupation of that strategic area, won Maj. Gen. Mark W. Clark a promotion to lieutenant general today and a place in history alongside the bearer of the "message to Garcia."

Three weeks before the current North African campaign opened, Gen. Clark and his party landed there from a submarine. He opened negotiations with representatives of the French general, Henri Giraud, which led to his rallying French forces to the united nations cause. He obtained valuable military information. He appraised the sentiment of Frenchmen in the area and found it favorable to the Americans.

All this was disclosed today, with a war department announcement that the tall, lanky, resourceful Clark, who later returned to Africa as second in command of the expeditionary force, had been promoted.

Loses $18,000 in Gold.

Meanwhile, dispatches from allied headquarters in North Africa pieced together the details of his amazing exploit, a long tour which used almost every conceivable means of transportation, included a narrow escape from capture by the axis controled Vichy police, and an upset boat which resulted in the loss of most of the party's clothing and $18,000 in gold.

The details came from Clark himself, and from Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander in chief of the North African offensive. The story was cabled by Wes Gallagher, Associated Press correspondent in North Africa.

It was evident, Eisenhower told Gallagher, that a large group of Frenchmen in North Africa was anxious to coöperate and that it would be desirable to send a group of officers there to contact them and obtain essential military information.

Clark, Others Volunteer.

"Clark and all men on the mission volunteered enthusiastically," he added.

Leaving London secretly by train, the party reached Africa by devious means. At an unnamed point in North Africa a light was to have been flashed in a house to let the men know the coast was clear.

But the appointed hour arrived and passed without any light appearing, and the party had to wait for some time in extreme danger before the signal finally was given.

The members of the party entered the house, where they engaged in close consultation with French officers who had arrived there, mostly in civilian clothes.

"We conferred all day and all night until we had gathered all the information we wanted," Clark said.

Servant Informs Police.

A suspicious Arab servant, meanwhile, informed the police. The French officers received word that the police were on the way.

"I never saw such excitement in my life," Clark said with a laugh. "Maps disappeared like lightning. A French general in military uniform changed into civilian clothes in a minute flat, and I last saw him going out the window. They were going in all directions."

Clark and his staff gathered up papers and guns and hid in a wine cellar. The owner of the house met the police. The general crouched in the cellar with a revolver in one hand and 15,000 francs in the other.

"If the police came down I was uncertain whether to shoot them or bribe them," he said.

Meanwhile a British Commando officer who accompanied the party whispered: "I'm afraid if I hold this cough back any longer I'm going to choke to death.

"I'm afraid you won't choke," Clark told him.

Police Search for Hour.

The police went away after an hour. A boat upset while crossing a small stretch of water near by caused the loss of clothing and money—but not of papers [apparently after the general had left the house].

"We lost almost every stitch of our clothes and I lost some $18,000 in gold," Clark said. "I wonder if Morgenthau [the secretary of the treasury] will get after me for that."

The party scrambled ashore. Hiding in the woods from time to time, walking and shivering, the men ultimately kept a secret rendezvous with a united nations transport, which took them back to London. They arrived eight days after the start of their journey.

Gen. Eisenhower said:

"The fact that land resistance was not terrifically great anywhere and we did not have to land in a place where the opposition was great testifies to the success of Clark's mission. I am exceedingly proud of all of them. They took great risks and accomplished their work. It was a modern message to Garcia."

Hailed by War Department.

The general referred to the message carried early in the Spanish-American war by Andrew Summers Rowan, American army officer, to Gen. Garcia, the leader of the Cuban rebels. It informed him that American troops were coming.

Today the war department had this to say about the Clark mission:

"He has been the representative of the united nations in the conduct of diplomatic negotiations requiring both skill and courage.

"Prior to the beginning of current operations Gen. Clark with a few trusted assistants proceeded secretly in a submarine to enemy dominated territory, where he had a secret rendezvous with representatives of Gen. Henri Giraud. In this conference Gen. Clark opened negotiations which brought about the close collaboration of Gen. Giraud with the united nations.

West Point Graduate.

"After the occupation of Algiers by United States troops Gen. Clark set up advanced headquarters in that city and conferred with Adm. Jean Darlan. As a result of this conference, Adm. Darlan issued orders directing that all forces under his command in French North Africa cease hostilities against American and British forces."

Clark is 46 years old and a West Point graduate. He fought in France in the first war.

He was accompanied on his secret mission by Brig. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, 43, of Honesdale, Pa.; Col. Archelaus L. Hamblen, 48, of Maine; Col. Julius C. Holmes, 45, a former member of the American diplomatic service; Capt. Jerauld Wright of the navy, Washington, D. C., and Commando Captains C. J. Courtney R. T. Livingstone and Lieut. J. D. Foot.

Roper, Oak City, Utah, destroyed a German Junkers 88 bomber when six of them attacked while he was on anti-submarine patrol over the Bay of Biscay, the air ministry news service disclosed today. When one of the Germans ran into the concentrated fire of Roper's guns and crashed into the sea, the other five departed, with one trailing smoke.

ALLIED SUCCESS IN TUNISIA SURE, BRITISH BELIEVE

Hear That Rommel Sets Up Headquarters There.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 12.—While allied headquarters tonight awaited news regarding progress of the campaign toward Tunisia, the main objective of which will be the capture of Bizerte, the best and most strategic port in North Africa, the expectation continued here in high quarters and was echoed by the British radio that success is a foregone conclusion. "Fighting French," British, and American sources do not expect the French in Tunisia will put up any fight against the Anglo-American advance.

Reports from New York that German Marshal Erwin Rommel arrived in Tunis two or three days ago and set up headquarters there, making that city an axis stronghold, came as a surprise here tonight. These reports fit in with German claims that restoration of the defenses along the frontier between Tunisia and Libya, which the French built years ago, is being speeded and that the submarine base at Bizerte, the airdrome at Karof, and the fortifications around Sidi Abdallah lake all have been reënforced.

Coördination of Pincer Seen.

The British radio ignored these claims and suggested that the few hundred troops which the axis has been able to ferry to Tunis are only there to destroy everything useful to the allies before abandoning the territory.

Coördination of Pincers Seen.

The British radio also mentioned the raid on El Aouina airfield, near Tunis, by planes from the royal air force middle east command as proof that coördination of the two arms of the Anglo-American pincers pressing on Tripoli [in Libya] and Tunis already has been effected.

The fact that American troops in what Vichy describes as "considerable force" landed at Bone, Algeria, only 60 miles from the Tunisian border and that the British 1st army also is advancing on Tunis from Algeria, indicates that the axis, which is believed dependent on air borne troops, can do little to organize effective resistance. Tunis is particularly vulnerable, owing to large areas of flat, hard sand where airdromes can be set up quickly by the advancing forces.

There are certain disquieting developments. One is that, despite the cease fire order issued by French Adm. Jean Darlan yesterday, American Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique admits there still is isolated resistance in Algeria and French Morocco. Also, the report that the French army in Tunisia may be loyal to Chief of State Marshal Henri Petain cannot be contradicted, altho it is disbelieved here.

How Hitler Could Gain.

While the first impression here seemed to be that, by ordering a defense of Tunisia, Adolf Hitler was rattled, sober military critics now point out that his reactions to the American landings in French North Africa followed sound strategic principles. He occupied the French Mediterranean coast and reënforced Corsica and Sardinia. If he is able to hold the triangle of Sicily-Bizerte-Tripoli he will largely thwart the purposes of the allied operations. In German hands this triangle would make the narrow waters between Sicily and Tunisia dangerous for allied ships.

The success of the American-British operations against Tunisia admittedly depends on the extent of Rommel's defeat. That already is reported complete and absolute, but many point out that the axis losses of 59,000 troops, 500 tanks, and 1,000 guns need not be fatal and Rommel still may have a surprise left. The possibility that he may be able to get the remains of his army behind new defenses and bring reënforcements across the Mediterranean is not overlooked.

TO MEN 18 AND 19 WHO WANT

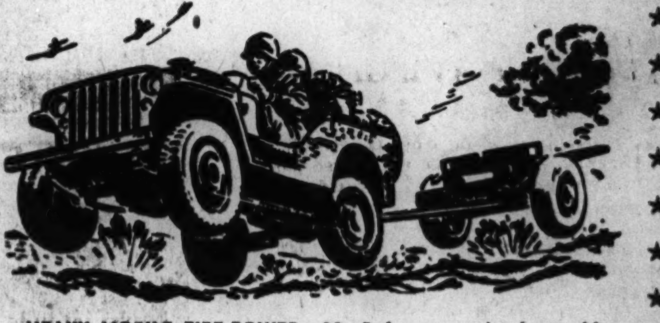
ACTION

RIGHT now the U. S. Army offers you many opportunities to serve your country. Certainly one of the most thrilling, most exciting branches of all for a red-blooded American is our modern, streamlined Infantry.

• For you can bet your boots that the Infantry will be there when the Nazi flag is torn down in Berlin. The Doughboys have always been in on the final victory since the dawn of history. And you'll certainly want to be there this time.

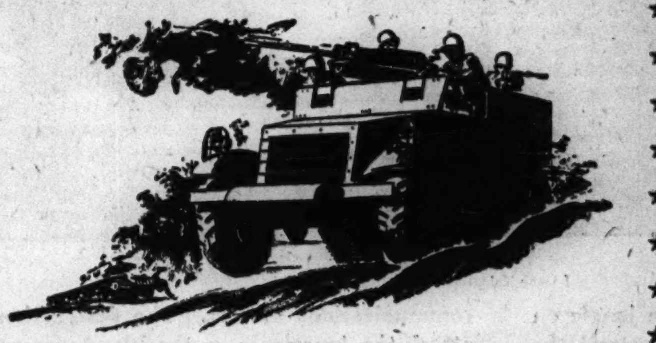
• Today's Infantry is a new, modernized combat unit. It includes more kinds of action than ever before. It gives you more kinds of adventure and training. Read about them carefully, for the Infantry is one of several branches of the Army which men of 18 and 19 may select today. Then talk to your nearest Recruiting Officer and get all the facts about the opportunities still open to you.

GANGWAY FOR THE INFANTRY



HEAVY MOBILE FIRE-POWER—No Infantryman in the world has more deadly, more powerful guns to use. The new 37 mm. jeep-towed field gun has terrific fire-power. Jeeps, including amphibians, also mount 30 and 50 calibre machine guns, making them one of the most versatile battle cars of all time.

MACHINE GUNNERS—Some of our Infantrymen command the barking muzzles of fast-firing, straight-shooting machine guns. Others are equipped with the newest, most modern long-range, rapid-fire weapons, automatic rifles, mortars, pistols, grenades, light and heavy anti-tank guns.



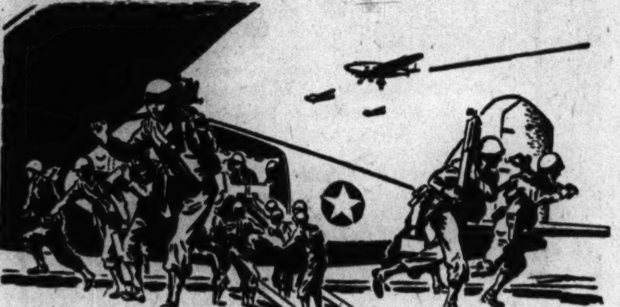
TANK BUSTERS—The Tank Destroyer Force of the Infantry is a new and powerful mechanized fighting unit. Its "tank busters" bristle with armor-piercing cannon and machine guns. They're regular 60-mile-an-hour fortresses on the move. The most effective weapons of their kind in modern warfare.

COMMUNICATIONS—In an army that moves like lightning, communications are vital. Infantrymen operate radio receivers and transmitters, "Walky-Talkie" one-man radio stations, telephone and telegraph equipment to guide movements of their own men and keep in touch with every other armed force in action.

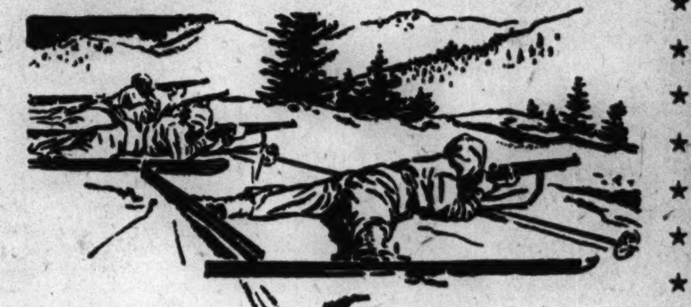
PARACHUTE TROOPS—Here they come, armed to the teeth. They float to earth by parachute from huge transport planes—daring men to do a vital job and do it well. They learn their business from the ground up and receive $50 a month in addition to their regular pay.

RIFLEMEN—No other Army on the globe equips its Infantrymen with a more efficient, more deadly hand weapon than the new Garand semi-automatic rifle. Superior in accuracy, in fire-power, in firing speed, this "one-man-gang-gun" gives our Doughboys the edge over any opponent.

MOTORIZED UNITS—In modern battle, Infantrymen roar up to the front lines in huge Army trucks. Complete divisions, with guns, cannon and ammunition speed over roads. As always, the American Doughboy is trained to take care of himself on foot and lick the enemy in hand-to-hand combat.



AIR-BORNE INFANTRY—Today's Infantry takes to the skies in more ways than one. Whole divisions of Air-borne Infantry, completely equipped with guns, cannon, ammunition and "jeeps," fly to battle in great transport planes, or soar swiftly and silently to earth in gliders to take the enemy by surprise.



MOUNTAIN TROOPS—The Infantry's Mountain Troops range high over lofty peaks, handling themselves as skilled mountaineers. Ski patrols, snowshoe patrols, pack units with mules and pack horses, and those who scale sheer mountainsides summer and winter, are part of the Infantry today.

AROUND THE WORLD—The U. S. Army has designed equipment and training for every known kind of climate and geography on earth. Our Infantryman is the best equipped in this war. For the snows of the Arctic or the heat of the Tropics, he has the clothes, equipment and training he needs to fight hard and win.

AIRMEN BATTER ENEMY 150 MILES INSIDE OF LIBYA

All Axis Fighters Cleared from Egypt.

Yanks Raid Crete

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 12 (AP).—A United States army headquarters communique said today:

"Fighter aircraft of the desert air task force of the United States army middle east air force yesterday resumed large scale operations against the enemy.

"In a series of fighter sweeps, fires were started among motor vehicles and three Stukas were shot down.

"Heavy bombers of our bomber command on the evening of Nov. 10 attacked shipping in Bengazi harbor and the bay of Candia, Crete, and in daylight hours yesterday again attacked Bengazi. In the evening raid on Candia hits were observed on jetties and possible direct hits scored on a merchant vessel."

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 12 (AP).—The British 8th army cleared the axis from Egypt and plunged on thru Libya today toward Tunisia. The main blows at the axis survivors of the Egyptian debacle, however, were struck from the skies more than 150 miles west of the Libyan frontier.

The Germans are rushing supplies westward out of Tobruk, indicating they plan to abandon the famous coastal stronghold, an Associated Press message from the Libyan-Egyptian frontier said.

Moving their "bombline" steadily forward behind the retreating axis troops, the allied air forces atacked concentrations of enemy transport between Tobruk and El Gazala, using heavy and medium bombers and starting numerous fires.

Indications were that the remnants of Marshal Erwin Rommel's army were racing toward Bengazi, Tripoli, or Tunisia just beyond. Concentrations of their vehicles were found bypassing Tobruk to the south.

Down 23 Planes at Tobruk.

On land and in the air, the main British problem was keeping pace with the fleeing enemy and his planes. Axis air forces finally were brought to battle yesterday in the Tobruk area and 23 of them—including 6 large transport carriers— were shot down.

The fact that 23 axis planes were destroyed was not an indication that the enemy was trying to make an aerial comeback, military sources said. Rather it proved that the allies were operating so near that the enemy's flying rearguard could not escape, they said.

Buqbuq, just inside Egypt, and Sidi Barrani both were cracked. Only a suicide rear guard was found at Buqbuq, 205 miles west of El Alamein where the offensive started.

"Hellfire Pass" Prisoners.

Some 1,100 Germans and Italians were captured on Wednesday at Halfaya [Hellfire] pass, dispatches said, raising axis casualties well above 60,000. Only a small part of Rommel's arm managed to reach Libya. The troops that did left most of their remaining war equipment on the Egyptian sands.

It took the New Zealanders only five minutes to conquer Halfaya pass. They found the Italian prisoners were bitter toward the Germans for leaving them there.

[An Italian communique said that on the Egyptian front the British were attacking violently with "important armored forces" on the Egypt-Libya border.]

GUARD REMOVED FROM RESIDENCE OF VICHY CONSUL

A guard maintained about the apartment of Raymond Imbault-Huart, Vichy French consul general, at the Belmont hotel at 3172 Sheridan road, has been withdrawn, it was learned yesterday.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation established the guard last Sunday after united nations' forces moved into French North Africa, and Vichy broke off diplomatic relations with the United States.

While FBI agents would not comment, it was believed removal of the guard would free Imbault-Huart to move about the city as he wishes. The guard continued at the Vichy French consulate at 919 North Michigan avenue.

ASSERT MARTINIQUE'S STATUS IS UNCHANGED, DESPITE AEF IN AFRICA

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 12 (AP).—Developments in North Africa, where French resistance against an American expeditionary force has ended, will not affect the status of Martinque, qualified observers said tonight.

Adm. Georges Robert, Vichy commissioner at Martinque, and Vice Adm. John H. Hoover, commander of the 10th naval district, last spring concluded an agreement for demilitarization of the warships at Fort de France.

The Rome radio said Americans had landed on Martinique and Guadeloupe, in the West Indies, and in French Guiana. There have been no allied reports of such landings. The French ships demilitarized at Fort de France are the aircraft carrier Bearn and two cruisers.

ARGENTINA PUTS ITS O. K. ON YANK AFRICAN ATTACK

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 12 (AP).—Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu tonight expressed to Secretary of State Cordell Hull Argentina's solidarity with the United States operations in North Africa, ending an official silence on the campaign.

The foreign minister's message to Hull aroused particular interest because Argentina and Chile are the only South American nations not having broken relations with the axis. President Juan Antonio Rios of Chile previously had cabled President Roosevelt expressing approval of the African action.

Ruiz Guinazu's message said that the Argentine people watch "with solidarity and interest the efforts made by the great and friendly nation in safeguarding the security of the Americas." It also reiterated faith in the "high continental ideals" of the United States.

BIZERTE TERMED PISTOL AIMED AT HEART OF ITALY

Great Naval Base and Fort of Tunisia.

Described by Col. E. Alexander Powell, celebrated traveler and author, as a French pistol aimed straight at Italy, Bizerte, the great naval base and fortress on the coast of Tunisia in North Africa, is, next to Toulon, France's most important naval port on the Mediterranean.

The significance of its position in the present war developments in North Africa and Europe can be recognized readily by reference to the map on the back page.

Bizerte occupies a commanding site on the narrowest part of the Mediterranean, less than 150 miles from the western coast of Italy's great Island of Sicily. It is 420 miles south by east of Toulon, and 240 miles northwest of Great Britain's strong Mediterranean base on the Island of Malta.

Key to Europe Invasion.

Bizerte rightly may be termed the key to Europe in any united nation invasion of that continent from North Africa. Occupation by allied forces of Bizerte would place them in a position to threaten not only Sicily but Sardinia and the mainland of Italy as well.

Altho usually referred to as the Bizerte base, the French naval works in the region actually are at Sidi Abdallah, a few miles away. The city of Bizerte is situated on the Mediterranean shore at the point where the Lake of Bizerte [an arm of the sea] enters thru a natural channel. The mouth of this channel has been canalized. The modern part of the city lies almost wholly on the north side of the canal, and farther to the north is an ancient citadel, the Arab walled town, and a disused harbor.

The present outer harbor of Bizerte covers approximately 300 acres and is formed by two converging jetties [4,000 and 3,300 feet long] and a breakwater [2,300 feet long]. Entrance to the canal is in the center of this outer harbor. The canal is 2,600 feet long and nearly 800 feet wide, on the surface. Its banks are lined with quays at which vessels drawing up to 26 feet of water can be moored.

At the inner end of the canal is a sizable commercial harbor and beyond this is the Lake of Bizerte, joined to the inner harbor by a channel. The lake covers about 50 square miles. Two-thirds of its waters have a depth of 30 to 40 feet.

It is on the shore of this lake that the naval base and an arsenal are located. The principal naval works, as previously stated, are at Sidi Abdallah, on the southwest corner of the lake and about 10 miles from the open sea. Here is an inclosed basin of about 125 acres with all facilities for accommodating, repairing, refueling, and revictualling a large fleet.

Has Long Range Guns.

Near by is the military town of Ferryville, the site of barracks, hospitals, and waterworks.

Work began on the outer port of Bizerte some time after 1890 and was completed in 1895. The naval base at Sidi Abdallah was constructed some time later, the immediate region, the city and base, being heavily fortified. Being of a secret nature, the details of the fortifications are not obtainable.

Col. Powell, in his book, "In Barbary," wrote that Bizerte is one of the strongest fortresses in the world, with an elaborate chain of fortifications encircling the approaches to the harbor and the town. He further mentioned that the fortifications are armed with long range guns.

REPORT HITLER OFFERS PEACE TERMS TO VICHY

Promises '39 Territory in Five Point Plan.

Call Giraud Traitor

VICHY, France, Nov. 12 [from French broadcasts]—(AP).—The Vichy cabinet, meeting tonight with Marshal Petain presiding, issued a statement seeking to deter the French in North Africa from following Gen. Henri Giraud, who has joined the allies and is leading the liberation movement in Algeria, Morocco, and Tunisia.

Gen. Giraud, the statement said, "in accepting from the enemy the command of French forces in Africa, has failed in his word, forfeited his honor, and betrayed his duty as an officer."

"In consequence," it added, "neither the troops, civilian population nor civil servants owe him obedience."

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's terms for immediate peace with Vichy, restoring to France all her 1939 continental territory except Alsace and Lorraine, were carried to Vichy by Arch-Collaborationist Pierre Laval from his Munich meeting with the Fuehrer, it was reported tonight in reliable continental circles with close Vichy connections. The report was not confirmed.

The reported provisions, especially that involving the loss to the French of the two provinces, would prove decidedly distasteful and unacceptable to the whole French nation.

The cardinal terms of the proposed peace were:

1. France would regain all her continental area except the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine.

2. Alsace and Lorraine would become autonomous. [They have been incorporated into the reich.]

3. France would keep her empire [virtually all of which now is controled or allied with the united nations].

4. The French fleet would coöperate with the Germans to regain the empire.

5. Italy would renounce territorial claims on France.

The Italians in the past have yelled loudly for "Nice, Tunisia, and Corsica," but an Italian spokesman in Rome yesterday said Italy's share in the occupation was not intended in the interests of territory.

FIVE GOVERNORS TO MEET HERE ON STATES' WAR ROLE

Five governors will meet in the Shoreland hotel tonight to review the activities of the governors' conference during 1942 and to discuss the rôle of the states in the war in 1943. They comprise the executive committee of the Governors' conference.

The conferees will be Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor of Maryland, chairman; Gov. Leverett Saltenstall of Massachusetts, Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, Gov. Herbert B. Maw of Utah, and Gov. J. Melville Broughton of North Carolina.

Tomorrow war legislation to be submitted to various state legislatures next year will be discussed at the annual meeting of the board of managers of the Council of State Governments which has its national headquarters on the University of Chicago campus. Some of the proposed legislation would place dictatorial powers in the hands of governors.

If Back Aches or Ankles Swell, Flush Your Kidneys

If you're feeling out o'sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles.

Worry, Colds, working too hard, or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of Acids and overload your Kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 200 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.

Fourteen years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may easily make you feel years younger.

Guaranteed Trial Offer

Usually, in non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder disorders the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess Acids, poisons and wastes. And this cleansing, purifying Kidney action, in just a day or so, may easily make you feel younger, stronger and better than in years. An iron clad guarantee insures an immediate refund of all your money unless you are completely satisfied. Get Cystex from your druggist today for only 35c.

Author's Note: Cystex is produced under the direction of a licensed physician for The Knox Co., one of the largest drug companies in the world with laboratory connections in the U.S.A., Canada, England, Australia and South America. The guarantee of money back unless satisfied is enforced 100% and is a dependable form of assurance to all users of Cystex.

MR. ROOSEVELT AND 1944.

More than a week has passed since the election with its overwhelming repudiation of Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal, but he has still to give the people the answer they expect. He has still to announce definitely and unequivocally that he is not a candidate for a fourth term.

Mr. Roosevelt is surrounded by a set of scheming, ambitious, willful men determined, as the Vice President confessed the other day, to whittle away the Bill of Rights and move toward communism. Mr. Roosevelt is their man and, significantly, he continues to speak of himself as commander in chief not only in the limited sense which the phrase carries in the Constitution, but in the sense in which any of the European dictators might call himself commander.

Naturally, the people of this country, as their votes showed, are greatly concerned lest Mr. Roosevelt use his almost unlimited war powers to perpetuate himself in office and become a dictator for life. The popular concern is growing and the subject will continue to trouble the people increasingly until Mr. Roosevelt makes an explicit statement that he will not be a candidate in 1944. The sooner he does so, the better.

ARE THEY KELLY-NASH JUDGES?

The bankruptcy of the Cook county government makes it necessary that the judges of the Circuit court place a sharp limit on the greed for patronage of the county fee officers.

It can be conceded that it was a mistake to give the judges this task of fixing the number of fee office jobs. The framers of the 1871 constitution may have done so under the delusion that they would take the fee office jobs out of politics, but as practical men they should have foreseen the more likely result of dragging the bench into politics. But, for better or worse, the judges have the job and it is their duty to do it, not evade it.

Last year they gave a shameful exhibition of political subservience by allowing the unspeakable Sheriff O'Brien another hundred highway deputies. Blind Tom's plea was that they were needed for national defense. The extra hundred pay rollers were undoubtedly a great help to him in not finding handbooks and slot machines in the country towns, and in his race for congress, and that's all they were good for.

The judges' record last year was exceptionally bad. Their usual behavior has been to refuse all but a few requests for additional pay rollers, but to make no effort whatever to trim off the unneeded pay rollers already on the job. The public has a right to expect a thorogoing purge of the overloaded county pay rolls.

This year the county is paying for the extravagance of the past. The situation obviously calls more loudly than ever for economy. In the county building economy means cutting out jobs. The bulk of county revenue goes into pay rolls.

This is going to be a bad year, politically, to eliminate jobs. Every year, of course, is a bad year, politically, for such actions, but next spring the Kelly-Nash machine has to fight for the keystone of its patronage structure, the mayor's office. In the effort to win that fight the public may expect to see its taxes poured out thru every local government in Chicago, all of them controled by the machine.

The people of Chicago have frequently given evidence at the polls that they wanted neither Republican judges nor Democratic judges on the bench, but good judges. A large majority of the Circuit judges happen to have been elected on the Democratic ticket. That is of little consequence to independent voters, but it would matter a great deal to such voters if these Democratic judges showed themselves to be Kelly-Nash judges. Their action on the fee office jobs will demonstrate whether they are.

IOWA'S ANSWER TO MR. WALLACE.

Vice President Wallace evidently has given no attention to the election returns from his native state of Iowa. Certainly the opinions he expressed in his address the other day before the Congress of American-Soviet Friendship in New York had been roundly repudiated in the Republican landslide in Iowa.

Mr. Wallace says we have had too much civil liberty in this country. "Some in the United States," he said, with evident approval of their views, "believe that we have overemphasized what might be called political or Bill of Rights democracy. Carried to its extreme form it leads to . . . anarchy." Mr. Wallace thought that we ought to go half way to meet the Russians in such matters. He thought that the Communists are leading the way toward what he called economic democracy. "Somewhere," he said, "there is a practical balance between political and economic democracy" and Russia and the United States, from opposite extremes, are working toward that meeting point.

Mr. Wallace was in a mood of high mysticism and didn't bother to explain how the American people will benefit from the curtailing of free speech, free assembly, free press, jury trial, etc., which he favors. The folks in Iowa would, no doubt, like to know what he has to say under these heads. Meanwhile they know that the trend toward communism which Mr. Wallace is promoting means that farms will be confiscated and men and women who object will be executed without trial. The recent election shows what the people, not only of Iowa but of the whole country, think of that kind of tyranny.

SAFEGUARD THE AEF.

American fighting men are undoubtedly completely occupied at present with their military tasks in North Africa. When their hold on the French colonies is established, however, there may be a considerable lull before the next phase in operations. The soldiers will have time on their hands and it is well for them to realize that certain sections of North Africa, Algiers in particular, are pestholes of venereal disease. Their commanding officers and the medical service should furnish them every protection. The admonition given the troops that they must observe Moslem custom by refraining from addressing women is tactful and practical.

GERMAN DEFEAT IN THE FOURTH YEAR.

The defeat of Gen. Rommel's army in Egypt was the first German reverse which could rightly be called a military disaster. The action was the first since the lightning operations in Poland in which German divisions led by a brilliant commander had been routed. Altho Rommel had Italian troops to whom the Germans could attribute some responsibility, and will, there were plenty of Germans in the axis force and they were veterans of desert warfare, trained and equipped for it, and apparently second to none at Hitler's disposal. Until they were scattered in disorderly flight their campaign had been a triumph. They had chased the British across the desert to El Alamein and they had stunned Mr. Churchill, then at the White House, by taking a tremendous bag of prisoners at Tobruk.

Rommel must have felt confidence in his men and his position because he began what proved to be the concluding phase of the battle by attacking the British lines and, no doubt, expected to reach Alexandria. The importance of this action is to be found partly in its chronological relation. It came in the fourth year of the war. Reverses suffered after more than three years of successes have great significance. They indicate the growing power of the opposition which has been pushed around. In Russia the Germans didn't achieve their full objective, but they came close to it and, in spite of the advantages the winter gave the defenders, the Russians were not able sufficiently to improve their position to prevent the German resumption of offensive in the summer. The Nazis were checked in Russia, bled there, and kept with their hands full, but they suffered nothing like a disaster to any part of the army and they did crowd Russia to the ropes.

In the early summer of 1940 Hitler's phenomenal victories had left only one opponent facing him, and that was Great Britain, driven back to the island, stripped of equipment except in the air, and apparently helpless if the Germans could get across the water. The Nazis were licked in the air and they couldn't cross the moat. Hitler then decided that his quarrel with Russia was ripe.

This is the fourth year of the war and the end may not be in sight, but these facts have their meaning. The power opposed to him has been growing. The United States has supplied the British in Egypt with the tanks and the planes required to achieve such a rout as has been inflicted on Rommel. The United States is strong enough to put its own expeditionary force in North Africa. The situation in Europe has changed and the Nazi lines are longer. There is a greater dispersion of the German army. It will have to line the north Mediterranean coast and it is evident to the German commanders that factors which they may have regarded as negligible now have great weight.

The Germans have no great reserves on which to draw, either of men or materials. Mr. Hoover, who is probably as well informed on European food conditions as any one in this country, says that the German diet this winter will be far below anything the people have experienced thus far, particularly in the necessary fats. A defeat coming at this time, one which amounts to a regional catastrophe, is bad handwriting on the wall, particularly as it reveals the mounting power of the United States as a decisive factor.

Mr. Churchill told the house of commons that it was the American tanks with which his men had been so painstakingly trained that enabled his generals to make the break thru and the pursuit. American pilots and planes constantly are adding to the assurance of air supremacy in every field of operation and we know here that the production of material and the training of what Gen. McNair calls the best soldier material is just reaching its peak.

In view of these facts the German generals must read in the rout of Rommel a most discouraging portent of things to come. Hitler's barking speeches will not influence their military judgment. They have the summer of 1918 in their books and the date of Aug. 8 in the fourth year of that war when German army morale began to crack and German positions to become untenable.

KEEP TRACK OF LEND-LEASE.
[Milwaukee Journal.]

The undiplomatic, untactful way in which Gen. Sir Walter Venning, head of the British supply mission in this country, spoke of lend-lease stirs up a minor hornets' nest in congress and elsewhere. Why his outburst at this time, it is hard to guess. Lend-lease, we should think, is going along pretty well. But Gen. Venning wants the abolition of all bookkeeping on such transactions and their treatment solely on a reciprocal basis. In other words, each will give the other what it believes it can afford, and no one must know how much that was.

That would be a poor way to do business. Our own people are entitled to know what our war expenditures are and where they go, if for nothing else than a check on our own government.

We know, as Sir Walter says, that the expenditure of treasure is not to be compared to the loss of lives. We have been losing lives and shall lose more.

Sen. Tydings put it pretty well: "I'm practically certain," he said, "that we will get none of this back. I don't think we ever expected to get it back when we gave it the high sounding name of lend-lease. But I think we ought to keep a record to show what was furnished, how it was furnished, who used it, and how they used it."

That's about right. We don't expect to get it back. It could only be repaid in gold, of which we have too much, or in goods, for which we want to exchange our after war products. But that hardly justifies telling us we mustn't even keep books.

It leaves rather a bad taste when goods are going forward steadily and we have to trust to our ally's word that they are being most usefully employed in our common defense; it leaves rather a bad taste in the midst of this huge effort to be told there is something more we ought to do—not even keep track of it. After all, six and a half billions isn't hay.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

HERE'S YOUR LINEBOOK, 1942.

The Linebook of 1942, an anthology of verse and prose selected from a year's Line o' Type columns, goes on sale today. Its editor views with pride and points toward the box office: 15 cents over the counter or 18 cents by mail order. We have a notion that it is the best book bargain of the Christmas shopping period.

* * *

It may be purchased at newsstands, book shops, and THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service offices. The latter may be found on the first floor of the Tribune Tower or at Madison and Dearborn streets. Mail orders should be addressed to the Public Service office, with inclosure of 18 cents in stamps or coins. Many mail orders come to the editor's desk and are promptly transmitted to the Public Service office, where good John Gillespie, manager, and his merry clerks always give service with a smile.

* * *

The Linebook series began in 1924. The current edition is the first to be prepared and published in a time of war. Last year's, in which war was foreshadowed, went on sale two weeks before the attack on Pearl Harbor. [See page 30: a sonnet entitled, "Hickam Field, Hawaii."]

* * *

The cover design is a color fantasy in crayon by Gary Sheahan, a gifted veteran of THE TRIBUNE'S editorial staff. It represents a Pegasus with a comic gleam in his eye, harnessed to a buggy and running wild. The driver of the buggy is a certain journalist hitched to a typewriter. It's an attractive and jolly cover. Clap hands for Mr. Sheahan.

* * *

In THE TRIBUNE'S composing room, when Linebook time comes around, the slogan is: "Sixty-four blankety-blank pages!" They say it with a smile, and are quoting the founder of the Linebook, Richard Henry Little, who had associated with our armies in Flanders and acquired a curious vocabulary.

* * *

And so the editor cries his wares: "It's easy to read and easy to buy, and fine to send to a soldier."

LIFE'S MYSTERIES, NO. 6,702.

We are standing on the corner and we're waiting for a bus,
Then the bus comes 'round the corner and our head begins a-swimmin'
As the air is filled with hordes of walking, running, dashing women!
So we scrape us off the sidewalk and we stand aside and wait
(For politeness is a quality we fondly term "innate");
And, many aeons later, as on board we try to squeeze,
The driver briskly slams the door and mutters, "Next bus, please!"
O, some folks wonder where on earth your lap goes when you stand up,
And others wonder, at parades, what always holds the band up;
Why birds fly south in autumn; what or who this, that, or thus is—
I want to know where all those gals come from and snitch my buses!

Sing a Song of Coffee.

The great Johann Sebastian Bach, who died in 1750, went humorous long enough to write a "Coffee Cantata," which exhibits the opposition to the use of coffee in his time.

In this skit, written for four mixed voices, a mature but still marriageable young lady displays her devotion to coffee and her determination to have it in spite of her father's stern disapproval of the beverage. He views her addiction to coffee much as a strict parent of 30 years ago would have regarded a daughter's addiction to cigarets. The daughter forces the issue by declaring that she will accept no offer of marriage unless it is accompanied by a guarantee that she shall have her coffee. A candidate appears who is willing to meet this condition, and the father finally yields in order not to lose the last chance of getting her off his hands.

This cantata is not often sung, but it was presented several years ago at one of the Chicago conservatories with the fine old Welsh baritone, Daniel Prothero, and his daughter, in the father and daughter rôles.

THE BARBARY COAST.

When bold Decatur led his little force
Of naval vessels to the Barbary Coast,
America had but begun her course;
Yet not too young she was to make her boast
She would no tribute yield on land or sea.
Levantine corsairs quickly found it wise
To fear the firm, upstanding Yankee,
The free man nourished under western skies.

And now a mighty troup of arms and men
Has landed on the ancient coast of Tripoli
To prove that Vandal power shall pass again;
While western skies are blue, men must be free.
The fight for Freedom there so well begun
Continues now, and this time will be won.

A Diplomatic Triple Play.

Linemaster: You credit John Hay, secretary of state, with the message, "We want Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead" [Nov. 10]. According to Oliver Gramling, author of "AP: the Story of the News," the credit should go to an AP Washington reporter, Edwin M. Hood.

According to Gramling, Hood called on Hay for news. He was shown a long cable that was to be sent to Morocco and his opinion was asked. Hood replied that the cable was too long and that he could cut it down to seven words. When Hay asked him what he meant, Hood wrote out the famous message. See page 188.

EYE SUPERSTITIONS

ALTHO good vision is priceless, physicians encounter numerous "old wives' sayings" which are supposed to govern the preservation of sight. Certain procedures are considered miraculous while others have the force of law. For the most part, they are useless—sometimes risky.

Sties are tiny abscesses near the roots of the lashes. Proper treatment includes discharge of the pus thru the application of heat and gentle massage. Nevertheless, in days gone by the healing agent was a gold wedding ring or a pebble taken from a running stream. The affected part was rubbed at intervals until recovery occurred.

This relatively harmless maneuver was thought to be far less efficient than the tail of a black cat which is passed nine times over the blemish. If the swelling caused great pain one should go to the nearest crossroad, turn around three times, and return home, looking neither to the right nor to the left. If a child exhibited bloodshot or inflamed orbs, superstition decreed that the ears should be pierced.

The evil eye was a fearful thing. Relief came only if the victim could outstare the one who was endeavoring to cast a spell. In this same connection there is an absurd and hazardous teaching that the one who can look steadily at a bright light for a long time without blinking will strengthen his vision.

Another common misconception has to do with the wearing of glasses—"they will weaken your eyes." There isn't the slightest justification for this statement. In fact, by preventing fatigue, they spare vital parts for long and efficient use. I well recall one self-constituted oracle who told me I would fail to develop strong eyesight until I could grow a mustache.

There was a great scramble for panaceas for failing vision. Popular cures included the juice of the inner bark of the elder tree. If this were applied frequently it would so sharpen the ability to see that one could detect spies or catch thieves. To be able to tell a witch from a normal person, a special ointment was prepared which contained fat obtained from night flying birds.

Devices for the removal of foreign bodies are legion. We all know about introducing a flaxseed, which is supposed to float about and chase away the offender. Then, there is the plan of pulling down the upper lid and blowing the nose vigorously. This is only surpassed by having a friend use the tip of his tongue. If all methods fail, a poultice made of oysters may be applied.

Now, all these suggestions have little to commend them. Cleanliness is the first rule of good hygiene and anything which permits foul material to come in contact with the delicate tissues will increase the danger, as well as the discomfort.

For all practical purposes we can use corrective glasses and avoid injuries and infections. Finally, we can maintain general health at a high level. This latter precaution will do much to preserve good seeing power.

STERN FATHER.

Mrs. A. M. writes: My husband says our daughter of 16 months cannot have candy. I believe a piece now and then will not hurt. Please act as referee. My husband is an ardent reader of your column.

REPLY.

If there is the slightest family tendency to diabetes, sugar may well be eliminated. "Now and then" all too frequently will become "often." No danger from occasional use with a healthy, growing youngster.

SEE AN EXPERT.

J. P. writes: Can moles be safely removed and if so, how?

REPLY.

Yes. If they are growing they demand skilled attention. Various methods are employed, including electrocoagulation, carbonic acid snow, certain chemicals, or surgery.

INTUITION?

O. Z. writes: Does a woman sense pregnancy the first month?

REPLY.

She may. As a rule, however, the systemic effects are undetectable quite so early.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

CONDESCENDING RATIONERS.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—I left my working place one-half hour earlier than usual so as to get to the war ration board before closing time to obtain my gas ration blank. While there I asked for a dozen blanks to distribute to my fellow workers. I was asked why they couldn't come in and get these, as only one could be given to a person. I explained that, on account of their working hours, it would inconvenience them, and that if I got a dozen blanks it would save the tires and gas on their cars; but still I was refused. They claimed that they were allotted so many blanks and had to keep a check on them. However, I was given one blank, but did not have to sign or show them any identification, so how could they keep a check? Inasmuch as this is wartime, and we are to conserve rubber, don't you think the proper thing to do was to give me a dozen blanks and possibly take the name of the firm at which I work?

This is my second experience at the war ration board and both times I was put under the impression that they were doing me a big favor by just listening to my request. If these workers at the ration board would realize that they are paid to help the public, and not act as if they were on the pardon board at Stateville penitentiary, it would be a happier world.

JAMES A. MARTEN.

STILL WAITING TO VOTE.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—I attended public grammar school, high school, and junior college in Chicago and during these years I was continually reminded of the patriotic duty of every citizen to vote on election days, and also of the privilege of woman suffrage. I decided early never to be a "slacker" on these important days and, more than that, to acquaint myself as well as possible with the previous records of the candidates for whom I would vote.

In keeping with these civic ideals, I registered as a voter at the city hall shortly after I was 21, and I awaited eagerly the next election—that of November, 1940. When the time came I was out of town and applied for an absentee ballot. On the big day I tore open excitedly the envelope from the election commissioners, only to find a letter stating that since I had not been in my precinct on a certain date I was ineligible for an absentee ballot. I cannot express the utter disappointment I felt when I was disfranchised on the very day I had looked forward to for years—the date I should cast my first vote. And that after fulfilling all legal requirements for receipt of the coveted ballot.

Last Tuesday I was again deprived of my vote as my card was not in the binder. Will some one please tell me how often I must check to see if my card is in this all-important binder? I am trying my best to be the voting citizen that Chicago's schools have urged me to be, but it seems I am getting no coöperation. I wonder what will be the excuse for my ineligibility to vote at the next election?

NOT IN THE AMERICAN HERITAGE.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—How, with the solid American heritage back of him, can Henry Wallace propose such postwar policies as he advocated in an address before the Congress of American-Soviet Friendship in New York yesterday? The Bill of Rights has for 150 years given us a fine foundation on which to build a nation subservient to none. The fanatical ideas to which Mr. Wallace subscribes are truly New Deal, not the inheritance of Americanism to which he was born.

No real American can subscribe to such a future. Let us have our Constitution, our Bill of Rights, and our independence.

AN OLD WALLACE NEIGHBOR.

ELEANOR'S BALLOT.

Muscoda, Wis., Nov. 6. — Two news items dated Nov. 3 attracted my attention:

"LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—Election day was just another day of drill and work for the American soldiers in Britain, who didn't cast a single ballot. Altho recent legislation by congress gave soldiers the right to vote, ballots failed to arrive."

The second item:

"Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP).— . . . The President identified himself to the election board as a farmer. He asked: 'Did my missus' ballot get in in time from London?'

"He was told it had not and remarked that he had sent it to Mrs. Roosevelt by plane after she had missed receiving it by 24 hours in Washington, D. C."

No planes to carry ballots to our fighting men, but one to carry a ballot to Eleanor who is in Europe on a publicity tour.

Some commentators say the election would have turned out differently if the boys voted. I wonder.

MRS. NELLIE KRAUS.

TWO MORE YEARS.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Once again those of us who have had to stand by for 10 years watching the New Deal make a wreck of our honored institutions can raise our heads and face the future hopefully. We can stand two more years of the scourge because now there is a reason to expect a return to decency in government.

Our boys in service will take heart, knowing that those who come back will come back to something worth their sacrifices. They will know that a majority of Illinois voters prefer for high office the man who carries the scars of his service to his country as against the man who was able to persuade a draft board to keep him at home.

To the thinking men and women of Illinois, the specter of Kelly-Nash-Browder-Knox is not as forbidding as it was a few days ago.

F. W. B.

OLD DOC GALLUP.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Poor old Gallup! He's proved himself to be just another New Deal rubber stamp. We had enough rubber stamps bob up during the recent election, but try and find them now.

Just to show how Gallup works: A short time ago the administration leaders announced a plan to draft man power. Now Gallup reports that the majority of the public is in favor of it.

I have been around a lot, but I have never known any one or heard of any one who had been contacted by Gallup. I am sure the public is in favor of old Gallup galloping off into oblivion. May it happen soon!

AUSTINITE.

RESTAURANT COFFEE.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—People like J. Vondrak, who puts up an awful howl today because coffee prices were raised in restaurants, can't even buy coffee in the store. If they can, they hoard it and go to the restaurant, which has also had its supplies drastically cut. Our restaurant used to get 55 pounds a week, but now we get 62 pounds a month.

How else is the restaurant to get rid of people who sit from 15 minutes to an hour or two reading their papers and pouring down cup after cup of coffee, unless they discourage them by asking a fair price? Maybe there is a ceiling on the actual price of coffee, but not on labor, fuel, etc. It takes almost as much time and work to serve coffee as it does to serve a meal, and there's no profit in it. Several people eat their lunches on the job and come in to take up space real customers need just to drink coffee and spend the rest of the lunch hour.

Many of these same people pay an extra 5 or 10 cents on a shot of whisky without a murmur. Why kick on 2 cents or 5 cents extra on coffee? It's more essential to everyday living than whisky.

MRS. H. K.

WHY THE TIRE INSPECTIONS?

Bartlett, Ill., Nov. 10.—I see by THE TRIBUNE that in order to get a gasoline ration card we must submit to a periodic tire inspection. If you ask me this is just another piece of plain unadulterated graft. Will some one kindly explain to me what good a tire inspection can possibly do us? There is nothing that the inspector can tell us except that our tires are wearing out, and why should we be compelled to pay out our good money for that? It seems that there is nothing the New Dealers won't do to harass the public, especially when at the same time they can create a few thousand jobs as tire inspectors for some petty political, doorbell pushing, racketeering ward heelers.

RUSSIAN WINTER HITS STALINGRAD; 29° BELOW ZERO

Soviets, Germans Trade Blows in City.

MOSCOW, Nov. 13 [Friday] (AP).—Fighting in sub-zero cold, the Germans and Russians traded narrow strips of Stalingrad's battleripped earth yesterday while the Reds in the Caucasus successfully counterattacked near Nalchik and held firm at Tuapse, the soviet midnight communique reported as the siege of Stalingrad entered its 81st day.

[The Berlin radio said that a cold spell which had driven temperatures to 29 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, had forced abatement of fighting in the Stalingrad area.]

Force Invaders Back.

The Russians said the Germans brought up reserves and attacked at several places in the Stalingrad area, at one point penetrating defense lines in a wedge 100 to 200 yards deep but at "enormous" cost.

In a northern sector of the city, the communique declared, soviet counterattacks shoved the invaders back 400 yards and cost the Germans 200 dead while northwest of the city the Germans were driven from several houses.

Despite the reference to reserves, there was no indication that the Germans were braving the deep winter cold with anything like the masses they were using a few weeks ago at Stalingrad.

Nazis Lose 170 Vehicles.

South of Nalchik in the Caucasus, the Russians said, counterattacks "broke the enemy's resistance" and drove the Germans from two inhabited localities. The Nazis lost 170 motor vehicles and 400 dead in that region, it was reported.

Northeast of Tuapse along the Black sea repeated light enemy attacks were repelled, the high command said.

Enemy aviation cut its activity sharply, concentrating on the Russian communications and rear. Outdated planes appeared at the front [indicating the foe perhaps had shifted air weight to the new North African theater].

Germans Claim Gains.

BERLIN, Nov. 12 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—German shock troops "ejected the enemy in violent attacks from some more blocks of houses and strong points" in Stalingrad, the high command reported today. In the Caucasus large scale fighting near Alagir and the capture of several important heights in the Tuapse area were reported.

ONE SHOT, TWO OTHERS SEIZED IN AUTO CHASE

Three young men were captured and one of them shot in the thigh as they attempted to flee state police in a stolen truck last night near Homewood.

State Policemen George Hall and Henry Pilotto gave chase when the truck sped past their car on the Lincoln highway and turned onto Route 54. Several times the driver of the light truck tried to force the police car off the road, and in Homewood police began firing at the fugitives' tires. This brought the truck to a stop, and the three jumped out and ran into a prairie.

Police bullets brought down John Perenti, 18 years old, who lives near 67th street and Hermitage avenue, and his two companions, Angelo Calabrese, 17, of 6835 South Hermitage avenue, and Joseph Tagler, 15, of 6843 South Hermitage avenue, were captured.

3,052 AIRCRAFT AND 4,084 TANKS SENT TO RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Richard Law, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons today that America and Britain have no reason to feel humiliated over the aid they have given Russia. He enumerated impressive figures of Anglo-American deliveries to Russia, as Prime Minister Winston Churchill yesterday promised would be done.

He said the United States and Britain in the last year had sent to Russia 3,052 aircraft, 4,084 tanks, 30,031 vehicles, and 831,000 tons of miscellaneous machine tools, metals, and aluminum. In addition, 42,000 tons of aviation gasoline and 65,000 tons of fuel oil were delivered. He said that most of these supplies reached Russia.

Law said the draft of the treaty which the United States and Britain are signing with China, abolishing their extraterritorial rights in that country, "is a shining example of Anglo-American coöperation."

JUNK DEALER'S THEFT OF SCRAP LEADS TO JAIL

Everett Lawson, 42 years old, 1439 North Clark street, a junk dealer, was sentenced to six months in jail on a petty larceny charge yesterday by Judge John T. Zuris in the Grand Crossing police court. Lawson was accused of failing to turn over scrap he had collected from prospects rounded up by the 360 pupils of the St. Louis academy, a girls' school at 11715 South State street. Lawson also was fined $1 and costs on charges of driving a truck without a state license, driving without a driver's license, and failure to have a city vehicle sticker.

2 JAIL DODGERS FOUND IN WAKE OF BROSNAN CASE

Man Sought in 1940 Is Still at Liberty.

Assistant State's Attorney Myron Lewis announced yesterday that records in the Municipal court had disclosed two cases similar to that of John P. Brosnan, who evaded serving a jail sentence for more than nine years.

Brosnan, an employé in the city bureau of streets, was sentenced in March, 1934, in the Municipal court to serve a year in the Bridewell and was fined $200 and costs for contributing to delinquency of an 11 year old girl. On appeal, the Supreme court ordered him to serve sentence.

Brosnan Finally in Bridewell.

Lewis discovered last week that Brosnan had not been served, and had him sent to the Bridewell.

One new case found by Lewis is that of John J. Sweeney, 28, formerly of 1046 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, sentenced on Dec. 30, 1938, to 120 days in jail for selling obscene literature.

He was released from the county jail on a writ of supersedeas on July 5, 1939, after serving part of his sentence.

Efforts to overturn the verdict on appeal failed. Lewis said a capias for Sweeney's arrest was turned over to the police on July 11, 1940, but was returned, marked "not served." The capias itself was not in the files. Detectives were told during the day that Sweeney had moved from the Oak Park address.

Case of Woman Shoplifter.

The other new case is that of a woman shoplifter sentenced to nine months for larceny. Lewis said the records did not show she had served time. Details were withheld until he completes his investigation.

The assistant state's attorney said he is examining 22 recent cases in which appeals have been sought. Lewis added:

"The Municipal court clerk's office was at fault in not ordering bond forfeitures in the cases where the capiases could not be served. The police department also showed laxity."

Commissioner Allman has ordered a full investigation.

SEIZE PHYSICIAN AS ABORTIONIST; PATIENT VERY ILL

A charge of abortion was placed against Dr. Bronislaus Mix, 1500 Lake Shore drive, by Racine avenue police yesterday on a complaint signed by Max Swiatek, 2318 Rice street, brother of a woman who identified herself as Lotte Stoercer, 31 years old, of 1349 Augusta boulevard.

The physician will be arraigned today in Felony court. Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek said the woman, who is in a serious condition in County hospital, told him she visited Dr. Mix on Oct. 27. and that he gave her some pills when she told him of her condition. She said she visited him five more times and that he sent her to the hospital when she became ill last Tuesday.

Dr. Mix was named co-defendant with Mrs. Magdalene Motzny-Stegeman, a midwife, in September, 1941, in a $10,000 damage suit arising from the death of Mrs. Rose Smith, 23, after an alleged abortion. The suit charged that Dr. Mix aided Mrs. Motzny-Stegeman in performing the operation and was negligent in his subsequent treatment of Mrs. Smith.

PASS $2,650,000 MARK IN CHICAGO FUND CAMPAIGN

The Chicago Community Fund campaign reached $2,654,000 yesterday as a result of subscriptions reported by workers in the industrial and women's divisions at a luncheon in the Standard club. The fund seeks to raise $3,750,000 by Thanksgiving day.

The day's reports put 9 more of the 68 groups in the industrial division beyond their quotas. Forty-three others have now passed the half-way mark, James L. Palmer, industrial division chairman, reported.

ORDER CLOSING OF UNLICENSED BARS TUESDAY

Police will be instructed to close all retail liquor outlets next Tuesday which do not obtain their new licenses by 4:30 p. m. Monday, Police Commissioner James P. Allman said yesterday.

City Collector Louis Rixmann reported that up to noon yesterday he had received 5,290 license applications. During the last license period, which ended Oct. 31, 8,347 licenses were issued.

C., Nov. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt has accepted an invitation of President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines to participate with a speech in a program Sunday afternoon observing the 7th anniversary of the inauguration of the government of the Philippine commonwealth. The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by L. E. Jensen, 2239 North Kilpatrick avenue.]

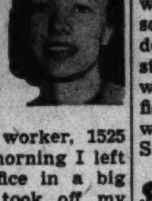
THE QUESTION.

What was your most embarrassing experience in the office?

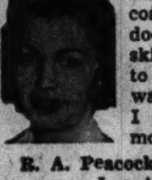
WHERE ASKED.

Lobby of Morrison hotel.

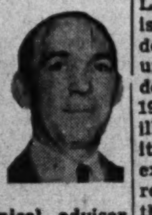
THE ANSWERS.



Billie M. Jeffrey, comptometer operator, 6128 Woodlawn avenue—The boss left the office and I thought he would be gone some time. I sat down in his swivel chair, put my feet on his desk, and pretended to smoke his pipe. You can imagine how I felt when he suddenly came back after his pipe.



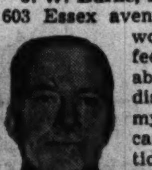
Eileen Grimm, office worker, 1525 Glenlake avenue—One morning I left for the office in a big hurry. I took off my coat on my way thru the door. I was wearing a skirt, but had forgotten to put on my blouse. I was so embarrassed that I took the rest of the morning off to buy one.



R. A. Peacock, representative fruit company, Los Angeles, Cal.—Our advertising department had delivered some new material, including a life sized cardboard model of a beautiful girl. Just as I was in the midst of a graceful waltz with the model the boss walked in. I felt extremely foolish.

N. A. Douglas, technical advisor fruit company, Los Angeles, Cal.—The boss had always been generous in treating us to drinks at his own office bar. One evening when a group of us were working overtime we took a taste. We felt pretty sheepish when he unexpectedly walked in.

Sydney Strack, secretary, 907 East 55th street—Our office was full of people but the boss hadn't noticed that. He did notice when he opened the door for a second that I was sitting on the office manager's lap. We were just clowning in celebration of his birthday, but it was embarrassing.



J. W. Burke, factory representative, 603 Essex avenue, Narberth, Pa.—It would have made me feel plenty uncomfortable to have the boss discover me asleep at my own desk, so you can imagine my sensations when he found me sound asleep in his big, comfortable chair.

ROOSEVELT CALLS ON PEOPLE FOR 2 DAYS OF PRAYER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—President Roosevelt today called on the American people to observe Thanksgiving day and New Year's day by offering public and private prayers for faith and courage to win victory.

The joint proclamation for two days of prayer was unprecedented. The proclamation marked the return to observance of Thanksgiving day on the last Thursday of November.

Opening with a quotation from the Psalms—"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord"—the proclamation said, "The final months of this year, now almost spent, find our republic and the nations joined with it waging a battle on many fronts for the preservation of liberty.

"In giving thanks for the greatest harvest in the history of our nation, we who plant and reap can well resolve that in the year to come we will do all in our power to pass that milestone; for by our labors in the fields we can share some part of the sacrifice with our brothers and sons who wear the uniform of the United States"

$70,364 REFUND IN GAS RATE IS COURT'S PUZZLE

Circuit Judge Julius F. Miner took under advisement yesterday the question of what should be done with $70,364 still unclaimed from the refund account of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. The money is part of that the company was ordered to refund to 860,000 customers under a United States Supreme court decision handed down in the fall of 1940. This declared a rate increase illegal. The company had asked that it be given the $70,364 to apply on expenses connected with making the refund. The city asks the money, or that it be turned over to the Red Cross if the state opposes the city claim.

CHARGES PLANES MOVED TO PLANT TO FOOL F. D. R.

Huge Man Power Waste at Factory Claimed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—A labor leader, charging man power waste in war industry, told a senate labor subcommittee today of sworn testimony that a Fort Worth, Tex., aircraft factory brought in bombers from elsewhere to deceive President Roosevelt on his inspection tour.

Harvey W. Brown, president of the International Association of Machinists, said a worker in the Consolidated Aircraft corporation plant at Fort Worth had asserted under oath:

"In order to deceive the President of the United States on his visit to this plant, they flew in several bombers from elsewhere to make it look like they came off our assembly line. The bombers were taken out of the plant the day after the President's visit."

Brown told Chairman Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] that affidavits alleging that the government owned, privately operated Fort Worth plant is "overloaded with workers" and that they are "instructed to fake an appearance of being busy" had been turned over to the war production board with an urgent request for exhaustive investigation.

Other Reports Studied.

"Reports of similar situations in other plants have been brought to my attention," Brown said, "but until we have investigated and obtained signed affidavits I do not desire to comment on such other instances of man power waste at this time."

Discussing the Fort Worth charge Brown said:

"For example, one of the affidavit signers who declares that he has been employed at the plant for 6½ months stated: 'Never in all my life have I seen so little production and so much waste for a plant that is vital to our effort. Neither have I ever seen so much dissatisfaction among men and women due to the fact that foremen jump on them about not working when they have nothing to do.

"'Cannot something be done about this? If not, we might as well quit and go back to our original jobs or back on the farm, where we would be of better help to the boys on our front lines.'"

Urges Workers' Transfer.

Under questioning, Brown said "at Fort Worth, if the management does not have sufficient jobs for the present employment of the personnel, then there should be means whereby workers could be transferred to other aircraft plants where there is a need for skilled workers."

Brown said the Forth Worth plant was opened 10 months ago when several hundred workers were transferred from the Consolidated plant at San Diego, Cal. He said that under an existing rule members of his union were denied the right of a bargaining agency in the Fort Worth plant because it has not yet reached half its maximum employment of 34,000.

WIN WAR, KEEP AMERICAN WAY, HAWKES URGES

Man Who Beat Boss Hague Tells Senatorial Aim.

Albert W. Hawkes, former Chicagoan who took a $90,000 salary cut in beating the Hague machine on Nov. 3, was tendered a luncheon yesterday by a representative group of business men before proceeding to a California vacation until he takes his seat in the United States senate.

The tall, spare New Jersey Republican who won the high office in his first election contest resigned Wednesday from his $100,000 a year job as president and chairman of the Congoleum-Nairn company, which he has held for 16 years.

Hawkes Discloses His Aims.

How much his new $10,000 a year job means to Hawkes may be indicated by his addition to his sketch in Who's Who:.

"Interested in preserving the form of government of the United States and making known the truth about individual rights and the American free enterprise system."

In 1941, Hawkes was president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. To the 50 guests hastily assembled yesterday in the Chicago club, he described the grind of detailed organization work involved in upsetting the Hague machine—how women were mobilized and thousands of telephone calls made to voters.

American System Must Endure.

Hawkes declared that the great gulf between the American and the totalitarian way of life must be maintained.

"I have the definite conviction that you can't win the war with a physical victory over Germany and Japan," he said. "Victory for the United States in the war is so interwoven with preservation of the fundamental principles of our American system of free men under the constitution that the two things cannot be separated.

"The Republican party thru its victory has a great obligation to the American people and it must be performed with vision and in such a way as to hold the faith of the mass of American people found in between extremes of right and left."

Hawkes was born in Chicago in 1878 and lived here for 37 years. He was educated at the Chicago College of Law and Lewis institute.

ELECTION FRAUD WITNESSES BALK IN PHILP HEARING

After four witnesses refused to answer questions on the ground they might incriminate themselves, and one had been ordered into custody but later released, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday continued the John R. Philp election petition fraud hearing until today and hinted of possible stern action if the impasse remains.

"The majority of these persons are public employés," said Judge Jarecki of the four witnesses, all 42d ward Democratic precinct captains. "Their refusal to answer questions is preposterous."

The four are Joseph Campione of 833 Sedgwick street; John B. Romano, 1011 Hudson avenue; Michael Baietto, 235 Scott street, and Louis Epstein, 1205 Larrabee street.

Campione, an investigator in the corporation counsel's office, was ordered into custody when he refused to identify his signature as notary on petitions. Romano is a former clerk on the city pay roll and Baietto is personal bailiff to Municipal Judge George Quilici.

Basis for the hearing is the charge that fraudulent nominating petitions, including forgeries among their 5,800 signatures, were filed to place Philp in the race for Republican nomination for probate judge in the primary last April. Philp was defeated for the nomination by Stanley R. Pulaski.

In continuing the case, Judge Jarecki released Campione with the other precinct captains. All are under $500 personal bond as a result of the writs of attachment which Judge Jarecki issued Oct. 30.

DISMISSES SUIT OF EX-FELON J. P. AGAINST TRIBUNE

Federal Judge Acts After Plaintiff Testifies.

The $50,000 suit of Raymond Edgerley, Portage township, Porter county, Ind., charging THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE had libeled him by calling him an "ex-convict auto bandit justice of the peace" on June 15 and 16, 1940, was dismissed abruptly in the federal court of Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday.

After Edgerley, the only witness, had completed his testimony, Judge Sullivan dismissed the jury, turned to Edgerley and his attorney, Oscar B. Thiel, and asked: "Don't you think it's an imposition on the court to carry this thing on any further? The country is at war. We are busy with important matters." He then dismissed the suit with prejudice, which prevents Edgerley from reopening it.

Court in Tourist Cabin.

On the witness stand Edgerley admitted, under questioning by David Jacker and Charles R. Morrow, attorneys for THE TRIBUNE, that as justice of the peace of Portage township he had held court in a tourist cabin three miles east of Gary, Ind., on U. S. route 20. He told how, altho Indiana state highway police patroled the sector, he hired Bernard W. Fleming, justice of the peace in neighboring Westchester township, for 50 cents an hour to make arrests as constable.

He said he frequently patroled the highway with Fleming, who wore a blue uniform and cap and a badge labeled "Conservator of Peace," sometimes trailing his constable in his own car.

Freed from Prison in 1933.

Edgerley admitted that he had been released from the Michigan City penitentiary in 1933 after serving almost seven years on a charge of robbery.

As he left the courtroom Edgerley had a request of the press: "See that you include in the story that I was reëlected last week."

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

Mrs. A. W. of Texas writes: "My daughter's husband is a prisoner of war in Germany. Her first letter from him came today, asking for food and clothing. The Red Cross provided information on sending things to him, and combined with his letter, it is a message which should be spread. Chicago was my home and I thought of Michigan avenue, and the women who shop there, often buying to dull the ache in their hearts. Will you let me speak to those women thru The Tribune? I want to say just this: Two dollars and seventy-five cents, sent to your Red Cross chapter and marked 'For food for a prisoner of war in Germany or Italy' will assure a box of concentrated food reaching a hungry allied soldier.

"We think much and donate lavishly to starving people of other countries, and my son-in-law wrote: 'Tell your friends that if they really want to help they can donate to the prisoners of war.' Did you know that for this small price you can send food to one of these men? I didn't until I went to the Red Cross for information. I believe that most women will feel as I do—and will say: 'Here is one definite thing I can do to help.'"

ANSWER: We are glad to print Mrs. W.'s suggestion. However, it should be clearly understood that at the present time packages cannot be sent to allied prisoners in Japan, tho they can be provided for prisoners in Germany and Italy. Specific individuals may not be selected, but preferences as to nationality may be indicated. For instance, a package cannot be sent to John Jones, a prisoner in Germany, but one may be marked "for a British [Polish, Czech, etc.] prisoner in Germany." The package contains concentrated foods and vitamins to be used to supplement prison diets. Checks or money orders may be sent to your local chapter of the American Red Cross.

"A Private's Wife" writes: "My husband entered the service in July. Since then I have been using the stamps in my sugar rationing book but not his. What shall I do with it? I read the instructions but could not decide, since it does not mention service men. Please advise me."

ANSWER: Return your husband's book to your local sugar rationing board. It will be filed there until such time as your husband is discharged from the army. If you do not know the address of your local board, the central office at 228 North La Salle street, Franklin 8430, can advise yon.

G. C. writes: "I am engaged to a sailor now stationed in California. I am employed, and can't go out there to marry him, and since he expects to be sent out of the country, I wonder if we could be married by proxy. Would I then be eligible for a wife's allowance? We are both residents of Chicago."

ANSWER: The state of Illinois does not recognize such marriages as valid. Government agencies are guided by state rulings in such matters, and you would not be eligible for an allowance.

NELSON LEADING OFFICIAL COUNT FOR HOUSE SEAT

Ragnar G. Nelson, Republican, is expected to be shown the winner by over 1,000 votes of the seat now held by Adam S. Mioduski, Democrat, in the Illinois house of representatives for the 13th senatorial district on the southwest side, when the proclamation of the official canvass of the Nov. 3 election is issued at 2 p. m. today.

The Chicago election board yesterday refused Rep. Mioduski's demand that he be credited with 1,002 votes in eight precincts where the statements of votes disagreed with the tally sheets. The board adhered to the precedent of accepting as final the count shown by both tally sheets.

Rep. Mioduski picked up 263 votes when the board found that canvassers made an oversight in reviewing the returns from the 66th precinct of the 9th ward. This still gave Nelson a margin of more than 1,000 votes.

Nicaragua Cuts French Ties Till 'Nation Is Free'

RATNER, KANSAS GOVERNOR, HITS SUIT AGAINST AP

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—Gov. Payne Ratner of Kansas told the Kansas Society of New York tonight what the folks back home are doing to help the war effort and declared they were of the opinion "it is time to scrape off all political parasites who are barnacles on the ship of state."

Gov. Ratner criticized the government action against the Associated Press.

"Some officials in high places seem to have forgotten that this war is being fought for every freedom we cherish—including freedom of the press. For example, while Americans fight for liberty in other lands, a great and unbiased news-gathering organization, the Associated Press, is under governmental attack here at home.

"The suit against the Associated Press, as viewed by the people of Kansas, is an attack upon the freedom of us all. If the Associated Press can be compelled to serve any newspaper which aids the national administration, then it may also be compelled to stop serving those newspapers which speak out against the administration.

"Clearly, if freedom of the press should be denied, then the people would also lose, in a sense, much of their freedom of speech."

He is a De Paul university graduate and has been practicing law for a year.

Sometimes my best friends misunderstand. Sometimes in our hurry we don't stop to tell and make them understand. Have you had that experience? Then you'll know how troubled I am. It is my unpleasant task to ask my old and new friends to go so easy on their purchases of Mrs. Snyder's Candy. It isn't discrimination. It is, simply, that there will not be enough to go around unless each of all our friends buys moderately. Do not buy in quantities. Please do not buy to store it away. Then you (and all others) will have your share. Buy WAR stamps and bonds for gifts, instead.

WARTIME DIETS STEP UP STUDIES OF FOOD VALUES

Nutrition Group Pledges Million to Research.

Nutrition Foundation, Inc., a national organization supported by the food and allied industries, has been pledged $1,100,000 to support a five year program of basic research in the science of nutrition, George A. Sloan, its president, announced yesterday at a meeting in the Chicago club.

Eighteen additional grants in aid, totaling $46,600, were appropriated by the foundation's trustees to carry on research studies in leading universities, increasing to 54 the number of grants allotted this year to 33 colleges, universities, and medical centers.

Midwestern universities sharing in the study projects, intended to benefit the nation during and after the war, include Chicago, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

Linked with Production.

"Managers of our war industries now realize that diet and nutrition have a vital effect upon war production," Sloan told the group of trustees, who include widely known scientists and food company executives. "They know that production declines under conditions arising out of poor diet."

Another speaker, Sir John Orr, director of Rowett institute at Aberdeen, Scotland, and an authority on food problems in Great Britain, asserted the average person in Britain has a better diet than before the war. He reported significant improvement in the health of mothers and infants, who have been given priority on the limited supplies of fresh eggs and milk available.

Sir John credited American lend-lease aid for much of the improvement in the British food situation, but said the principal contribution toward larger food supplies was made by urban families operating 1,700,000 war gardens, known in England as allotments.

Concentrates for Army.

Col. R. A. Isker of the army quartermaster corps said that scarcity of shipping space and mobility of the army dictate concentrated foods which are easily and rapidly prepared. "By using precooked foods there is a reduction of both cooking fuel and labor," he added.

The foundation's meeting was the occasion for breaking an historic rule of the Chicago club, which since its organization in 1869 had never before admitted a woman guest.

Dr. Icie M. Hoobler of the Children's Fund of Michigan had been invited to address the foundation's luncheon. When she arrived, with six other women food experts and feminine reporters and photographers, there was hurried consultation among club employés.

R. Douglas Stuart, president of the Quaker Oats company and a member of the club, came to their rescue. The sanctity of the rule gave way to the exigencies of the occasion.

Mixing Cake Batter.

When you're mixing a cake batter, put sugar in the bowl first and follow up with the shortening, which has become creamy standing at room temperature. The mixing job will be much easier than it was when this procedure was reversed.

There's a Proper Way to Fry Eggs; Here It Is

Make the most of eggs when you're frying them, so they'll be tender and shapely. To fry six eggs, heat two tablespoons butter or other fat in a large, heavy skillet. Break eggs into a saucer and slip them into the pan, being careful not to break the yolks. Cook slowly until whites are set. Each egg should be a unit without combining with the other eggs. Add one tablespoon water. Cover pan and cook about 1 minute or until a light film forms over the yolks. Season and serve at once on a hot platter.

THIS IS SEASON TO GET VITAMINS IN APPLE SALADS

Here Are Attractive Ways to Make Them.

The bountiful array of colorful apples to be found at market these days should be an inspiration for late evening snacks, new kinds of salad combinations, a variety of desserts, and that always popular standby—apple pie.

Eat fresh whole apples frequently, for there's a goodly amount of vitamin C contained in the skins. Raw apples make good eating with cheese of all kinds, walnuts and other salted nuts, popcorn, nut bread, or brown bread, thin slices of fruit cake, gingerbread squares, and dried fruits such as raisins, dates, and figs. Try some of these healthful combinations when the children are clamoring for a quick repast.

Apple salads are most attractive when the fruit is sliced, but unpared, so that the bright red coloring is retained. These salads are good suggestions for the lunchbox as well as the family dinner, for they're substantial and easily packed into small covered jars or paper cartons.

Apple and Carrot Salad.
[Serves six.]

3 apples, sliced
2 cups shredded raw carrot
1 small onion, finely minced
½ cup cream, sweet or freshly soured
1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash of salt

Slice apples without paring and combine with shredded carrots and minced onion. Add cream blended with lemon juice and salt. Serve in lettuce cups.

Apple and Cabbage Salad.
[Serves eight.]

3 apples, sliced
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup seedless raisins
4 cups shredded raw cabbage
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon salt

Wash apples, and slice. Sprinkle with lemon juice, then mix with raisins and shredded raw cabbage. Add seasonings and mayonnaise, toss together and serve at once.

Shrimp and Apple Salad.
[Serves six.]

2 cups whole shrimps, cooked or canned
¼ cup French dressing
3 apples, sliced
½ cup sliced celery
½ cup mayonnaise
Lettuce or other greens

Let shrimps chill for an hour or more in sharp French dressing. Drain and combine with sliced apples, celery, and mayonnaise. Serve on lettuce or other crisp greens.

Chicken and Apple Salad.
[Serves six.]

2 cups cooked, diced chicken
2 medium apples, diced
½ cup celery, diced
2 hard cooked eggs, diced
1 pimiento, cut in small pieces
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
¾ cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dress'g

Combine chilled, diced chicken with apples, celery, eggs, and pimiento. Sprinkle with seasonings and mix well with enough mayonnaise or cooked dressing to moisten. Serve in lettuce cups or in salad bowl garnished with greens.

Waldorf Salad.
[Serves six.]

6 apples, quartered and diced
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ cups diced celery
½ cup chopped walnuts
¾ cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing

Wash apples, quarter, core, and dice coarsely without peeling. Sprinkle with lemon juice and toss quickly to prevent discoloration. Add celery, nuts, and enough mayonnaise to moisten thoroly. Serve on crisp lettuce immediately. [For variation pare the apples thickly, making long unbroken pieces. Drop into water containing lemon juice. Use remainder of apples for Waldorf salad. Curl paring into cup shape on lettuce and fill with the salad.]

Apple Cottage Cheese Salad.
[Serves six.]

3 apples, sliced
1 cup diced celery
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives or ½ cup diced cucumber
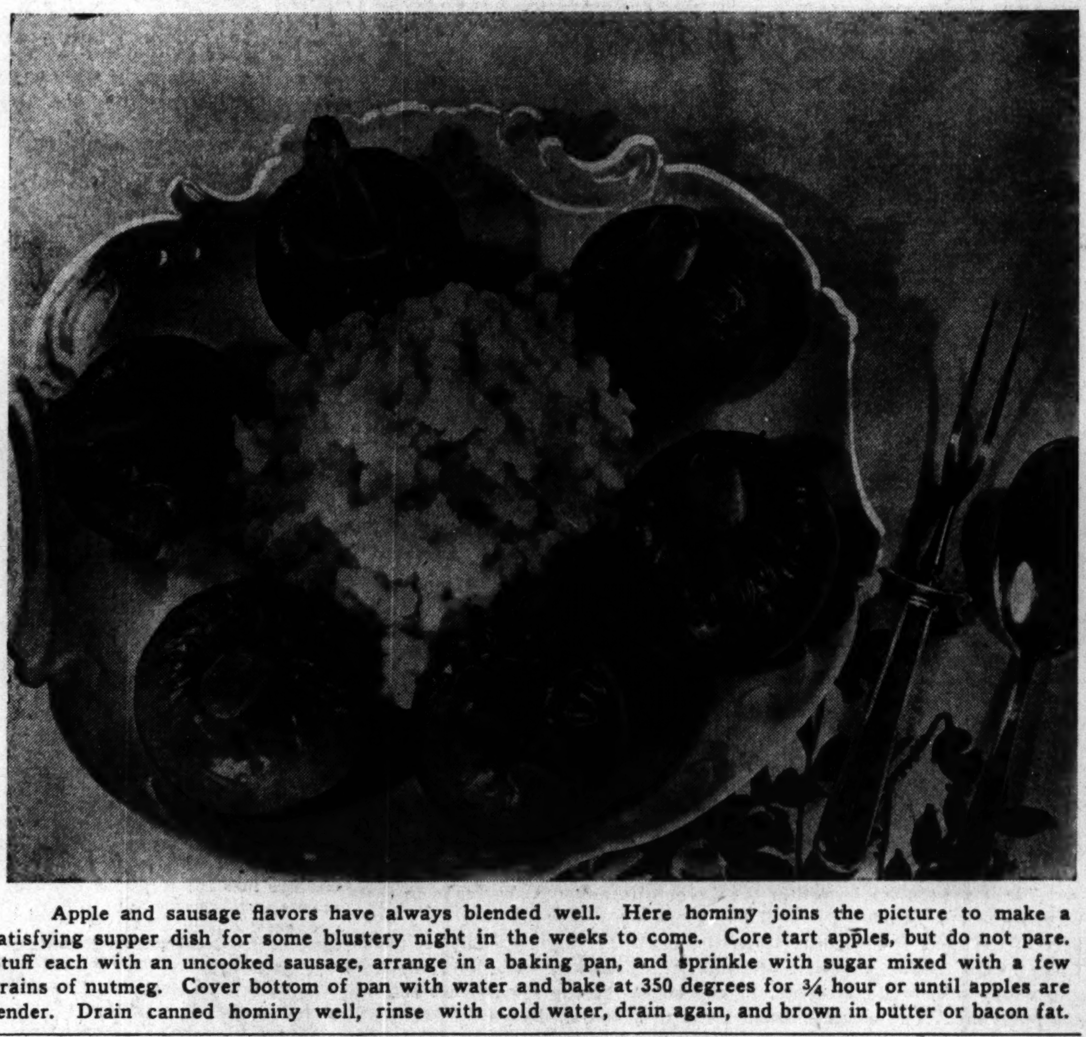
¼ cup sharp French dressing
Lettuce
1 pint cottage cheese
½ cup chopped salted almonds
Cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise

Wash and slice apples without paring and combine with diced celery, sliced olives or diced cucumber. Toss together with French dressing until well coated. On each salad plate place crisp lettuce leaves, then with a spoon, shape ⅓ cup cottage cheese into a ring. Heap each ring with the apple mixture, and sprinkle chopped almonds over all. Top with salad dressing or mayonnaise and serve.

Apples and Sausages Make a Satisfying Supper Dish



Apple and sausage flavors have always blended well. Here hominy joins the picture to make a satisfying supper dish for some blustery night in the weeks to come. Core tart apples, but do not pare. Stuff each with an uncooked sausage, arrange in a baking pan, and sprinkle with sugar mixed with a few grains of nutmeg. Cover bottom of pan with water and bake at 350 degrees for ¾ hour or until apples are tender. Drain canned hominy well, rinse with cold water, drain again, and brown in butter or bacon fat.

THIS TREATMENT PUTS VEGETABLE IN FANCY CLASS

The most finicky person at the table will enjoy vegetables prepared with an eye toward variety. A simple combination of cauliflower and green peas becomes fancy fare when it is prepared in this manner:

Cauliflower in Green Pea Sauce.
[Serves six.]

1 medium head cauliflower
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1½ cups cooked or canned peas

Clean cauliflower and cook whole in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Melt butter, add the flour and seasonings. Blend well. Add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Add peas to sauce. Arrange cauliflower in the center of a round vegetable dish. Pour sauce over all and serve immediately.

EAT MINCE PIE AND BE HAPPY; HERE IS RECIPE

If you've discovered that mincemeat pie for dessert is quite a threat to after-dinner comfort, try this new, light version of the filling. It's chockful of mincemeat, but you'll be amazed at the difference in texture.

Fluffy Mince Pie.
[One nine inch pie.]

1 tablespoon plain gelatin
1¾ cups water
1 9 ounce package mincemeat
2 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅛ cup lemon juice
½ cup sugar
1 baked pastry shell

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup water for 5 minutes. Add remaining water to mincemeat. Blend until smooth and cook until mixture becomes slightly thickened. Combine slightly beaten egg yolks, margarine or butter and lemon juice. Add mincemeat to this mixture. Return to heat and cook over water until thickened. Add gelatin, stir until dissolved. Cool. Beat egg whites until frothy; gradually add sugar and beat until whites are stiff. When gelatin mixture has begun to congeal, fold in egg whites. Pour into baked pastry shell and chill until firm.

Sandwich Without Bread.

Have you ever eaten a sandwich made without bread? Here's a treat. Spread two slices of salami, about a fourth inch thick, with sweet pickle relish. Press together in sandwich form and serve as the meat main dish with cooked string beans in the center of a buttered rice ring.

THIS GREEN BEAN DISH SUGGESTED FOR A VARIATION

Canned foods frequently come to the rescue of the hurried homemaker, but a scarcity of time shouldn't prevent some variation in their preparation. This vegetable dish, for example, is easy to prepare.

Green Beans Supreme.
[Serves four.]

1 No. 2 can stringless green beans
½ cup sour cream
1 cup bread crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup melted butter

Drain beans and place in a shallow baking dish. Pour sour cream over top. Combine crumbs, seasonings, and butter and sprinkle over the beans. Bake in moderate oven [350 degrees] for about 20 minutes.

MACLAIN'S EXPLANATION.

"I don't believe I need to tell you about Lawson's method of murder, do I?" the Captain asked thoughtfully. "The papers were full of diagrams this morning, I understand."

"What I'd like to know," said Courtney, "is what gave you an inkling of how it was done."

The captain drank more of his cocktail and said, "Missing change and a fountain pen. Hadfield had them with him and they were gone. Seth didn't have them, neither did you, Mrs. Hadfield, or Dan O'Hare. Where had they gone? The same question applied to a paperweight from Hadfield's desk and a length of sash cord cut from the venetian blind."

Sybella said, "I'll stooge for you if it makes you happy. Where had they gone?"

"The police combed the building and they had gone, but they overlooked the bottom of the elevator shaft. They really had no reason for looking there. If they had, they'd have found the cord from the venetian blind attached to a length of twine, and the twine in turn attached to the base of the crystal ball."

"That was clever," declared Courtney. "There wasn't a trace of string or anything left on the balcony after Hadfield's fall."

"He improved on it with Doxenby and O'Hare. He found he didn't need the sash cord. The heavy twine wrapped a few times around the arms would hold his victim in place just as well."

"What did he tie Doxenby to?"

"The radiator," said Maclain. "Only he hung him out the window head first instead of feet first, the method he'd perfected in the M. T. & T. There were no windows opposite, and the areaway was dark so the chance of his being noticed on the eleventh floor was nothing. Doxenby recovered from his knock on the head, kicked his feet loose, and there you are. Mr. Lawson was up here by then, sitting in the chair you're in right now."

"And what in the name of goodness has that to do with Blake's change and fountain pen?" asked Julia.

"He must have tried hanging Blake over the railing head down, the first time," the captain explained. "Then he decided feet first was more certain. The railing is three feet eight inches in height. Well, you'll see what I mean if you care to give it a try. I understood it better after last night."

The captain finished his drink and held out his glass. "And the change?" Sybella asked as she poured him another.

"Fell out of Blake's vest pocket together with his pen and tumbled down to the lobby floor. Lawson had to collect it on his way out and at the same time dodge O'Hare. He was more careful after that."

Sybella said, "I still don't get why he left that highball glass in Doxenby's place, and overlooked a note on Doxenby's calendar bearing an appointment and his name."

"Suicide," said Maclain. "He played everything to make it look like suicide all the way. That was his game, from the murder of James Sprague on. He even brought you to consult me, hoping I'd clinch the suicide idea by saying that Blake Hadfield couldn't accidentally fall.

"Then the idea began to leak out that Sprague might have been murdered. So Mr. Lawson decided to hang it on Doxenby. If Doxenby had that glass marked with Sprague's prints, Doxenby must have been there. Then Doxenby was guilty and committed suicide. After all, how could any one have killed him?"

"But how did he know only Sprague's prints were on the glass, captain?" asked Rena.

The captain smiled and said, "He was there watching most carefully everything that went on, and listening, standing in the little foyer."

"You've missed something," Courtney said after a second's delay. "How did he know Hadfield was to meet Sprague? How did he know Hadfield and Seth were downtown?"

"The same way he knew that I was going to put that question to Dan O'Hare," said Duncan Maclain. "That's why he murdered Dan—because he couldn't stand the answer. Night before last, Mr. Courtney, Dan O'Hare called his own murderer on the telephone and passed on the word, given him by Sergeant Archer, that I was coming there."

"You mean that every time anybody came into that building at night O'Hare called Lawson on the phone?"

"You've hit it, Mr. Courtney. Those were O'Hare's orders from the state insurance department. Consequently, there would be only one murderer and that must be some one connected with the department, a man who knew every time his victims were there, a man who knew the hours of the watchman's rounds, a man who knew Mr. Bentley kept twine in his drawer."

"But Bentley fits all that."

"He certainly does." The captain sighed. "Except that Bentley wasn't working there when Sprague was killed. That's what I wanted to ask O'Hare. Whom did he call?"

"It seems such a trifle over which to kill a man," said Julia.

"O'Hare's life or his," Maclain said grimly. "Murder builds you a paper house and you must keep adding to its foundations. There was another item, Mrs. Hadfield, an item of a crystal ball. Something took Dan O'Hare into the elevator shaft. I don't know what, but the soles of his shoes showed traces of oil. Lawson must have seen him go down, and seen him find that crystal ball. Lawson had not had a chance to recover it, for there had been a policeman posted on the door until last Sunday."

He paused and turned his head toward Julia. "That was the hallucination you had, Mrs. Hadfield, when you got that strange impression that your husband might have been in the shaft. At the same time he fell, you heard something striking against the walls of the shaft close by you, the fall of the crystal paperweight ball."

"And O'Hare's clock?" asked Rena.

"Helped to clinch things as Lawson was afraid it might. It gave absolute proof that O'Hare had been out of commission for over an hour before he fell. That was dangerous, for it might give a strong clue to the method of murder. Consequently, Lawson used it as he had used the bottle of Scotch and the paperweight, hoping it would lie undiscovered and unexplained at the bottom of the shaft, like the crystal ball."

Courtney looked at his watch. "There are 49 other things, Capt. Maclain. Who attacked Bentley in the state insurance office? What was he doing mixed up with that blackmailing little so-and-so, and what was your plan last night that brought this mess to a close?"

"Some of the answers to that would be guesswork, as I haven't had a chance to talk to Carl Bentley," Maclain explained. "As to last night—"

"He nearly fluffed." Rena smiled. "The only thing that saved him is the fact that he never fluffs. It's like his typing. It drives me crazy because he never makes an error."

"I can't erase," said Duncan Maclain. "I was sick of murder and not a little frightened at the method. If any theory was right, that it was a delayed trap, and I was almost convinced from the testimony of O'Hare's clock, the best thing was to try it. Then I'd be sure to know."

He leaned back in his chair. "I set a trap. I talked things over with Lawson yesterday afternoon, and Sybella helped me. I told him I had information that Hadfield had left a paper containing certain statements confided to him by Sprague while Sprague was under arrest awaiting bail.

"I said I thought that Bentley was guilty and I hinted that almost everything was clear except how Hadfield, Doxenby and O'Hare were killed. I pointed out that O'Hare must have called Bentley every time a victim entered the M. T. & T. Then last night, Sybella told Lawson that I was going down alone to make a search for that paper.

"A fake paper stating that Lawson had looted Sprague and company and hung the blame on Sprague six years ago was typed by Rena, and placed in Hadfield's desk by me in the afternoon. Lawson would have to kill me to get that paper. All of you know what happened."

"But what was supposed to happen?" Courtney demanded.

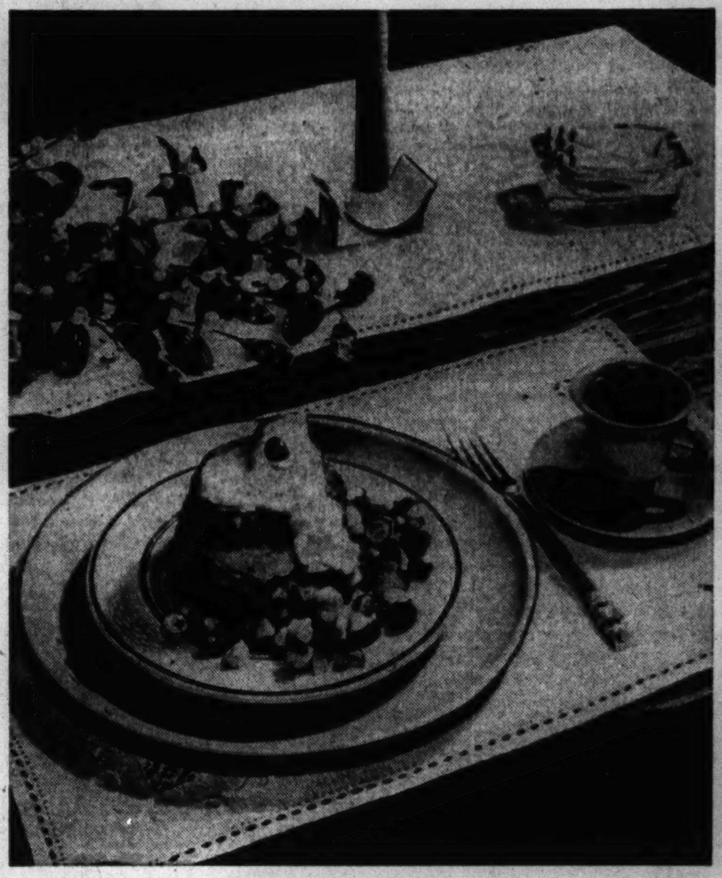
Kitchen Thrift Tip.

It's a budget-wise practice to check the foods in your refrigerator daily so there'll be no spoiled leftovers to discard. Try to keep the perishable foods on one shelf so they won't be overlooked.

Cranberry Shortcake Is Tasty Dessert



There are those who prefer the flavor of cranberry shortcake to that of strawberry. Anyway, it's nice to know we can serve this tasty dessert in the next few months when the cranberry supply is at its peak. Chop 2 cups fresh cranberries and mix with 2 cups chopped tart apple, 1 cup chopped canned pineapple, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup corn sirup, and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Let mixture stand for 2 to 3 hours. Serve between and on top of split, buttered hot biscuits. Top with whipped cream. Serves 6.

Save Celery Stalks, Tops for Use in Soups, Stews

The outer stalks and tops of celery shouldn't be discarded, for they can be cooked and served as a vegetable dish or used in soups and stews. To cook celery, place it in just enough boiling salted water to cover, and cook gently until tender. Drain and season with salt, pepper, and butter, or combine it with chopped green pepper in white sauce. The cooking water, too, can be utilized in soups and sauces, or chill it and combine with tomato juice as an appetizer.

NUTS PLENTIFUL, SO USE THEM IN REGULAR MENUS

Supply Phosphorus, Iron, and Vitamins.

Domestic tree nuts have been appointed the victory food special for the period from Nov. 9 thru the 21st by the department of agriculture. There is an unusually large supply of nuts available this year, so this concentrated food should become widely used in the regular daily menu. Because of their high fat and protein content, nuts are a good supplement to meats, eggs, and dairy products. They are rich in phosphorus, and the unblanched kernels of walnuts, almonds, hazelnuts, and pecans are good sources of iron. Most nuts furnish a plentiful supply of the "appetite vitamins," too.

Make use of chopped nuts in salads all thru the winter, in stuffings, meat, and vegetable dishes, in baked loaves to be served as the main course of the meal, in hotbreads, cookies, cakes, and other desserts.

Pecan Rice Loaf.
[Serves six.]

- 2 cups chopped pecans
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup milk
- 1 beaten egg
- 2 tablespoons minced green pepper
- ½ cup diced celery
- 2 tablespoons melted butter

Combine chopped nuts with rice. Add bread crumbs which have been mixed with flour, salt, and pepper. Mix well; add milk, beaten egg, minced green pepper, celery, and melted butter. Shape into a loaf and pack tightly into a greased pan lined with greased waxed paper. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375-400 degrees, for 1 hour. Turn out onto serving platter and serve with brown sauce to which chopped parsley has been added, if desired.

Candy Apple Walnut Pie.
[8 inch pie.]

- 4 tart apples, pared and sliced
- 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- Dash of salt
- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- ½ cup butter or other shortening
- ½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Slice two apples into greased pie plate, sprinkle with ½ cup of brown sugar and ½ cup chopped walnuts. Slice remaining apples on top and add salt. For the topping, combine the remaining sugar with the flour; cut in shortening and add the remaining ½ cup walnuts. Press this mixture firmly onto the apples, covering the surface with a thin layer of the topping. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for about 1 hour, or until apples are tender. Serve warm or cold, garnished with whipped cream and whole walnut kernels.

Almond Crescents.
[1½ dozen.]

- ⅓ cup shortening
- ⅓ cup sugar
- Dash of salt
- 2 egg yolks
- ¾ cup finely crushed almonds
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 egg white
- 1 teaspoon water
- Chopped almonds

Cream together shortening, sugar, and salt; beat in egg yolks, then finely crushed almonds. Gradually stir in flour until dough is stiff enough to handle; chill thoroly. Roll ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board; cut with small crescent-shaped cutter and place on greased baking sheet. Brush with egg white and water, beaten together until frothy; sprinkle with chopped almonds and bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, for 12 minutes.

Salted Nuts.

Use any desired nuts; shell, blanch, if necessary, or wash in cold water and drain. Spread a thin layer of moist nuts in a shallow baking pan, sprinkle evenly with salt, allowing 1½ to 2 teaspoons salt to 1 pound of nuts. Heat in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. If the nuts are to be mixed, prepare each kind separately, then mix, for some varieties will brown more rapidly than others. For buttered salted nuts, dry nuts thoroly after washing or blanching, then shake in a bowl lightly rubbed with oil or melted butter, allowing about 2 teaspoons oil to 1 pound of nuts; sprinkle with salt and brown in hot oven, 400 degrees, for 10 to 15 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper.

COFFEE IS MADE IN WHITE HOUSE CUP PER PERSON

Census Taken Before Brewing Starts.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—At the White House these days noses are counted before the coffee is made so that none of the precious fluid will be wasted.

But no "stretch-out" system such as that suggested by New York's Mayor Fiorello La Guardia is being applied, Mrs. Henry Nesbit, the housekeeper, disclosed tonight.

Stirs Battle of Words.

The "Little Flower's" suggestion—and one that has stirred up a battle of words among coffee drinkers, makers and growers—is that used coffee grounds be saved and a little fresh coffee be sprinkled in to make an extra cup later.

It has no appeal to Mrs. Nesbit, who said: "One cup of good coffee is worth more than two cups of poor, weak coffee." So there's no letdown in the quality of coffee served at President Roosevelt's table.

"But," said Mrs. Nesbit, "we're making coffee go further by being careful to make only just what we need. We count the number for whom we are to make coffee."

Rules to Be Observed.

When it comes to the rationing of coffee, which begins Nov. 28, well, the White House will abide by the rationing board's decision as to the amount allowed just as it did in regard to sugar, Mrs. Nesbit said.

Mrs. Roosevelt already had departed for her trip to England when Price Administrator Leon Henderson announced that Americans were going to have to ease up on the coffee pot, but it's a safe assumption, judging by her serving sugarless desserts at the White House, that on her return coffee drinkers will toe the mark.

At the moment demi-tasse is served guests at luncheon and at dinner and a full sized cupful at breakfast. If breakfast is served in the guest's room on a tray, the coffee arrives in a pot. There's also a pitcher of hot milk so the guest can do his own stretching. The President likes café au lait.

WALNUT-MOLASSES MOUSSE NEW KIND OF FROZEN DESSERT

Black walnut-molasses mousse is something new in frozen desserts. To make three pints of this delicious concoction beat 2 eggs, add ½ cup molasses and ½ cup chopped black walnuts. Beat 1⅔ cups chilled evaporated milk very stiff. Fold in the egg mixture quickly, then pour into freezing trays and freeze until firm. The milk will whip more readily if it is heated to the boiling point first, then chilled thoroly.

Alaska Plum Pudding Real Company Dessert

For a quick but delightful company dessert, try plum pudding, baked Alaska style. Buy a large can of plum pudding and heat it according to directions on the label. Beat two egg whites until stiff, add four tablespoons sugar, a little at a time, and beat well after each addition. Add one teaspoon vanilla. Remove pudding to baking sheet. Cover with meringue, leaving an uneven surface. Bake in a slow oven [275 degrees] for 15 minutes, or until meringue is lightly browned. Remove to cake plate and serve immediately. Cut into thin slices and serve on individual cake plates with hot lemon sauce.

HONEY FLAVORED CUP CAKES HAVE TOPPING OF NUTS

These honey flavored cup cakes require no frosting, for they emerge from the oven completely ready to serve. Turn them upside down and you'll discover a crispy topping of chopped nuts.

Brazil Nut Honey Cakes.
[20 small cakes.]

- 3 cups sifted cake flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup strained honey
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 cup coarsely chopped Brazil nuts

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Beat eggs until thick and frothy; add honey gradually and beat until well blended. Add grated lemon rind. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour cream, mixing well after each addition. Oil 20 small muffin tins. Cover bottom of each with chopped nuts. Fill tins ⅔ full with batter. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, about 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold, with whipped cream if desired.

Chicken Salad on Half Shell Nice Party Dish

Chicken salad on the half shell makes a most attractive party service. To prepare the salad combine 1 cup diced cooked chicken with 2 tablespoons French dressing. Chill about one hour. Just before serving combine with 1 cup diced celery, ¼ cup drained crushed pineapple and enough salad dressing to moisten. Season to taste. Remove seeds from halved avocados, hollow out if necessary to make a nest for the salad, adding the diced pulp to the salad mixture. Fill avocados with the salad and top with additional dressing. Serve on salad greens.

Peppermint Frosting Flavory Cake Topping

Peppermint frosting makes an unusually pretty and flavorsome topping for devil's food cake. Prepare your standard boiled or seven minute frosting, then add a bit of red coloring to give a delicate pink tint to the mixture; remove from heat and add a few drops of oil of peppermint. Beat the frosting until thick enough to spread.

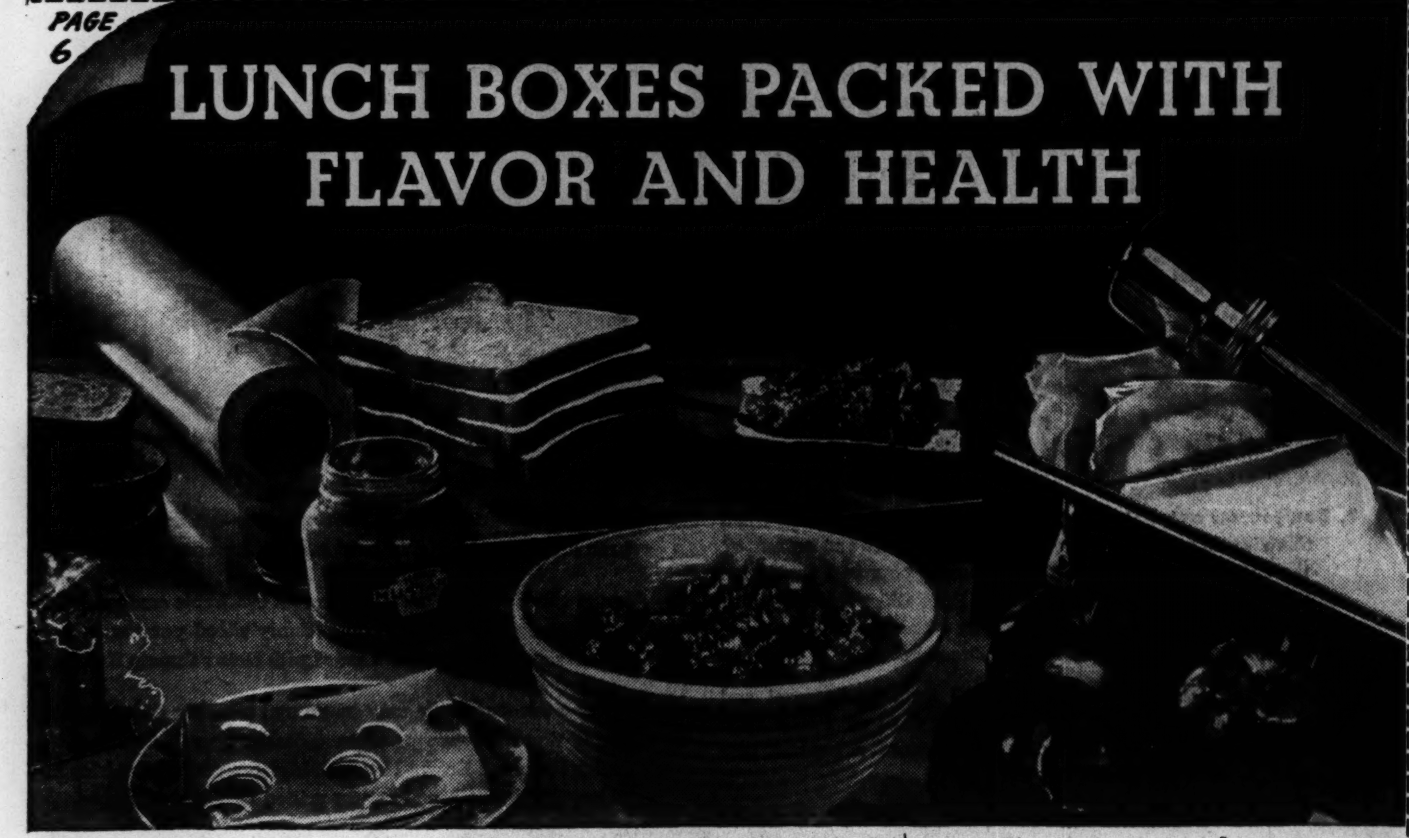
LUNCH BOXES PACKED WITH FLAVOR AND HEALTH



Always be on guard for health, against monotony. Plan for the lunch box when you're choosing the rest of the next day's menu. Then the packed lunch will round out other meals, make good use of foods already on hand

RULE NUMBER ONE for all lunch boxes: Choose foods that can be handled easily, carried well.

VARY SANDWICH FILLINGS and breads used. Try to include two different kinds of sandwiches. Enriched, crusty rolls make a welcome change. Plain bread sandwiches stay appetizing longer than toasted sandwiches.

PERSONS WHO WORK in high-temperature surroundings need extra supplies of vitamin C. A vacuum bottle filled with frosty-cold Heinz Tomato Juice provides large amounts of vitamin C—requires no home preparation.

WOMEN WAR WORKERS, sitting at a machine all day, find it all too easy to put on weight. Dieting, however, is out of the question. They need plenty of substantial food to keep going. Their lunch boxes should not include many sweets or starches, but plenty of proteins—lean meat sandwiches, eggs, cottage cheese—and for minerals, Sun-Maid Raisins, raw vegetables, fruits. Salad-sandwich fillings may be made with Low-Calorie Sandwich Filling.

Recipe—Combine ½ cup Heinz Peanut Butter, ¼ cup thin cream or evaporated milk, ¼ cup chopped celery, ¼ cup Sun-Maid Seedless Raisins. Blend. Spread between slices whole wheat or enriched white bread.

BOX-LUNCHERS ENJOY something crisp—cole slaw (in a covered jar), celery, radishes, lettuce leaves and best of all, some kind of pickle: Heinz Fresh Cucumber Pickle, Genuine Dill Pickles, Preserved Sweet Gherkins or Preserved Sweet Mixed Pickles (drained and wrapped in waxed paper). Add a small box of Sun-Maid Raisins to take the place of sweets.

WORKERS ON NIGHT SHIFT must guard against fatigue and "night-owl" nerves—with foods rich in B vitamins—lean meat, milk, beans, peas, cheese, whole-grain bread, Heinz Peanut Butter, raisins.

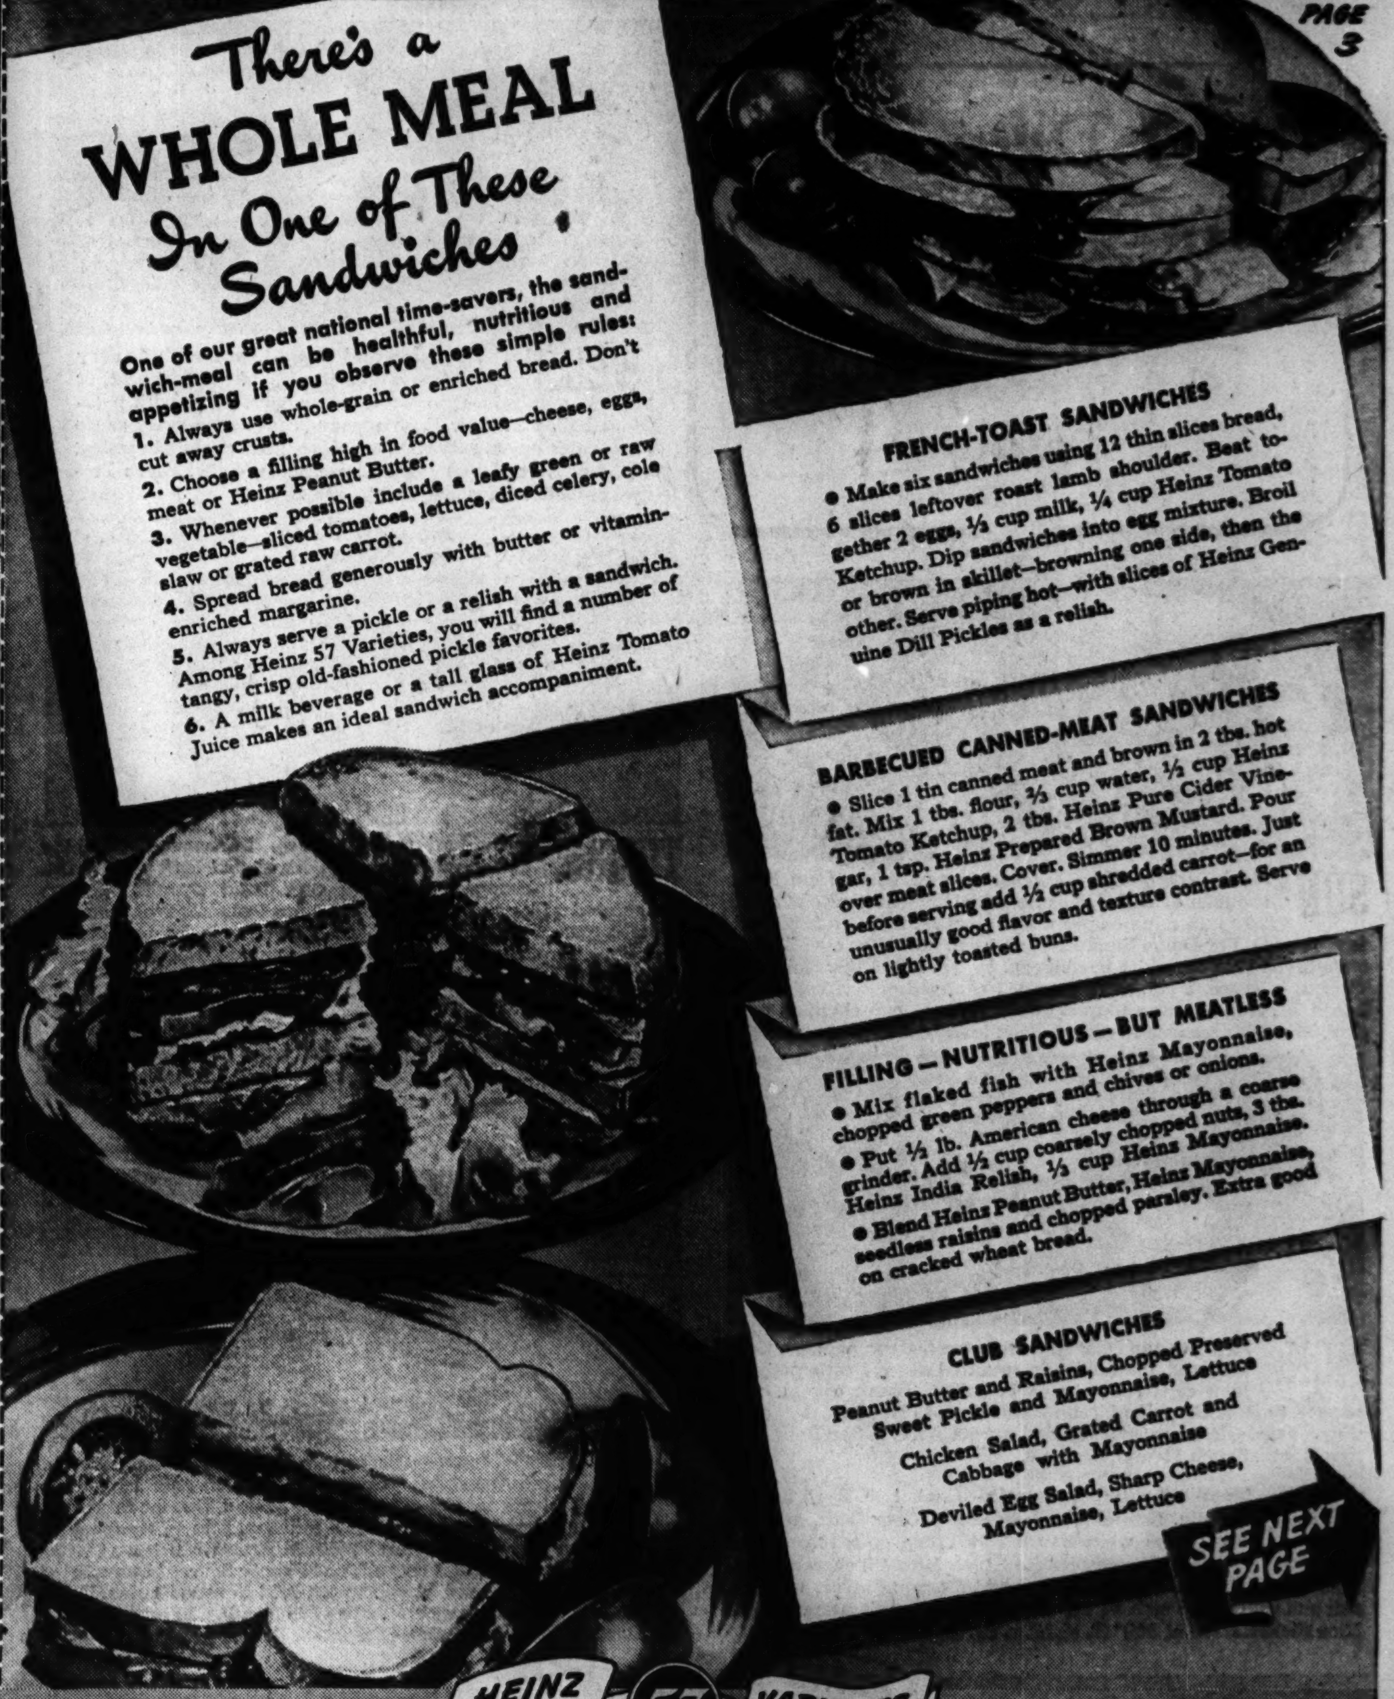
There's a WHOLE MEAL In One of These Sandwiches

One of our great national time-savers, the sandwich-meal can be healthful, nutritious and appetizing if you observe these simple rules:

1. Always use whole-grain or enriched bread. Don't cut away crusts.
2. Choose a filling high in food value—cheese, eggs, meat or Heinz Peanut Butter.
3. Whenever possible include a leafy green or raw vegetable—sliced tomatoes, lettuce, diced celery, cole slaw or grated raw carrot.
4. Spread bread generously with butter or vitamin-enriched margarine.
5. Always serve a pickle or a relish with a sandwich. Among Heinz 57 Varieties, you will find a number of tangy, crisp old-fashioned pickle favorites.
6. A milk beverage or a tall glass of Heinz Tomato Juice makes an ideal sandwich accompaniment.



FRENCH-TOAST SANDWICHES

● Make six sandwiches using 12 thin slices bread, 6 slices leftover roast lamb shoulder. Beat together 2 eggs, ⅓ cup milk, ¼ cup Heinz Tomato Ketchup. Dip sandwiches into egg mixture. Broil or brown in skillet—browning one side, then the other. Serve piping hot—with slices of Heinz Genuine Dill Pickles as a relish.

BARBECUED CANNED-MEAT SANDWICHES

● Slice 1 tin canned meat and brown in 2 tbs. hot fat. Mix 1 tbs. flour, ⅔ cup water, ½ cup Heinz Tomato Ketchup, 2 tbs. Heinz Pure Cider Vinegar, 1 tsp. Heinz Prepared Brown Mustard. Pour over meat slices. Cover. Simmer 10 minutes. Just before serving add ½ cup shredded carrot—for an unusually good flavor and texture contrast. Serve on lightly toasted buns.

Wife Might Try Giving Husband a Hint of Fault

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Having seen the ravages in homes wrought by the mate, male or female, who will not allow the other one to tell his or her story thru without contradiction, mockery or interruption, we think a special dark chamber should be built to stow the culprits away for periods of meditation. It mightn't do a bit of good, for these contradictors, interrupters and the like seem to be born that way and no power of persuasion reaches them.

Slight offense in comparison with major vices? It is not the major vices that claim the greater number of victims. It's the mean, haggling, niggling habits that get under the skin and sting.

As an example of what we're talking about:

"Dear Miss Blake: Every time my husband and I go out together among friends or even strangers, if I say anything he flatly contradicts me, so that he makes those to whom I may be talking think I am a complete nitwit. He really believes he knows more about everything than I do. I'm not always right. No one is. But time and again when I have made a remark that was right, he would begin to argue. It's got me so I am afraid to open my mouth, not for fear of what I'd say but for fear of what he'll say. I'm not a great talker under any circumstance. But his arguments and flat denials of what I say succeeds in making people think I am a liar."

You're wrong about the impression made. People do not think you are a liar. They think you must be a patient wife to stand for your man's boorishness. It's not the victim of such occasions who is frowned upon. It's the perpetrator. And nothing that we know of alienates folk as this habit of taking over the conversation from another person's mouth.

If you could let your man get a hint of what his rudeness is doing to him, it might help. Or, if a hint won't do, then a notice served on the gentleman that you'll stand for no more of it from him, will have to be extended. The conversational bully has to be treated like any other bully and that's by bullying him first.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES By MARCIA WINN

Army-Navy Wedding.

It didn't make a society column anywhere, but then there really wasn't time. The sailors, soldier, and girls who engineered it had no idea it was about to happen. They all belonged to the La Salle Victory players here and were rehearsing their new play, "Lost Horizon," in the La Salle auditorium Monday night when an army sergeant, a bronzed little man, 5 foot 4, stuck his head in the door. "Where's da preacher?" he asked in an unmistakable Brooklyn accent. "Isn't dis a church?"

He turned out to be Julius Schuminski, a Brooklyn boy with a varied patriotic career. For six years he served in the navy with the Asiatic fleet, and now he is a technician sergeant in the army, commander of a tank in the armored division at Fort Knox. He wanted to get married that night so he could be back at camp the next morning for reveille.

The players went to work. Yeoman William Nelson, who by day works with the naval aviation cadet selection board, and his wife, Laurabell Schutt Nelson, founders of the Victory players, routed out a minister. Charlotte Pulderman, a member of the group who has just joined the WAAC, sang "Ave Maria." A sailor acted as best man. A soldier gave away the bride, Helen Heisle. Then all repaired to a tavern for drinks, a few players disappearing to return with presents and a wedding cake.

The astonished bridegroom kept saying, "These kids never saw me before, see. But they get a minister and get us married just like that, see, and that sailor was the best man, see. I can't believe it, see." He was visibly touched and insisted on taking every one's name and address. "I'll send all of youse something for this, see," were his parting words.

Quip Quick.

Kenneth McGregor, production manager of W-G-N, was having luncheon at the Chicago Towers club the other day when a waitress approached and asked, "Could you be Dr. Herman?" Mr. McGregor hesitated, then replied, "For how long?"

New Version.

We're a little late with this election day story, but Joseph D. Teitelbaum, a Republican precinct captain, reports that he almost courted an elderly spinster in his precinct to get her to vote. On election day he took her to the polls in his car and stood outside the polling place while she voted. When she emerged, he gave her a brave, hopeful smile and said, "Well, I know that as a good Republican you did your duty." She, in turn, smiled and said, "No, I voted the straight prohibition ticket." Mr. Teitelbaum was disappointed and told the lady so, but her only retort was, "Young man, you can lead a young lady to the polls, but you can't make her drink."

Moot Question.

The child, niece of a Chicagoan, is 9 and has been reared in France. With her parents she left France in April and now is going to school here. She sometimes finds it difficult to adjust her continental outlook to American life, and the other day came home extremely worried. "Mama," she asked, "in America how many times does a woman have to be divorced before she becomes a countess?"

In the Mail.

[From a bus rider.]

"Orchids to the beautiful tall lady on the Edison-Norwood Park bus who held her body erect so as not to disturb the 10 or 11 year old tired Chinese boy who fell asleep and rested his head on her shoulder.

"There is much beauty in some people."

BY REA SEEGER.

The smartest carry-all bags in town are made of sturdy, smooth felt. They feature large capacity, as well as color and a modest price mark. For a $5 bill you can pick the color that best contrasts or blends with your street clothes—red, green, brown, navy, and black. These bags are extra long, snappily tailored, and lined with black. They fasten securely with a handsome square cut knob of transparent crystal.

Another carry-all model, even lower in price, is a clever new fringe effect, also of long-wearing felt. The color range is the same, and the bag is a drawstring type, with the fringe attached in a three row formation.

Both models are especially effective with suits and tailored street or daytime clothes. They assure plenty of space and fittings to take you thru a long and busy day of shopping or just routine affairs.

Another attractive offering for the career girl shoppers is the band blouse. It's of all-silk in white and a flesh tone, made in the same classic simplicity as the famous Chanel blouse of some time ago, when a blouse appeared at the top of the vee line of every well tailored suit. This horizontal band is hand hemstitched to the blouse front and crosses the neckline just three inches below the chin. So you will have an immaculately white streak to contrast your tweeds and wools at the top of a vee neckline of the suit jacket.

The sleeves have band cuffs, also hand hemstitched. In the center of the front is a clever make believe embroidered monogram effect. It's a winner for suit duty, and the price mark is modest when you realize it's a silk blouse.

A Prize-Winning Collection of PENNY-SAVING HINTS

1. Don't throw away that bottle of Heinz Tomato Ketchup when there is still a little ketchup clinging to the sides and bottom of the bottle—usually about 1/4 cup. Simply pour in 1 cup Heinz Olive Oil or salad oil, 1 cup Heinz Pure Cider Vinegar, dash of salt, pepper. Shake well. And in a twinkling you have a sparkling, grand-flavored French Dressing.

Navy Appeals for Chaplains of All Faiths

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Clergymen of the country are falling down on the navy. While not putting it just that way, naval procurement officers point out that only about one-fourth of the number of clergymen needed as chaplains have offered their services and that many ships and shore stations are virtually without spiritual leadership.

"The navy is making a strenuous effort to obtain additional chaplains as quickly as possible, particularly in the younger ages and in all cases not over 50," Capt. E. S. Root, director of naval officer procurement of the central west, said yesterday. "The procurement of applicants for the chaplaincy is decidedly lacking in many denominations, and their members must be ministered to by chaplains of other faiths or not at all."

Capt. Root declared that men in the armed forces are deprived of many of the comforts of the spirit to which they normally are accustomed. He added that the change from civilian to military life, with the rail of a ship often the boundary of men's lives, affects them deeply.

The tension, strain, and wear of war living, Capt. Root continued, leaves marks on their minds and souls that only religion can smooth. Their need for divine resources upon which to draw is therefore greater than it had been in civilian life, greater than the need of the congregation they left at home, he said.

Capt. Root excused the pastors for not volunteering in greater number on the ground that they probably were unaware of the tremendous need. He said some denominations have contributed their proportion of chaplains, but that many quotas are unfilled. Recently an appeal to clergymen was signed by four officers who are lay elders or deacons in Protestant denominations.

"When this war is over," the letter stated, "a great percentage of the congregations of all churches will consist of men who saw service. A minister who was a chaplain will speak the languages of these men . . . and will be their friend; he will, naturally, be able to obtain their wholehearted support. . . ."

Capt. Root said letters of inquiry or application may be addressed by pastors to his Office of Naval Procurement, Board of Trade building, 141 West Jackson boulevard.

Religious News Notes

Dr. Goff.

Dr. Charles R. Goff, new minister of the loop skyscraper Methodist church, Chicago temple, wanted to know why the pews of his church are being filled almost to overflowing every Sunday. So he recently submitted to members of his congregation, in the form of a printed questionnaire, a list of 12 possible explanations of what brought them to the church. These included bulletin boards in loop hotels, suggestions of friends, the church's Turner Memorial chimes, publicity, and the church's national reputation. Results of the poll: 24 per cent said they followed the chimes; 23 per cent, suggestions of friends; 7 per cent, national reputation, with the other nine points sharing small percentages. Dr. Goff, however, did not query his congregation on the temple's ministry. In these days of stress, the pastors who get down to hard human problems are being sought by many.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, founder and director of the Catholic Youth organization; Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of the Methodist area of Chicago, and Rabbi Morton M. Berman of Temple Isaiah-Israel will be the principal speakers at the Lake View Council on Religious Action dinner next Wednesday night at Lincoln-Belmont YMCA. Dr. John Rushton Heyworth of Unity church, president of the council; the Rev. Dr. G. W. Grauer of St. Paul Evangelical church, and Rabbi Louis Binstock of Temple Sholom also will take part. Seven hundred persons are expected.

Catholic services for the people of Lidice, the new town north of Joliet, named for the Czecho-Slovakia town destroyed by the Nazis, will be held for the first time Sunday morning at 8 and 11 o'clock in Chaney school gymnasium. The Rev. A. Sinsky of St. Mary's Croatian church, Joliet, will be in charge of the development of the parish, which will be called St. Margaret's, the same as in the destroyed Lidice.

The Rev. L. A. Buuck, recently repatriated from Hongkong, where he went thru its siege and capture, will preach the 9:30 and 11 o'clock services Sunday of the Evangelical Lutheran church of St. Luke, 1510 Belmont avenue. The Rev. A. R. Kretzmann, pastor, also announced an informal lecture by Pastor Buuck in the school auditorium at night.

Temple Sholom Men's club has announced an institute of Jewish studies to be held on Wednesday nights at Frankenstein Memorial center, 3480 Lake Shore drive, beginning Nov. 18. Discussion leaders include Dr. Fritz Bamberger, Rabbi Samuel Blumenfield, Prof. Simon Halkin, and Dr. Jacob Marcus.

Dr. Fred Field Goodsell of Boston, Mass., executive secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions [Congregational], and Dr. Harold S. Matthews of Foochow, North China, will speak before the annual meeting of the board tonight at New First Congregational church, Union Square.

Hebron Welsh Presbyterian church, Adams street and Francisco avenue, a center of Chicago's Welsh community, will hold its annual festival tomorrow afternoon and night. The Welsh Ladies' Glee club of Chicago will give a concert at night following a church dinner.

Golden jubilee services will be held all next week by Garfield Boulevard Methodist church, Garfield boulevard and Emerald avenue. The Rev. Roderick Murray of Dowagiac, Mich., former pastor, will deliver the anniversary sermon Sunday morning.

Winnetka Will Be Setting for Gads Hill Sale

BY JUDITH CASS.

WINNETKANS bent on Christmas shopping next week won't have to go much further afield than their own doorssteps, for the Winnetka board of Gads Hill center is planning a Collectors' Christmas market for Wednesday in Mrs. Walter F. Straub's home, 1250 Westmoor road. The sale, a repetition of the board's successful benefit last year, will be conducted from 10 to 5 o'clock, and mulled cider and doughnuts will be served as an extra holiday touch.

On sale will be many rare old items, as well as modern Christmas gifts, including old glass and chinaware, some antiques, and homemade fruitcake. Among the timely suggestions for wartime gifts are fireside implements and shopping bags for bicycles.

Mrs. Noble MacFarlane Acting as Sale Chairman.

Working under Mrs. Noble MacFarlane, chairman of the sale, are Mrs. Roger Ballard, Mrs. Lynn Gratiot, Mrs. Carl F. Kuehnle Jr., Mrs. Donald B. Lourie, Mrs. Graham Penfield, and Mrs. Vernon Welsh. Mrs. Edward R. Adams is president of the Winnetka board.

The center at 1919 West Cullerton street which the sale will benefit is one organization which is not feeling the pinch of priorities. The nursery school has been given a preferred rating because so many defense workers wish to leave their children there during the day, and work on additions to the building is expected to start before the first of the year. Miss Ruth Austin is head resident, and Arthur Earl Bryson is chairman of the board.

Presbyterian Hospital's Board to Give Parties.

Members of the woman's board of the Presbyterian hospital are busy planning their own Thanksgiving family celebrations and a number of other interesting parties as well. Every year at this time the board gives a series of silver teas to raise funds for the institution's charity work. One of the largest of these teas will be held at the Fourth Presbyterian church on Monday, Nov. 23, followed by a musical program.

Mrs. Woodruff J. Parker and Mrs. Charles S. Reed, who are in charge of the Fourth Presbyterian party, and their committee will meet on Monday to make final plans for the gathering. Mrs. Edwin W. Sims, Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes, Mrs. Frank Rumsey Elliott, Mrs. George W. Harvey, Mrs. Ralph C. Otis, and Mrs. Harrison Ray Anderson, wife of the pastor of the church, are some of the Presbyterian women who will be assisting with the benefit.

Mrs. Clyde E. Shorey, president of the woman's board, will be the speaker at the Ravenswood Presbyterian church party next Wednesday in the home of Mrs. A. E. Boatright. A short musical program and a showing of colored films of the hospital's work will entertain guests at the Brookline Presbyterian church party on Sunday.

Two Members of Board Are in Charge of Teas.

Mrs. Kellogg Speed and Mrs. Homer D. Jones are the board members in charge of the teas. Other officers are Mrs. Alva A. Knight, Mrs. Philip R. Clarke, Mrs. R. Douglas Stuart, and Miss Ada Rew, all vice presidents, and Mrs. Lawrence D. Smith, Mrs. Gilbert Stone, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Gordon B. Wheeler, and Mrs. George H. Bristol.

The Presbyterian hospital army unit, which has been mobilizing for a year under the direction of Dr. Edwin Miller and Dr. Homer Nicol, now both lieutenant colonels, will be ready to leave as soon as it receives orders. The nurses and doctors all have received their commissions and, with a staff of about 400 enlisted men, cooks, barbers, carpenters, etc., the unit will make up a base hospital rather than serving as a mobile unit.

The list of Saturday matinée subscribers for the Chicago Opera company's season reads much the same as it has for seasons past. Included on it again this year are Mrs. Wentworth Field, Mrs. John F. Women in War Work ..... By Kate Massee

Sixty-three women were sworn into the WAACs yesterday afternoon in an induction at the Chicago enrollment office, room A538 at 166 West Van Buren street. It was the largest class inducted here so far, exceeding by seven the total of 56 completing the examinations and induction a week ago.

One WAAC sworn in by Lieut. Ruth T. Woodworth was Micheline Van Biesbroeck, 27 years old, daughter of Prof. George Van Biesbroeck, University of Chicago teacher of astronomy at Yerkes observatory. Miss Van Biesbroeck, who has been working in a loop real estate office, was born in Brussels, Belgium. She came to this country when she was 3 years old, but all her relatives except her immediate family are in Belgium.

She says she decided to enroll as a WAAC because she wanted to help the country's war effort and because she also hoped that she might in some way help Belgium, too. Miss Van Biesbroeck, who resides at 1410 East 58th street, was graduated from Oberlin college in 1938. She was school tennis champion for two years. Her brother is a naval aviation cadet.

Six Chicago area women who have become WAAC officers have just received new assignments. Four are to assume army duties at the new WAAC training center at Daytona Beach, Fla. They are Gretchen Kroch, Ruth V. Goelz, Edna M. Fitzsimmons, and Marion L. Cook. All are third officers and all resided in the city except Miss Cook, who lived in De Kalb. Irma J. Carstens and Florabeth H. Ferri, also third officers, are being retained at Fort Des Moines, Ia., as teachers. Third officers correspond to second lieutenants in the regular army.

Before going into service, Lieut. Kroch was assistant manager of the Brentano Bookstores, Inc. Lieut Goelz did interviewing and hiring of factory personnel at the Johnson & Johnson gas mask factory, and Lieut. Fitzsimmons was an accountant for the Willett company. Lieut. Cook was a forewoman of the De Kalb Agricultural association. Lieut. Carstens was teaching at Moser Business college and Lieut. Ferri was employed as an X-ray technician.

A recruiting program which will involve the enrollment of more than 50,000 nurses into schools by next spring will be the subject of the November meeting of the Central Council for Nursing Education next Monday at 2:30 o'clock at the Arts club. Mrs. Chester Cook will preside.

Mrs. Ada R. Crocker, chairman of the Illinois state nursing council for war service, will give a detailed report on enrollments to date and progress in student recruiting in Chicago and district schools of nursing.

Those women who are interested in taking a course in industrial chemistry will have an opportunity next Monday when the Illinois Institute of Technology opens another section of its free war training courses exclusively for women.

The 10 week course is for women who want to learn the correct performance of routine analysis and laboratory technique. Those who complete it are able to replace men at jobs in the laboratories of war industries. Forty-nine women already have been trained in this field by Illinois Tech, and they are now at work on an average salary of $1,586 a year.

Any woman with a high school diploma and a year of college chemistry, or an exceptional record in high school chemistry, may enroll for the course. Trainees range in age from 18 to 55. Candidates would apply at room 211, 1951 West Madison street.

Seventeen women finished an industrial chemistry course yesterday and received their graduation certificates at a luncheon in the faculty dining room on the Lewis campus of Illinois Tech.

Mrs. Walter B. Wolf will speak on Mary Afflick's program, "Women for Victory," today at 4:15 o'clock over W-G-N, having for her subject the Dutch art exhibit which will open at the Art institute on Tuesday. Mrs. Wolf also will touch on the activities of the AWVS, of which she is advisory chairman. The AWVS is cooperating with the institute in the exhibit and will share the proceeds from the sale of catalogs with the Qeen Wilhelmina fund for Dutch relief.

Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the women's divilson, Chicago and Cook county war savings staff, will hold a rally for speakers trained in bureau classes at 4:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon at the Casino club. The program will be devoted to plans for Women's National War Bond week, Nov. 22-28.

Church Class Reunion.

The annual reunion of the 51 confirmation classes at Saron Lutheran church, Shakespeare avenue and Richmond street, will be held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with the Rev. Conrad Hoyer as guest speaker.

Friends Here Pay Tribute to George Cohan

BY CECIL SMITH.

Members of the theatrical profession in Chicago—actors, members of the theatrical crafts, managers, box office treasurers, press agents, and a host of others—attended a unique ceremonial in the Erlanger theater yesterday afternoon. They gathered to express their respect and friendship for the late George M. Cohan, a great song and dance man, a great patriot, and a great human being.

It was no solemn occasion, for Cohan would have been the last man to take pleasure in a mortuary tribute. After an opening invocation, appropriately couched in theatrical metaphors by the Rev. Edward V. Daily of Holy Name cathedral and chaplain of the Catholic Actors' guild, and a serene performance of Schubert's "Ave Maria" by Etta Moten of "Porgy and Bess," the tone of the rest of the memorial service was skillfully established by Ben Bernie.

Confessing that such an event as this was new to his experience, Mr. Bernie ventured the guess that it probably was just as new to George M. Cohan and that "George was grinning at us" with friendly understanding. From this point forward the "service" developed into a series of brief reminiscences and anecdotes, with much good natured raillery on the part of Mr. Bernie, who introduced the successive participants in his capacity as toastmaster, or master of ceremonies, or whatever the dignitary in charge of so unparalleled an event should be called.

Lou Holtz and Bert Wheeler recalled their association with Cohan in the Friars' club, a theatrical fraternity in which all three were fellow members. Mr. Holtz illustrated Cohan's generosity by a story relating how Cohan paid back a boyish theft of 70 cents, many years later, by providing his victim, now fallen onto bad times, with half a dozen suits of clothes and $1,000. Mr. Wheeler called Cohan his "best audience" in the days when he and fellow zanies used to cut up at the Friars' club.

Ashton Stevens, dean of Chicago drama critics, read an interview with Cohan which he had written back in 1904, when Cohan was 25 and about to make his first Broadway venture as a star. Clem McCarthy, radio announcer and a lifetime friend of Cohan's, gave further examples of the actor's generous impulses. The Rev. William Finn, former director of the Paulist choristers in Chicago, described Cohan's helpfulness to the choristers when they needed shrewd advice about their early cross-country tours. Skeets Gallagher also gave a few reminiscences.

Music was provided by the Eva Jessye choir from "Porgy and Bess," who sang a spiritual, and by Gus Van, who presented "The Grand Old Flag," one of Cohan's own compositions. At the end of the ceremony the orchestra from "Priorities of 1942" played a medley of Cohan tunes.

A number of prominent theatrical people sat on the stage without taking active part in the tribute. Among these were Willie Howard, Todd Duncan, Alexander Smallens, and Kay Ashton-Stevens.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Geography Teacher.

You might have guessed she was English from her clipped brown hair, her clipped speech and her matter-of-fact manner, but I doubt if you would have known she was a school teacher from York—Miss Hilda J. Beal. She was the first president of the Business and Professional Women's club in York which makes it appropriate that on this visit to the United States she should speak before the Business and Professional Women's clubs of the Chicago district.

It would take many columns to retell all she told. First, about her own profession. No teacher, in Britain, can switch to some other form of work during the war. She, herself, has served with the mobile canteens but that is in addition to her teaching job. Primarily she is a teacher and that she must be until the war is won. Of what use is it to fight for civilization and let a race of barbarians grow up in England? Such is the British point of view. In the areas where evacuated children are housed the teacher has many duties. She must weigh the children; must supervise the amount of milk each receives; must visit the homes where the boys and girls are "billeted" and make certain all is well. On the whole the school children of Britain have shown remarkable resilience, Miss Beal says; they reflect pretty generally the courage of their elders.

Of women in other businesses and professions she remarked this: More than half the women of Britain are in uniform; the others are in plain dark blue, brown or black "utility" clothes. Jewelry is gone, except for the ever-popular wedding ring. Young women no longer are beauty operators, salesgirls, waitresses or hotel maids. Even many "shorthand typists" have been drafted. Older women have taken the places of the young who are in the actual business of war.

Several aspects of America impress Miss Beal: The vital middlewest, "the part of the United States I love best"; the lovely lights, after England's interminable blackouts; the luxury of a full menu card, after England's strict rations, and the question, "What would you like to eat?"

Can't Say Yes, Can't Say No Dept.

"In our office we are not permitted to smoke altho the men are. Much time is lost by the girls skipping out for a cigaret. Our manager contends he doesn't like to see girls puffing on a cigaret while at their desks. I'm told that in Washington, government employés smoke during office hours. What do you and other girls—and bosses—think about women smoking in the office?"—D. L.

On the Memo Pad.

Women cab drivers in Cleveland have good looking uniforms: Navy blue slacks, a light blue jacket cut on military lines, a blue visored cap and a red Ascot scarf. They must be between 25 and 40, be healthy, be good drivers and responsible. . . . A billion pies a year are baked for the American public which explains why lunch counters look bare without apple pie. . . . Hotel jobs most affected by the war and now undergoing the largest percentage of replacement by women are elevator and service men, and clerical workers, according to Hotel Management.

Let Children Learn by Trial, Error Method

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Children must get pretty sick sometimes of being directed. And the older they become, the more they must mind it. But they are very long-suffering. They put up with a lot from us, because we don't understand, or because we don't take the trouble to find out how the wheels go around.

I know of one girl of eleven, the oldest in the family, whose parents love her dearly, but never give her a moment's peace. At the table she's corrected if she doesn't eat first a little of this, then a little of that, in sequence, on her plate. She's told to change her wet shoes and sox before she's had time to take the initiative about it herself. Her marks and her affairs in general are discussed with other adults in her presence. If she's given a piece of work to do, practically very movement is directed. And she's becoming a very nervous child.

For example, it was a simple job she was doing for her mother—cutting a small white card to fit a name plate in their apartment house entrance, and printing the names on it. Simple as it was, her mother began to give her directions.

"Be sure your corners are right angles or it won't fit. Be sure you allow for the edge of the brass when you print, so it won't cover up part of the name. Use ink, for pencil smudges."

In every case she saved the little girl time and energy by her directions. But what did she leave for the child to put into the undertaking? And how was she giving her an opportunity to learn something about planning, spacing, and durability?

If, instead, she had let her chilld alone, one of several things would have happened. Either her little daughter would have done a good piece of work in which she would have been able to feel some pride, or she would have succeeded thru a trial and error system. Or if she had let her daughter alone until she had finished, the card could have been criticised and she could then have made a new one, learning something in doing it over.

Do you find yourself trying to "run" many of the things the children do, giving them directions before they've had a chance to work things out in their slower way? Even though I know better, it's often hard for me to refrain from giving suggestions sometimes, to save a child errors.

Some writer has put it, "A child is entitled to his mistakes." He most certainly is. And I think it is one of the hardest lessons parents have to learn, especially those fathers and mothers who are quick and efficient themselves.

"O, I'd rather do it myself. Give it to me," is disastrous to a child. If you'd rather do it yourself, then do it in the first place and say nothing. But if you give your child something to do, let him or her finish it. And if he is working on some concern of his own give him only what advice he asks for, or just as much as he needs to go on with it to the end.

Do you want to know a simple formula to help you keep your small child out of mischief? Read "You and Your Young Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. Get your copy today at either of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street, and 435 N. Michigan avenue. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

Thru the Looking Glass

Just as certain as death and taxes, it seems to us, are the requests for information about a softener for the skin of the body when the first cold weather rolls around. You'd be surprised at how many women—and men—admit the secret sorrow of bath itch.

There may be less of it this year, when homes and offices will be kept at a lower temperature than we're used to, but up to now it seems to be popping up as regularly as usual.

Lately several products have come to market to meet this need, but one of the first we always think of is one of the oldest. It's a beautifully bland white creamy lotion, one of a whole line of products designed especially for the abnormally dry skin. It's one of our favorites for several reasons.

First of all, it soothes the skin in no time. One application at night makes a difference next morning in the way the skin looks and feels. The horrible itching sensation is relieved and the emery board texture is considerably smoothed down.

But the the best way to use this if yours is a consistently dry skin is as a preventive. Use it after every bath, working it in well. It dries quite quickly and once you get the trick of using it sparingly you'll have no difficulty; it won't feel at all messy.

There is a companion piece to this skin balm for the body that also helps the satin-smooth crusade: a super-fatted soap that is as bland as any we've ever found.

Loss of Weight Usually Caused by Faulty Diet

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

As you all know from conversations the reducing theme experiences a setback for the duration. It's not the fanatic game it used to be. Where reducing is needed now, it is taken in an easy stride without fuss or ado and no insane goal set out for accomplishment.

So much for silhouette remodelling from that viewpoint. It's reached a point of sanity and safety. But we cannot say as much for the undernourished, underdeveloped figure. It's not as conscious of its needs and its faults. It needs to go thru a training period obviously. It needs it for our present emergency demands physical fitness above all else. You must have normal weight for this fitness.

As a general rule, undereating is the cause of underweight problems. True, some women eat heartily to the envy of their weight-watching sisters, and remain completely fat free. But their leanness is a natural state. Our worry is for the lean and hungry type and by hungry we mean HUNGRY. Low energy level is the result of this faulty feeding. Victims may sit in at three meals a day but there's something missing for them in the menu. With a low level of energy, there's a low level of achievement, of production.

Apropos, a certain young woman complains that she can't get thru afternoons with her work. Mornings, she's all right. Some one asked her why, in such case, she keeps on eating lunches of pie and coffee. It isn't quite that bad, but every meal the girl eats is in line with her inability to hold thru the day efficiently. Toast and coffee for breakfast. Sandwich and coffee every day for luncheon; dinner time she's so fagged out that everything on the menu looks the same and her choice is notoriously bad. She likes milk, she says, but she rarely orders it. Eggs, the same way. Cheese she appears to think of as the welsh rarebit dish you order after the show and she doesn't go to shows often. She never walks. Her muscular activity is nil. If her skin is becoming very dry, her thinning hair definitely dry, her nails brittle and lassitude her state after the least exertion, it's easily enough explained.

We'll have to concentrate more on you underweight ones from now on. In the meantime, you do a bit of study yourselves.

FASHIONS

By ANGELA

Fall and winter wools will keep up the spirits as well as the body temperature. Just a lift to the spirits isn't enough these days . . . there has to be more practical purpose in a new dress than that. And wools have what it takes. Any one of the dresses we've illustrated today is adaptable enough to see you thru the day at the office, dress you for that casual invitation to dinner, or do the honors at the family feast on Thanksgiving day.

The first is gabardine of a part wool mixture, to be had in a very pale gold color or aqua. Its tailoring features such ideas as the four slot pockets, the double row of stitching to form the pouch of the pocket. The slight front fullness takes this dress out of the ordinary classic button-up-the-front shirtwaist pattern we keep seeing on all the racks even after many seasons. Nipping in the waist is a very narrow covered belt.

The center dress comes in black wool crêpe only, but there is a choice of gold, aqua, or red yoke. The oriental-like symbol on the left shoulder reverses these colors in braid. The skirt has front fullness with peg top pockets, and a deep fly front. The broad belt and buckle are covered in the same black wool crêpe. Under $13.

The third wool is another casual frock with a little dressy touch in the beaded pocket which you see on the surplice bodice. The sleeves are bracelet length. And the skirt is softly gathered in front onto a little V-shaped skirt yoke. Ask for it in a lovely soft pale gold, rose, or aqua.

YESTERDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 16: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding goes:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	?

You are South and hold:
♠10 8 5 ♥2 ♦K Q 9 7 4 ♣J 6 5 2
What call do you make?

Answer: Two spades. It is true that your trump support is slightly less than adequate, but the point is that any other response has more serious defects. One notrump is bad because of the singleton heart. A two diamond response is not justified on South's meager honor strength. Finally, South's hand is too good for a pass. [Fifteen points demerit for 2 diamonds; 20 points demerit for 1 no trump; 25 points demerit for a pass; 50 points demerit for any other call.]

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 spade
Pass	3 spades	Pass	4 spades
Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the spade queen as the safest discernible lead. Declarer won with the king, returned a trump to the ace, and discovered a spade loser was unavoidable. He then took the heart finesse, losing to West's queen. West cashed the high spade and, in obedience to East's high club signal, shifted to a club. The contract was down before declarer really had caught his breath.

Declarer complained bitterly over his "hard luck" in losing the heart finesse and finding a 3-1 trump break. Actually, he had only himself to blame for his defeat. There was one splendid possibility which he had overlooked entirely. Of course he could do nothing about the trump break, but most certainly he should have deferred the heart finesse until he had investigated another line of play. That was to lead a club from dummy in the hope of finding the jack in East's hand. Actually, of course, East had the A K J, and two successive club leads from dummy would easily have established South's club queen, so that a heart could be thrown off from dummy. This would have permitted the ruffing of the third round of hearts—a far better chance to bring home the heart suit without loss than the 50-50 percentage involve in the finesse.

A newcomer is Miss Priscilla Pirie, a debutante of the season. The Saturday afternoon audiences are largely feminine.

"Sulfa Tea" to Be Held at College Club Today.

The Chicago College club's after the symphony tea today will be a "sulfa tea" to help purchase drugs for wounded Russian soldiers. At 4:30 o'clock Mrs. Laird Bell, chairman of the women's division of the Chicago committee of Russian War relief, will speak on the work of her group. Mrs. Dallas B. Phemister and Mrs. David L. Shillinglaw will serve as hostesses, and Mrs. Albert H. Montgomery and Mrs. Arthur D. Welton will pour. The club is canceling its performance by the Chicago College Club Players, scheduled for tomorrow night, because two of the actors have been called away from Chicago. Miss Roberta Gray is going to Arizona, and Clarence Linn is entering the army.

At the Cordon club Miss Mary E. Hipple of the Art institute faculty will speak on "Screen Painting on Linen" during the tea hour. Pouring will be Mrs. Peter MacNaughton Wright, Mrs. C. Fred Brown, Mrs. Amy Keith Carroll, and Mrs. Julia G. McEwan.

Series of Teas Will Be Given for Greek Relief.

Miss Lillian and Miss Myrtle Lampert are entertaining at tea this afternoon for the benefit of the Greek War Relief association. Their guests each will give a tea, inviting fewer friends, who in turn will entertain also a lesser number, making the system one of "vanishing" parties. The charge of $1 will be made for guests at each.

Peggy and Betsy Platt anxiously are awaiting the homecoming of their new sister, Anne Vilas, born on Wednesday in St. Luke's hospital. They are the children of the Edward Vilas Platts and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Platt of Manitowoc, Wis., and of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Leavitt of Chicago.

Alphonse Roche, professor of romance languages at Northwestern university, will speak on "Jean-des-Figues et la Geuse Parfumée" at 11:30 o'clock today before the Alliance Française.

The Housewife

Often the framed pictures chosen for children's rooms are pretty saccharine. It's refreshing, therefore, to come across some really good reproductions of pastels framed in natural wood and sold in pairs, neatly boxed. The subjects are dogs: Dachshunde, scotties, spaniels, and terriers, and each one is most appealing and is sure to be adored by a small boy or girl. Companion subjects are kittens, these pictures also being framed in natural wood. And the price is only $1.19 for any two of these prints.

Crocheted House Slippers

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted slippers are a boon to every person "around the house" or during playtime. They are delightfully comfortable and thoroly durable. These are easy needlework tricks and may be created in a short time. The pert bows are crocheted and attached.

For instructions in crocheting these play and house shoes, No. 1126, send 10 cents in stamps or coin plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Events of the Stage

Rose Franken, author of "Claudia," will be in Chicago today, en route to Kansas City, where she will see two performances of her play tomorrow. This is one of her periodic checkups, to make sure that the pitch of the performance remains what it should be, and her trip is obviously timed to see that "Claudia" is in good shape for its Chicago opening at the Selwyn theater Nov. 29.

The management of "Junior Miss," at the Harris, has instituted a $1.65 top for Wednesday matinées, instead of the $2.20 top which formerly prevailed. Many theater parties are attending "Junior Miss." Two recent groups were the Girls' club of Evanston and a group of 100 students from Northern Illinois Teachers' college at De Kalb.

Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" will be given at the De Paul university theater, 64 East Lake street, Saturday night and every night for four weeks thereafter. David Itkin has directed the student production.

Andre Obey's "Noah" will be given by students of Rosemary college Nov. 20, 21, and 22 in the college auditorium in River Forest.

Boris Karloff, star of "Arsenic and Old Lace," will be available for interviews with editors and writers on school publications immediately after the Wednesday and Saturday matinées at the Selwyn theater. Application should be made to the stage doorkeeper at these times.

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 12 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—Pope Pius received in audience today a number of scholars attending an international congress of mathematicians in Rome. He pronounced an allocution calling on the savants to contribute to a future in which all peoples may realize their just aspirations.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

There's summat for everybody in the Chicago theater's current bill! [Said she in Scotch.]

The picture's a comedy melodrama with romance and a whodunit angle—photographed in technicolor. . . . AND, on the stage, Will Osborne and his band playing sweet and hot and throwing the hepcats in the audience into ecstasies. . . . I know because I had one in the seat next to me! All the time the band was playing she was jiving—sitting down. She was completely oblivious to anybody else and stowed at least two packages of gum into her mouth, stick by stick, chewing to music and having one wonderful time.

"The Forest Rangers" is fun most of the time. Lots of laughs circling round the rivalry of a city girl and the tomboy owner of a lumber company for the affections of a district ranger of the Bolderoc National forest.

Fires, known to be of incendiary origin, have been keeping the rangers busy and worried. . . . Don Stuart, while visiting the nearby town of Hallis in search of clews, meets, falls in love with, and marries Celia Huston, visiting the region with her papa—an eastern tycoon.

Donald takes her home—and introduced her to lovely Tana Mason—who had always intended to win Don for her own. . . . Tana believes the wedding was the result of a binge. . . . She lives and learns differently—about that and a lot of other things. . . . And, in the same breath, the little girl from the big city also learns a few things.

The finale is written against the background of a forest fire—gorgeous and terrible. . . . Many of the fire scenes are real, having been photographed during an actual 1,250 acre fire near Lakeview, Oregon. . . . Picture crews covered it both aerially and from the ground. . . . They also went on location with rangers of the United States Forest Service near Missoula, Mont., and took views of the ranger "smoke jumpers"—trained parachutists who make vital landings in flame ridden districts—for use in this film.

There's some hokum to the piece—but on the whole "Forest Rangers" is splendid entertainment, well acted, directed—and extraordinarily beautiful.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 12.—In these days of military secrets and regulations, Warners can't say when nor how, but they've rushed a print of "Casablanca" to New York, and it will be shipped to the city of that name almost any minute now. The first people to see it on the screen will be our armed forces who are there now, living the history that Hal Wallis foresaw when he put this story into production. I'm told that this picture, starring Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman, and Paul Henreid, is one of the most timely parallels to reach the screen, and it's not only dramatic but highly appropriate that it should be "world premièred" in the city where its story is being fulfilled. . . . Metro has now assigned "Cry Havoc" to Mervyn LeRoy, and he's already decided on Kay Medford to play one of the leads. It won't surprise me a bit if he succeeds in combining this story with "They Were Expendable." He's talking about it—and they're listening.

Paul Henreid.

Turning Back Clock.

Found Alice Faye and June Havoc on the "Hello, Frisco, Hello" set, looking cute as all get out in short, fluffy showgirl dresses of the gay '90s, with huge plumed hats to match—Alice's outfit lavender and June's green. Fortunately the picture's in technicolor, which will give the full effect of the girls' beauty—not to mention those fabulous plaid suits Jack Oakie and John Payne wear. June, bubbling over with fun, says she has to struggle for each breath these days, with that steel corset she wears—to hold her regular waistline of 21 inches [as if that wasn't good enough!] down to 19. "I don't see how our grandmothers ever survived the things," she said. "I don't blame 'em for fainting all the time!" When I asked June whether she was under contract, she said, "O, no—free lancing. You'd know if you saw my dressing room—the free lance people always dress in the bathroom!" June's thrilled with her part in "Frisco" and loves the story.

No Punches Pulled.

Instead of setting "The Moon Is Down" in an unnamed country, as was done in both the book and the play, Twentieth Century is giving it a Norwegian background, for which an attaché of the Norwegian embassy in Washington, D. C., has expressed appreciation to the studio. . . . Cedric Hardwicke's rôle of Col. Lanser is about the first he's had that's worthy of his talents. As so often happens, he was just about to give up pictures and go back to the New York stage when he got this part. Now Twentieth Century has put him under term contract. . . .

Sale Fell Thru.

John Garfield thought he might buy make-up man Gordon Bau's motorcycle, so he tried it out on the Warners lot the other day and ran smack into the side of a stage. As he picked himself up he said to the worried bystanders, "Naw—it didn't hurt me—didn't even hurt a tire!" Just the same, John bought a flat instead of the motorcycle. . . . Incidentally, if you didn't know John sings, you're in for a pleasant surprise when you hear his number in "Thank Your Lucky Stars." . . . He even does a romantic scene with Dinah Shore, and after they broke up a clinch, Dinah sighed, "Oh, John, this is so seldom!" . . . Don't be surprised if you catch Dennis Morgan eating a meal off the mantle place—he backed into a hot oil stove on that set!

Surprise Finish.

One of the funniest sequences in "Merry Go Round" is the result of an accident. Jean Arthur was doing a scene in a phone booth, and when she finished and tried to step out, the door stuck. Director George Stevens just let the camera go on, and Jean's pantomime will have you in stitches. . . . Understand young Jean Arthur.

Jimmy Lydon took such an interest in Clementine Miller of Harlingen, Tex., while down there with the "Aerial Gunnery" company that he's bringing back photographs of her and trying to get Paramount to test her. . . . Just before a scene for "Laugh Your Blues Away" Jinx Falkenburg walked over to Bert [Mad Russian] Gordon and told him his wig was on crooked. Somebody took her aside and whispered that it was Bert's own hair—and Jinx's face is red yet whenever she thinks of it!

Short Shorts.

Laraine Day is all smiles because her husband, Ray Hendricks, a civilian air instructor, has been transferred from Arizona to nearby Oxnard. . . . Young Frankie Thomas, who's a midshipman in the navy, is now serving overseas where the bullets are flying thick and fast. . . . Wendy Barrie hasn't been getting the breaks she deserves in Hollywood, so she's heading for New York again next month to do another play. . . . Ida Lupino just had word that Louis Hayward is back at the marine base in Quantico, Va., after a three months' voyage which is a military secret. Ida says Louis likes his work so much he may stay with it after the war. . . . Jeanette MacDonald will see the Army and Navy game on Thanksgiving day in Annapolis, where she'll be visiting her sister. . . . Jackie Cooper is almost a daily caller on Norman Taurog at the hospital. Norman has been Jackie's guardian since the death of his mother, and they're the best of friends.

Likes His Work.

The Gene Lockharts, like many other people, have lost their servants to the defense plants. The other day when the laundry man delivered a bundle and Gene answered the door, the man exclaimed: "Gee! It sure is swell—I get to meet all the stars in person now that they have no maids or butlers!" . . . Olivia De Haviland has moved in a new house in Coldwater Canyon to be closer to her work. . . . Harry Rosenthal, elbowing his way thru the crowds at the Casa Manana the other night, on his way to speak to Freddie Slack, was asked by a soldier, "Aren't you Wally Beery?" Harry, thinking it was a gag, said, "Sure!" The soldier turned to his buddy and said, "See? I've only been in Hollywood three weeks, but do I know my stars! Gimme that two bucks!" . . . Louis Armstrong is being paged by both white and colored detachments in England to come over and do some Christmas shows. The boys want that good old American jive that the English bands can't seem to duplicate.

NORTHWESTERN REGULARS READY TO FACE WISCONSIN

GRAHAM'S LEG INJURY HEALED; M'NUTT TO PLAY

Peak Performance Expected of Line.

With Otto Graham and other first stringers who have been injured back in shape, Northwestern's football team will be in its best physical condition since the Ohio State game, when it squares off against Wisconsin in Dyche stadium tomorrow.

Graham, who has been the king pin of the Wildcat attack all season with his accurate passing, apparently has recovered from a leg injury which kept him out of action in the Minnesota game and limited his play against Illinois last Saturday. While he probably will not be in the starting lineup he will be ready to enter the game whenever Coach Lynn Waldorf regards the moment opportune.

McNutt Returns Also.

The Wildcats will be further strengthened in the back field by the return of Lynne McNutt, sophomore quarter back, who has been unable to play for two weeks because of a side injury. McNutt, a good blocker and defensive player, will start at quarter back. Don Buffmire and Nick Vodick, half backs, and Buckets Hirsch, full back, will complete the starting back field.

Much of the Wildcats' hopes for a victory in their sixth and final conference game of the season centers around the line which will be called upon to stop Wisconsin's hard hitting back field pair, Elroy Hirsch, and Pat Harder, who ran roughshod over all opponents this fall until shackled by Iowa last Saturday.

The Northwestern linemen haven't been pushovers for any opponent this fall and Coach Burt Ingwersen has tried this week to have them ready for their peak performance tomorrow. Altho the Badgers will have quite an advantage in the weight, the Wildcats aren't particularly alarmed. They have been conceding poundage to most opponents this season.

Kapter No. 1 Lineman.

Spearheading the Wildcat forward wall tomorrow will be Alex Kapter, durable left guard who in his second year of competition has turned in a brilliant performance in every game this fall. Kapter is from Waukegan, the same town that sent Graham to the Wildcats. Both players are also members of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and have been chums for a number of years. Another bulwark of the Wildcat line is Ray Vincent, husky right tackle who is a fraternity brother of Graham and Kapter.

In addition to this trio, the Wildcat line will be rounded out tomorrow by Bob Motl and Bud Hasse, ends; Bill Ivy, tackle; Nick Burke, guard, and George App, center. Ivy and App are the only sophomore starters in the line and have been showing steady progress in the past few games.

BADGER PASS DEFENSE OFF.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 12 [Special].—"Our pass defense has not been too sharp against Northwestern's passing attack," was the summary by Coach Harry Stuhldreher of today's workout by the Badgers. The squad, beaten by Iowa last week, did not react too well during the general brushup, but the coaching staff feels it is on the way back and will be ready for the Wildcats.

The Badgers polished up their aerial game confident that as in the past several years they will gain well against Northwestern. The running game clicked nicely with Elroy Hirsch and Pat Harder both back in top shape.

Stuhldreher stuck to his starting lineup of practically all previous games with Schreiner and Hanzlik at ends, Acting Capt. Baumann and Hirsbrunner at tackles, Currier and Vogds at the guards and Negus at center. Hirsch and Hoskins at the half back spots, Harder at full, and Wink at quarter made up the back field.

Bob Stupka, senior end, has a severe cold and will not make the trip to Evanston.

Notre Dame Is Ready for Duel with Michigan

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nore Dame, Ind., Nov. 12.—Russell [Pete] Ashbaugh, the 175 pound junior from Youngstown, O., who has won the starting right half back position on the Notre Dame varsity after failing to earn a monogram last season as a quarter back, will play against Michigan here Saturday afternoon. Ashbaugh was released from the infirmary today after treatment for a hip bruise.

Ashbaugh's availability erased one of the worries of Coach Frank Leahy, but Michigan's invasion, a spectre of a mighty and diversified offense, if we read the signs correctly, has the Notre Dame staff and players working overtime. Ashbaugh solves the question of the starting lineup for Saturday. It will be identical with that which opened against Army last week in New York.

He's a Good Man.

"Pete is a mighty valuable man," Coach Leahy said when he received the news that Ashbaugh could attend the practices now being devoted almost entirely to defensive plans. He's dependable, has tremendous spirit, and he is our surest punt receiver."

Notre Dame's squad will be intact Saturday, according to Eugene [Scrap Iron] Young, the trainer. Corwin Clatt, who received a nerve injury in the shoulder in New York, will open at full back. In reserve will be Jerry Cowhig. He still is handicapped by a groin strain and the persistent effects of this injury is akin to the ailments that affect two of Michigan's stars, Tom Kuzma and Bob Wiese. Kuzma never has regained last season's form following a knee injury before the opening 1942 game. Wiese was hurt in the Northwestern game and subsequently missed the battle in Minneapolis and did not start until the contest last week with Harvard.

The Game Is a Natural.

These particulars possibly are not interesting to many of the record crowd of more than 57,000 who will jam the Notre Dame stadium. For them, it is sufficient that this is the game of the year, Michigan versus Notre Dame in a series that was ter-

BOLDEN BATTLES COLAN TONIGHT IN STADIUM RING

Bout Provides Nate's Most Important Test.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Nate Bolden will attempt to snap the victory string of Johnny Colan in a 10 round bout which heads the opening show of the 1942-'43 season in Chicago Stadium tonight. The New York heavyweight is confident of scoring his seventh straight triumph, but Bolden should win off his excellent performance against Anton Christoforidis, former world light heavyweight champion.

Bolden, south side Negro light heavyweight, who held Christoforidis to a draw decision in Marigold outdoor arena last Aug. 10, has come a long way since defeating John Sharkey in Chicago Stadium to give Chicago a 9 to 7 victory over New York in the annual intercity Golden Gloves tournament on March 24, 1937.

Bolden's Most Important Test.

Bolden will return to that same arena, after a lapse of five years, but comes back as an individual star performer in the world's largest indoor arena for the most important test of his career against Colan.

Bolden, who is 25 years old, probably can beat Colan. That belief is not expressed because Johnny suffered his first setback in eight previous Chicago appearances at the expense of Christoforidis in the big west side arena on May 20. It is mentioned largely because Bolden has considerable skill.

The question in earlier contests has been: "Will Nate turn on the power this time?"

It is common knowledge among fans that the Chicagoan is as good as he wants to be.

It's a Battle Tonight.

That query has not been used in connection with this evening's encounter. Bolden's every move in gymnasium workouts has made it clear he won't fiddle around against Colan. Even if Nate did have any idea of stalling, however, the aggressive, fast punching Colan soon would dissipate it.

A triumph for Bolden would give him recognition as a leading challenger for the 175 pound championship held by Coast Guardsman Gus Lesnevich. In that case Irving Schoenwald, Jack Begun, and Jack Hurley, who will be making their debut as Stadium promoters, will offer Lesnevich $20,000 to risk his championship against the Chicago boxer.

Colan and Bolden will weigh-in at a ceremony in the Illinois Athletic commission office in the Steger building at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The former expects to carry 180 pounds and Bolden will scale about 172.

The promoters are making arrangements to handle more than 10,000 spectators and receipts in excess of $20,000.

Muscato Battles Allen.

Sergt. Joe Muscato, heavy hitting fighter of Buffalo who conquered Vince Calzaretto in his first appearance in this city a few weeks ago, will return for a 10 round semi-windup against Altus Allen, 1939 international Golden Gloves heavyweight title holder. Allen displayed fine form in upsetting Joe Maxin recently.

Alvin Gomez, south side lightweight, who is undefeated in his last six starts, will face the dangerous Joey Pirrone of Cleveland in an eight round event. Pirrone, who stopped the promising Jimmy Varketta on the north side last month, may knock out his Negro rival.

Six round preliminary engagements will bring together Varketta and Tony Lemmon, Milwaukee welterweight, and Calzaretto and Harold [Dutch] Ullmer, heavyweight, also of Milwaukee.

State Skating Association to Nominate Slate Tonight

Herbert J. Knudten, president of the Illinois Skating association, has called a meeting to nominate officers tonight in Mozart park, Avers and Armitage avenues.

WAR RELIEF WINS $22,522 FROM GOLF TOURNEY

Hale America Meet Aids USO, Navy Relief.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Our town in this year of 1942 proved itself the active capital of golf in more ways than one, but yesterday the Chicago District Golf association and its partners in the conduct of the biggest tournament of the year said it in black and white, and with cash.

This salutation took the form of an announcement revealing that the net proceeds of the Hale America National Open tournament, jointly conducted last June at Ridgemoor by the CDGA, the United States Golf association, and the Professional Golfers' Association of America, amounted to $22,522.28. Equal co-beneficiaries of this sum were the united service organizations and the navy relief society.

The announcement and presentation of the checks were made yesterday at a luncheon in the La Salle hotel, attended by officials of the USO, the navy relief society, the CDGA, the PGA, the USGA, the Western Golf association, and Ridgemoor.

Prepared for 1943 Events.

Chaplain E. C. Andrews Jr., representing the navy relief society for the 9th naval district, and Perce Brautigan, USO chairman of the federal department's special events committee, accepted the checks for their resepective organizations. Other service officials present were Leo Flynn and Paul Mullaney of the USO and R. L. Milligan of the navy relief society.

Thomas G. McMahon of Skokie, president of the CDGA, presided and indicated that the CDGA is willing and prepared to hold another such event in 1943. Other speakers included Ed Dudley of Philadelphia, who was reëlected president of the National PGA last Tuesday; T. C. Butz, president of the Western Golf association; Frank Le Row, president of Ridgemoor, and Frank Sprogell of Grand Rapids, national secretary of the PGA.

Ohio Wesleyan-Boston U. Contest Is Called Off

Delaware, O., Nov. 12 (AP).—Ohio Wesleyan university announced today that its scheduled Saturday game with with Boston university at Boston had been canceled because of wartime difficulties.

Pass Catcher

Bill Osmanski Will Be Out of Packer Game

Auction Ball

THE football to be used Sunday by the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers is considered such a prize that advance bids already have been received for it by the war savings staff of the treasury. The spectator making the highest bid in war bonds for the football will be presented with it Monday at Treasury center, 72 West Adams street. It will be autographed by the winner's favorite player. Contestants for previous Victory footballs have bought a total of $150,000 war bonds, Don McKiernan, deputy state administrator for the treasury, said yesterday.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Chicago Bears will have to get along without Bill Osmanski, the old Holy Cross terror, when they try for the National Football league western division clincher Sunday in Wrigley field against the Green Bay Packers.

Osmanski's name was definitely scratched by Co-Coach Hunk Anderson after yesterday's two and a half hour drill, which included just about everything except a review on substitutes' etiquette in reporting to an official.

"Bill won't play," said Hunk. "The fellow isn't in shape to run. The fact is that he hasn't been able to run enough to get in shape. His body and legs aren't strong enough to take the bumps he would be sure to get in this game. But Bill will be in there for us in later games."

Osmanski Is Disappointed.

Anderson's announcement will put a damper on Osmanski, who has been hoping for almost two months that he would return to action when time arrived for a second test with the Packers. It was against this team, in Green Bay, that Bill suffered a knee injury on Sept. 27. Since that time, Gary Famiglietti has done everything asked of him as Bill's replacement. Gary made three touchdowns against the Packers after replacing Osmanski at full back. The big Italian from Boston is second to Don Hutson in scor-

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 12 (AP).—Insofar as the Chicago Blackhawks are concerned, Red Goupille of the Canadiens wound up his National Hockey league career for the duration a day too late. Red, who will enter the Canadian Provost corps tomorrow as a private, scored what proved to be the deciding goal in Montreal's 5 to 3 victory over the Hawks tonight.

With less than three minutes to play and the locals leading, 2 to 1, Goupille, aided by Tony Demers and Ray Getliffe, beat Goalie Bert Gardiner. In the scant time remaining, Bill Thoms, with an assist by Max Bentley, rifled in one for Chicago and the Canadiens came back with two more for the final convincing margin.

That Makes Two Straight.

The defeat, second of the current road trip for the Chicagoans, also was their second of the season. They opened the tour with a tie game with the Red Wings in Detroit last Sunday. Saturday, they will meet the Maple Leafs in Toronto and then will head for home to entertain the same opponents on Stadium ice.

The Canadiens stepped out to a two goal lead in the first period tonight and held the visitors scoreless until the eventful final. Maurice Richard was the first to beat Gardiner, his goal coming soon after the game began with Demers and Elmer Lach lending a hand. Joe Benoit added the second goal after taking a pass from Toe Blake and Goalie Paul Bibeault then settled down to turn back repeated Chicago thrusts thru the rest of the period and all of the second.

Officials Keep Busy.

Montreal also was helpless in the second period, but the officials were busy just the same, Goupille, Audley Tuten, Joe Matte and Earl Seibert all drawing suspensions for unorthodox play.

Bibeault's shutout hopes were blasted early in the third period, when Max Bentley, with some assistance from Brother Doug and Bill Thoms, pierced the Montreal nets. The time was six minutes. That was all, until Goupille brought the 8,500 patrons to their feet with his goal.

After Goupille had batted in his goal Ray Getliffe sped in and, taking a pass from Gordon Drillon, connected for the fourth Montreal tally. The final job was the handiwork of Buddy O'Connor with the help of Jack Portland.

TORONTO, 3; BOSTON, 1

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 12 (AP).—The Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Boston, 3 to 1, tonight and moved into first place in the National Hockey league race alongside the Montreal Canadiens.

Cast in the starring rôle was 19 year old Jack McLean, who scored one goal and assisted in two others as he made his pro hockey debut with the Maple Leafs. McLean teamed up on a kid line with the equally speedy Gaye Stewart and Bud Poile, and they were the most potent attacking force the Toronto team had on the ice.

The Bruins have yet to win a game this season and have scored only four goals in four contests.

FLORIDA TRACKS TO RUN, BUT NOT QUITE AS USUAL

Fans May Have to Walk to Tropical, Hialeah.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Horse racing will encounter a new set of problems when the Florida season opens next month. On the one hand, the difficulties will be increased by the reduction in number of available patrons and by the almost complete dependency upon tires and gasoline for transportation. There are no elevated trains or street cars or subways running anywhere near Tropical Park or Hialeah. On the other hand, the tracks of that state will be assured of every possible coöperation from local authorities.

There will be none of the badgering which occurred in other localities. This badgering was intensified almost to the point of persecution in Massachusetts, where one of the most powerful members of the gasoline rationing setup was a Boston social character who had been a leader in the move to block the legislation which authorized racing. Florida depends so heavily upon the tourist trade for its commercial and governmental income that it will do everything possible to encourage the favorite sport of the free spending visitors, if any such persons should wander into the state this winter.

Depend Entirely on Motors.

Tropical Park, which will open on Dec. 21, is located about nine miles southwest of Miami. Automobiles and buses are the only methods of transportation to the track. Hialeah, which is about 10 miles northwest of Miami, may be reached by a main railroad line but in order to reach the station, the patrons, most of whom live north, would have to drive to the center of town, which would be almost as far as if they had gone direct to the track from their homes.

It it certain, however, that no local rules against operation of buses and taxicabs to tracks will be put into effect. The only regulation will be federal regulation.

They'll Walk If Necessary.

Race fans can put up with a lot of punishment in the way of inconvenience in getting to the track. At Belmont, for instance, when train service was cut off, the fans plodded along two miles from a junction, rain or shine. So the Florida race followers probably will get there somehow.

H. L. Straus, president of the Gables Racing association which operates Tropical Park, has stated that he has received the assurance of the governor that racing will be conducted in Florida this winter. John C. Clark, president of the Miami Jockey club, which operates Hialeah Park, has said that his track is proceeding definitely with its usual winter plans.

All barns at both tracks have been reserved. The shipment of horses is not expected to cause serious trouble because express cars, rather than freight cars, are used in their transportation.

Bill Osmanski Will Be Out of Packer Game

ing with 36 points gained on six touchdowns.

"We realize that we must be at top form in all departments of offense and defense," said Hunk. "You can't be off against the Packers. We'll be disappointed if the boys don't start showing signs of surliness. Today they were still clowning a bit when they made mistakes."

Aim to Check Hutson.

Yesterday's main aim was to cut down the pass catching efficiency of Don Hutson. Connie Mack Berry, a one time Packer, and Bob Nowaskey, another Bear end, were cast in the rôle of Hutsons and just to make sure they were properly identified wore red tassle stocking caps. Sid Luckman and Charley O'Rourke were counterfeit Cecil Isbells, who mimicked his pitching style while throwing to Berry or Nowaskey.

Then, to top off the drill, the players each hit the tackling dummy eight times and the few halfhearted attempts met with a stern rebuke from Anderson. Also included was a session on blocking.

The remainder of the preparedness schedule for the Packers shapes up like this:

TODAY—Work on new offensive plays, both running and passing. A review of the old standby maneuvers to get the timing necessary for them to work.

SATURDAY—Go over kickoff and punt return plays, at which the Bears are the best in the league. Another session on perfecting new plays, with the complete workout restricted to an hour.

SUNDAY—Report at Wrigley field at noon for a grand review of tactics. Then the game at 2:30 p. m.

42,000 to Attend.

Ralph Brizzolara, general manager of the Bears, said last night that a crowd in excess of 42,000 is assured. Because standing room tickets on the field will not be sold, there is no chance that the record crowd of 46,484 which saw the rivals play in Wrigley field last year, will be closely approached. The field standees caused some commotion in last year's game.

Allie Stolz to Meet Sidney Walker Tonight

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—Allie Stolz, Newark lightweight, and Sidney Walker, Negro fighter who boxes under the name of Beau Jack, meet tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden in a 10 round battle. Beau Jack has a string of 11 straight victories this year, but Stolz is the 8 to 5 favorite in the betting.

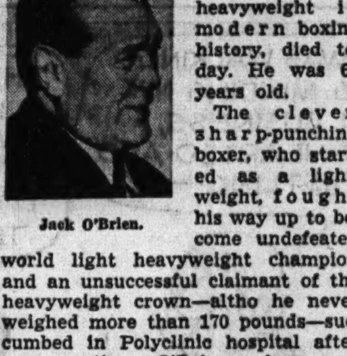
JACK O'BRIEN, EX-RING STAR, IS DEAD AT 64

Undefeated World Light Heavyweight Champion.

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, the colorful fistic character who admitted he was the best light heavyweight in modern boxing history, died today. He was 64 years old.



Jack O'Brien.

The clever, sharp-punching boxer, who started as a lightweight, fought his way up to become undefeated world light heavyweight champion and an unsuccessful claimant of the heavyweight crown—altho he never weighed more than 170 pounds—succumbed in Polyclinic hospital after an operation. O'Brien, whose real name was Joseph Francis Anthony Hagen, had come here Nov. 3 from his home in Ventnor, N. J.

Since his retirement in 1912—after a 16 year career during which he lost only five of 184 fights—O'Brien had been one of the leading exponents of the reducing system of physical culture for business men and women. For years he operated a large gymnasium on Broadway but more recently had dealt in real estate in suburban Philadelphia.

Knocks Out Fitzsimmons.

His long ring career was studded with highlights. As a youngster of 138 pounds, he whipped the great Dal Hawkins in 25 rounds in 1899. The same year, he fought a 25 round draw with the then lightweight champion, Frank Erne. He knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons in 13 rounds for the light heavyweight crown in 1905—and promptly turned his back on the title to campaign as a heavyweight. He fought such standouts as Tommy Burns, Jack Johnson, Jack Blackburn, and Fireman Jim Flynn in his futile attempt to become head man of the heavies, yet he never was more than a slightly heavy middleweight.

But of all his fights, the most famous was his first tussel with Stanley Ketchell—a brawl that is still regarded among old timers as one of the all-time ring classics. They met in a 10 rounder in the old Fiss, Doerr and Carroll horse mart, on 24th street near Lexington avenue, and after nine rounds of bristling battling, Ketchell turned loose a haymaker in the 10th. It caught Jack on the chin, lifted him clear off the floor and deposited him across the ring, with his head in the corner sawdust box that preceded the present-day ring bucket. Jack was out cold thruout the referee's count, but at nine, the bell saved him. So the fight is listed in his record as a no decision affair.

Jack Liked to Travel.

Always his own manager, Jack liked nothing better than to travel long distances to fight. Two years before the Ketchell fight he had gone to England and defeated Britain's light heavyweight and heavyweight champions. So, when Jim Jeffries retired as heavyweight boss in 1905, Jack joined the big group of claimants of the crown. In November of 1906 he fought a 20 round draw with Tommy Burns, the leading claimant, but early in 1907, Burns came back to outpoint him in 20 rounds and was recognized as champion.

Until he died, O'Brien always maintained that of all the light heavyweights, only one even came close to being his equal. That one was his old Philadelphia sidekick, Tommy Loughran, the boxing stylist, who held the title from 1927 thru 1929 and then retired undefeated to campaign among the heavies.

Offers Services to Government.

After Pearl Harbor, Jack, then 63, offered his services to the government as a physical instructor, even tho his condition would not permit him to assume arduous duties.

Surviving are his widow, five sisters and a younger brother, who fought under the name of Young Jack O'Brien. Burial will be in Philadelphia Saturday.

FOUR STADIUM GAMES SET FOR BLUEJACKET FIVE

The Great Lakes basketball team will be featured in four games on the Chicago Stadium's schedule of double headers this season.

Eleven members of last year's 14 man squad have been commissioned and sent to battle stations, while one other is undergoing flight training.

Mickey Cochrane's Mother Dies in Boston

Boston, Mass., Nov. 12 (AP).—Mrs. John Cochrane, 74, mother of Lieut. Gordon [Mickey] Cochrane, former manager of the Detroit American league baseball club, died today in New England Baptist hospital. Cochrane, permitted leave from his duties as athletic instructor at Great Lakes naval training station, arrived in time to spend the last few hours with his mother. Also surviving are the husband, two daughters, and two other sons.

CHICAGO TO HAVE 23 MAN TEAM IN BOWLING MEET

Seven Veterans of 1941 to Perform.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Chicago is to have a 23 man team in the national All-Star Bowling tournament, which opens three weeks from tomorrow night in the Auditorium Theater Service Men's center. The team will be headed by seven men who are seeded by reason of their accomplishments in the 1941 tournament, and will be completed by taking 16 of the 32 men who competed in the Chicago eliminations.

The decision to take the four high men off each eight-man squad that took part in the recent preliminary event was made yesterday by members of the All-Star committee who met with the local tournament committee. It was decided further to take the next men in line in each group if men who finished ahead of them are unable to compete.

Here Are Qualifiers.

The committee's action will put in the following, who competed in preliminaries at the centers named:

Garden Recreation, Adolph Carlson and Rudy Habetler; Pla-Mor, Andy Melant and Glenn Gersch; Gold Coast, Capt. Bob Wills and Ben Hellgeth; Congress, Vern Moon and Jerry Skovie.

Joe Wilman, Bill Hargadon, Joe Sinke, Herb Freitag, Bill Flesch, Walter Freitag, Sykes Thoma, Paul Krumske, Adam Plunge, Barney Grogan, Frank Sabik, Ivan Mann, Jules Sowa, Troy Voyles, and Norman Nelson.

The middle west ordinarily produces most of the country's good bowlers, but the east will be well represented in the coming national tournament. Andy Varipapa of Brooklyn will be one of the east's name bowlers, but it also will have George Young of New York. Young, who has come rapidly to the front in the last two years, won the 32 man elimination which ended in New York last week-end. He is a colorful as well as competent bowler.

Philadelphia Is Represented.

Philadelphia will send Edgar Winchester and Charles Butera, both All-Stars last season. Winchester is one of the seeded group, having fired 3,783 pins for 20 games last year. He finished 1 point behind Sykes Thoma and St. Louis' Nelson Burton. Another easterner expected to compete is Ollie Brandt of Lockport, N. Y., a suburb of Buffalo. Brandt is the bowler who fired the world record series, 887, three years ago.

Plan Special Match Tomorrow.

Teams sponsored by Meister Brau in six leagues will meet a like number of teams sponsored by Pogue Bourbon at Bowling Lanes, 5221 Broadway, at 11 o'clock totmorrow night. The Meister Brau teams average 915 pins per game and the Pogues, 911. . . . Grove Recreation at Downers Grove will hold an individual sweepstakes, three games across six alleys, tomorrow and Sunday. The first prize of 12 will be $150. . . . "Can they do it?" is the question of bowling fans speculating on the ability of Nina Van Camp and Tillie Kagel to bowl a 20 game match tomorrow night and Sunday. They roll 10 games at Pla-Mor tomorrow and 10 more at Bowling Lanes, starting at 5 p. m. Sunday.

Johnny Johansen started out indifferently but finished with 299—the No. 10 pin stuck—as his team, Hunter's Bourbon, won two games from Rainbow Bowl in a North West Traveling league match. Fox De Luxe shut out North Town Currency. Eddie Tatera rolled the league's high series, 674. . . . Edelweiss won three from De Luxe recreation in one of the year's best series in the Greater Chicago Traveling league. The winners won the first game, 1,076 to 1,074, and the second, 1,015 to 1,001. They finished with a 3,111 count.

Woman Bowls 673 Series.

Emma Walker, 160 average bowler, fired the city's highest and the nation's fourth highest series when she got 204, 249, 220—673 in the Windy City Major. . . . Pepsi-Colas turned in a 2,797 in the women's major at Bowling Lanes. The individual scores were Bee Hochstadter, 536; Betty Brugman, 601; Celia Winandy, 541; Kay Freitag, 543, and Lee Beisbier, 577. Other scores:

WINDY CITY—Frances Gabrich, 579; Ruth Wagner, 561; Estelle Alter, 546; Emma Munzel, 533; Estelle Svoboda, 532; Adeline Reck, 526; Helen Packey, 522. BRUCK'S—Nettie Kolb, 569; Mae Ausherman, 556; Margaret Ryan, 540; Catherine Kodadek, 532; Eulalia Reardon, 521. MARZANO'S—Claire Morrison, 543; Mary Joyce, 523; Vivien Knox, 520. Prep Game Is Biggest Thrill for Dr. Dave Reese

DR. DAVE REESE is a native of that Ohio hotbed of prep football—Massillon. . . . He gets his biggest thrill every year—going back home from Dayton, O., to refereee the Massillon-Canton High school game. . . . He calls it the greatest high school game in the country. . . . Toughest decision: Cincinnati and Miami universities were playing their traditional game in Cincinnati . . . Miami was ahead, 6 to 2, when a Cincinnati blocking back held on a Cincinnati punt while the ball was in the air. . . . The ball went out of bounds on Miami's 2-yard line. . . . Dr. Reese called the play back and gave the ball to Miami at midfield and Miami protected the slim lead the rest of the way. . . . This is his fourth season in the conference. He made 12 letters in three years at Denison college, is 46 years old and practices dentistry in Dayton.

Princeton to Meet Yale in New Setting

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—Remember the Big Three? Those once great names of the football world are just names now, seldom mentioned in the talk of national championships and All-America players, but at least 33,000 will remember them Saturday when Yale and Princeton play the 66th game of football's oldest continuous rivalry on Columbia's Baker field.

The game, shifted to New York because of the transportation shortage, has been a sellout since early this week. It might have drawn an even bigger crowd in Yankee stadium, but the Ivy League colleges preferred the collegiate atmosphere of the Columbia field and it seemed plenty big enough early this season when the Tigers drew only 20,000 for the Navy game in the Princeton stadium.

On Upgrade Again.

But Princeton surprisingly whipped Navy in that game and went on to get a tie with Pennsylvania and to beat Brown decisively. The Tigers slumped against Harvard and Dartmouth, but they're apparently on the upgrade again with the return of Sophomore Warren Vieth, an important part of their back field machinery.

Meanwhile Yale, starting under a new coach, has justified Howie Odell's faith in his methods by recovering from early season setbacks to trounce Dartmouth and Brown. Last week the Elis lost to Cornell in one of those games that might have gone either way.

It's Been Done Before.

If they're up for the game—and they practically started the tradition that you can toss out past performances when considering old rivals—both Yale and Princeton are expected to play good football.

Tommy Smith, freshman guard, and Full Back Johnny Ferguson will be out of the Yale lineup but Spence Mosely, veteran center, can plug a lot of gaps in the line and Bill Kirst, who played full back against Cornell, is rated as Yale's find.

Altho Yale and Princeton haven't met in New York in recent years it isn't a brand new move. They played here frequently up to 1896 and they've even played some games in Hoboken.

BELMONT'S LAST DAY'S WAGERING TOTALS $977,619

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—Ten thousand five hundred ninety-nine fans wagered $977,619 today as Belmont Park wound up its special Victory week meeting, the final flat racing of the Metropolitan season. The amount bet made the daily average for the week $1,112,906 and the sum realized for Army, Navy, and United Seamen's Relief and the USO was estimated at $225,000. This was included in the two million dollar racing contributions announced previously.

Townsend B. Martin's Bolingbroke, which won the Saratoga cup and the Manhattan Handicap earlier in the fall, galloped off with the Gen. U. S. Grant handicap, final feature of Victory week, today.

Derringer, Paul Waner to Help Condition Fliers

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP). — Two major league baseball stars — Paul Derringer, Cincinnati Reds pitcher; Paul Waner, Boston Braves outfielder; and Butch Henline, former major league player and now an umpire, have been added to the physical training program at Drew field here. The three athletes offered their services during the winter months to help conditions the soldiers and improve their playing ability. They will begin the program Tuesday.

Bausone Faces Cooper on Madison A.C.Card Tonight

Tony Bausone, former Catholic Youth organization featherweight champion, will meet Caesar Cooper of the Savoy Athletic club in a five round amateur bout tonight in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street. A five round secondary feature will bring together Albert Adams, city Golden Gloves featherweight title holder, and Fred Dawson, also a former CYO winner. Richard Dalton is paired with Bob Weatherly.

CYO BEGINNERS WIN TITLES IN SEVEN CLASSES

Three Navy Pier Battlers Take Crowns.

The 1942 beginners' class champions were crowned in seven weights in the 12th annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament in CYO center gymnasium last night. The star of the show, which comprised 17 bouts, was Walter Wilkenson, sailor boxer from Navy pier.

Wilkenson gained the lightweight title by scoring two knockouts, each in the first round. His first victim was Bill Durand of St. Aloysius parish and the other was Johnny Small, Notre Dame.

Le Clair Defeats Kenneally.

Other pier representatives to win beginners' championships were Tom Le Clair, welterweight, and Bob Young, middleweight. The former conquered Kenneally, St. Vincent de Paul, and Young stopped Alfred McIntyre, St. Raphael.

In addition six navy men advanced to the championship round in the novice and open divisions, which are scheduled in Ashland auditorium next Wednesday. There are Sergio Bonetti, lightweight; George Bray, welterweight; Dick Saburn, middleweight, and Carlyle Coots, heavyweight, all novices, and Tommy Burns, lightweight, and Buddy Feather, middleweight, open.

Not a Unanimous Decision.

Bonetti's conquest of Dean was not unanimous, Judge Ed Hintz voting for Bob while Referee Joey White and Carl Witt, the other judge, scoring for Sergio. In the first round of this hard fought encounter both men fell out of the ring. They returned at the six count. Storekeeper Jack Gall, navy second, assisted them back.

Illinois Sends Squad of 30 to Ohio State

OHIO STATE PASSES.

Coach Paul Brown drilled his team particularly hard in passing, saying he expected the Illini to continue using their seven man line defense. Chief among the hurlers were Paul Sarringhaus, Leslie Horvath, Tommy James, and George Slusser, half backs.

"The morale of the squad is high," Coach Brown said today. "They're working hard and like it. That's just the opposite of the way they reacted before the Wisconsin game. I know it's a good sign."

The physical condition of the squad is the best it has been in two months, Team Physician Walter Duffee reported. Even Bill Durtschi, half back who was thought lost for the season with a knee injury, was back in uniform today trying out his kicking ability.

Yost to Watch Notre Dame Game from Press Box

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 12 [Special]. —Fielding H. Yost, who retired two years ago as Michigan director of athletics, will attend the Notre Dame-Michigan game here Saturday. Yost was coach of the Wolverines in 1909 when they were beaten, 11 to 5, by the Irish on Ferry field, Ann Arbor.

He Really Meant It!

Austin and Taft Await Duel Tomorrow for Finals Berth

Resolved: That the 1942 version of the highly complex T formation can be utilized effectively by a high school eleven against the more conventional short punt formation.

This proposition will be debated pro and con tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2:15 o'clock, in Hanson Park stadium, when teams from Taft and Austin High schools play in one of the semi-final games of Public league competition. The teams, champions of the north and west sections respectively, will meet at the same time that Tilden of the central section engages Fenger High's south side winners in the other semi-final contest in Soldiers' field.

The affirmative side of the argument will be presented by Coach Bill Hieland's Austin players, who have used the T in compiling a perfect league record of six victories in six games. The negative side will be defended by Coach Walter Oberlander's Taft youngsters, who have found the short punt setup an equally effective tool in winning its six Public league engagements.

Both Have Narrow Escapes.

Tomorrow's meeting will provide both teams with a rebuttal opportunity for weaknesses that may have appeared during their regular schedules. Austin will attempt to regain the prestige it may have lost thru its narrow 13 to 7 defeat of Steinmetz, and Taft will try to show that its pair of two close victories [2 to 0 over Lane and 9 to 6 over Schurz] were but momentary lapses.

Austin will represent the sixth section championship for the west siders since Hieland began planning strategy in 1936. Last year was the only time that a Hieland-coached Austin team failed to appear in the final playoffs.

Back Field Unchanged.

If Taft wins, the north siders will enter the championship contest for the first time since the new school opened its doors in 1939. And such a victory would be an initial title experience for Coach Oberlander. Oberlander, who was graduated from Stanford university last year, came to Taft last September as head basketball coach. He undertook direction of the football team in midseason after Coach Joe Kupcinet relinquished the post to enter the service.

To interpret the pro side of the discussion, Hieland probably will start the same back field—led by Dick Arado, the left half back—that has carried the attack during the season. He may have to do without George McKierman, varsity full back, however, who was injured in scrimmage last week. Tony Schavone, a 210 pounder, is ready to relieve McKiernan. The balance of the back field will include quarter back John Malloy and Right Half Dick Peterson.

The Taft back field will include Jack Congdon, a 170 pound quarter back, who has done much of the team's running and passing; Left Half Paul Kenrick, another junior, whose exceptional speed has been an invaluable asset to the attack, and Bob Miller, at full back. The right half position may be filled at the start by either Clarence [Lefty] Johnson or William Lingenfelder.

HORACE MANN WINS.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 12 [Special].—Horace Mann of Gary closed its Northern Indiana conference western division schedule tonight by routing Tolleston of Gary, 38 to 0. It was only the second victory for Horace Mann in six league games and the fifth defeat for Tolleston against one tie.

LANE TECH AND KELLY MOVE TO SOCCER FINALS

Lane Tech and Kelly again will meet for the Chicago Public High School league soccer championship as the result of victories scored yesterday. Lane, defending champion, whipped Schurz, 4 to 0, on Lane field for its sixth victory in the north section, while Kelly defeated Manley, 2 to 1, in Douglas Park for the south section crown.

Inside Right Salata and Outside Right David Fyfe scored Lane's goals against Schurz. Lane closes its schedule against Amundsen in Winnemac Park today. Amundsen was routed, 14 to 2, by Crane Tech in Altgeld Park yesterday.

Kelly brought its record to four victories and four ties by its victory. Inside Right Fred Loewe scored the winners' goal while Harold Moskowitz, inside right, made the penalty shot for Manley. Hyde Park, which finished second in the south section, beat Tilden, 2 to 0, in Jackson Park. Capt. Earl Marks, center forward, scored for Hyde Park. Standings:

Monmouth Seeks Third in Knox Game Tomorrow

Monmouth, Ill., Nov. 12 [Special].—Monmouth college will seek its third victory of the season here Saturday as it meets Knox college in the 58th game of the rivalry between the schools.

IOWA'S G. CURRAN HURT; MAY MISS MINNESOTA GAME

Dickerhoof to Take Star Guard's Place.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 12 [Special].—Gene Curran, regular Iowa guard, suffered a torn ligament in his leg this afternoon as the Hawkeyes took their final workout before leaving tomorrow for Minneapolis where they meet Minnesota Saturday. Doctors doubted that Curran would be ready to go against the Gophers. The little guard has been plagued by injuries all season. Coach Dr. Eddie Anderson said he probably will start Del Dickerhoof, senior veteran, in his place.

In the other starting positions will be Bill Parker and Bill Burkett or Bill Barbour, ends; Bob Yelton and Johnson Staak, tackles; Bob Penaluna, guard; Forest Masterson or Bob Lauterbach, center; Tommy Farmer, quarter back; Duke Curran and Jim Youel, half backs, and Dick Hoerner, full back.

GOPHERS SEEK POWER.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 12 [Special].—Minnesota's offensive, which has been a powerhouse only rarely this season, is expected to be at its peak when the Gophers meet Iowa here Saturday. Indications are that the cripples, Bill Daley, Bill Garnaas, and Herman Frickey will be in condition to play.

Coach Dr. George Hauser has been emphasizing the need of punch inside the 20 yard line, which thus far has been lacking—and for which former Minnesota teams have been famous.

HOOSIERS BUILD PASS DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 12 [Special].—Indiana's passing defenders—the centers, half backs, and safety men—got most of the attention today as the Hoosiers concentrated on methods of grounding Kansas State passes, which are tossed by Ronald Conrad and Mike Zeleznak.

Most of the Kansas State scores have come thru the air by the accurate pitching of Conrad and Zeleznak. Coach Ward Haylett has another flinger in Harry Merriman, sophomore.

Coach Bo McMillin discounted any ideas that Indiana intends to coast against the Big Six eleven.

"The Kansas State team is airminded and has at least three capable passers, and we know how damaging a good passing attack can be against any team," McMillin said.

Frosh Play Today.

Indiana's freshmen, who defeated Purdue 6 to 0, and lost to Illinois, 33 to 0, meet Ohio State here at 3 p. m. tomorrow. The Buckeyes, sparked by Tommy Phillips of Berea, O., and 220 pound Lou [Big Chief] Groza, place kicking tackle, trampled the Pittsburgh yearlings, 18 to 7, last Friday.

Preceding the Kansas State kickoff at 2 p. m. Saturday, Gov. Henry F. Schricker and Lieut. Gov. Charles M. Dawson will review a parade of more than 3,000 Indiana university ROTC cadets, ROTC quartermaster corps, navy yeomen, WAVES, and WATC's, now stationed on the Indiana campus.

SKULLS A. C. WINS, 6-0.

The Skulls A. C., defeated the Rebels, 6 to 0, last night in a Greater Chicago football league game in Weber park. The Wizand Arrows defeated the Gay Gents, 20 to 0.

minated 33 years ago and has not been revived until Notre Dame's centennial year, altho it always could have been a natural rivalry.

Irish partisans should be more concerned with Saturday's weather, not because of their personal inconvenience but because rain and a slick field can wreck the Irish passing attack. Angelo Bertelli is the man on whom Notre Dame depends to open up Michigan's defense for its rushers. Bertelli has thrown 105 of Notre Dame's 109 passes in seven games. Despite his indifferent record against Navy and Army [7 completions in 30 attempts] he has a season mark of 45 completions for a total gain of 657 yards. Eight of Bertelli's passes have been intercepted.

Wolverine Record Misleading.

Notre Dame's pass defense in seven games has permitted 31 completions in 98 attempts for a total gain of 361 yards. Sixteen enemy passes have been intercepted.

The efficiency of Michigan's pass defense is distorted by its statistical record, which shows 56 enemy passes completed in 117 attempts for a gain of 797 yards, since Northwestern accounted for 20 completions in 30 passes for 295 yards. Michigan led by a big margin and Northwestern tried 23 passes in the second half. Michigan won, 34 to 16.

Michigan's own passing record is more important for comparison with Bertelli's mark. Six Wolverines have thrown 118 passes and completed 43 for 591 yards. Bob Chappuis, left half, is the leader with 19 completions in 50 tries.

Here Are the Figures.

For the final comparison between Michigan and Notre Dame, let us consider the respective ground gaining statistics. Each team has played seven games. The statistics follow:

MICHIGAN SHIELDS PLANS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special.]—Only Coach Fritz Crisler and his staff and the Michigan players know what the Wolverines' battle plans are for Saturday's game at Notre Dame. For the last three days, all workouts have been closed to the public. The assumption is that the staff has prepared a bunch of new pass plays for the Irish.

The team will leave tomorrow afternoon for Elkhart, Ind., for an overnight stay.

PREPS TO HOLD CROSS-COUNTRY MEET TOMORROW

The 15th annual cross country run of the City High school league will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Washington park. The novice race will start 45 minutes later.

Lane Tech is the defending champion. Other entries are Bowen, Crane, Du Sable, Englewood, Harrison, Kelly, Lindblom, Manley, Schurz, Steinmetz, Sullivan, and Von Steuben.

FEW BLINDS ON PUBLIC GROUNDS; SHOOTING IS POOR

Hunters Forced to Wait for Stray Ducks.

BY BEN MARKLAND.

Every experienced duck hunter knows the value of proper camouflage in bringing birds into gun range, yet there is little chance for building blinds or otherwise staying out of the vision of ducks on the public shooting grounds of Illinois. According to Frank Bellrose Jr., assistant game technician of the Illinois Natural History survey, this is one of the main reasons for poor shooting on the Sparland and Woodford county shooting grounds north of Peoria.

Hundreds of Illinois sportsmen find it necessary to hunt on public grounds because of financial inability to join a private shooting club or pay for the right to shoot at day shooting clubs. Tabulations made during the 1940 and 1941 seasons by Bellrose and other technicians of the natural history survey show that the average number of ducks killed by hunters on the grounds of private clubs and day shooting clubs is six per day, whereas the hunters who shoot on the state owned grounds kill only 1.3 ducks per day.

Hunt from Open Boats.

At these public shooting places hunters rent a rowboat for $2, row out into the open water, and patiently wait for stray ducks to fly over. Experienced hunters know that wild birds are wary of the best made blinds, and can understand why the ruddy ducks, canvasbacks, mallards, bluebills, and other species shy away from open boats in the water. At the present time, however, that is the only type of duck hunting available to shooters who cannot afford to hunt on privately owned lands.

There are so many of these hunters that the two public shooting places are crowded on weekdays and overly crowded on week-ends. On Goose pond, near Chillicothe, hunters hitch their rowboats to stakes which divide the public water from that owned by a private club. Others anchor near by [with boats often within 50 feet of each other] and wait for ducks to fly from the rest ground provided by the private club. Every bird that comes over this line-up of boats is bombarded, but usually the ducks are so high that if hit they are merely crippled and fly off to die on some weedy shoreline.

Blinds Not Entirely Satisfactory.

A few blinds have been built by hunters on the island in the Woodford county grounds, with the first hunters of each day getting the doubtful right to their use. The reason their use is of doubtful value is that some of hunters have not been taught shooting etiquette and will fire from their rowboats at birds which are out of range but heading for the blinds.

Bellrose has made the following suggestions to the state department of conservation as a system for providing better hunting for Illinois' vast number of freelance shooters: Acquire more shooting property in order to avoid overcrowding; provide blinds; set aside a section of each area as a rest ground; provide adequate supervision for the grounds, and institute a system for allocating shooting spaces to hunters.

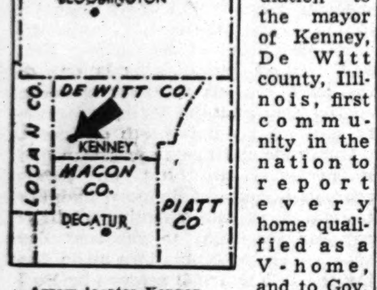
SALUTE KENNEY; ILLINOIS TOWN TOPS V-HOMES!

Every House Qualifies in Patriotic Endeavor.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—James M. Landis, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, today sent telegrams of congratulation to the mayor of Kenney, De Witt county, Illinois, first community in the nation to report every home qualified as a V-home, and to Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois.



Arrow locates Kenney.

Coöperate in War Effort.

Requirements for the V-home award by OCD are that the home coöperate fully in the war effort by providing proper protection against air raids, by conserving food, clothing, transportation, and health, by the salvage of essential war materials, by refraining from spreading rumors designed to divide our people, and by buying war bonds and stamps regularly.

"All Americans may well salute Kenney, Ill., the first community in the nation to report every home qualified as a V-home. Total war today strikes at every home. V-homes, by their full coöperation in the war effort, are striking back—striking blows that will assure the final triumph of their way of life.

"Real American Town."

"Our men on distant battle lines could receive no more heartening news from home than such assurance of unstinted civilian support.

"Congratulations to you and every citizen of Kenney upon qualifying every home in your community as a V-home. Kenney today leads the parade of real American towns in exemplifying the full measure of participation in our war effort that can lead only to victory."

PLAN TO CONTEST ASSEMBLY SEATS ON FRAUD CHARGE

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 12 [Special].—A Democratic seat in the Illinois senate and a Democratic seat in the state house of representatives will be challenged in petitions being prepared here now by Dan McGlynn, East St. Louis corporation counsel and St. Clair county Republican leader, he announced today.

McGlynn has obtained affidavits from 400 Republicans who say they voted Republican in the Nov. 3 election in Stites township precinct No. 1, a Negro precinct north of the National stockyards. The vote canvass gives Republican candidates only 180 votes in this precinct and Democrats 742.

McGlynn declared Nov. 4 that he has evidence that the ballot box disappeared from this polling place during a fight in the place and that later a different ballot box was substituted for the original. The vote here for the offices of state senate and the state legislature and county treasurer are close enough that three Republicans will replace apparent Democratic winners, if the entire vote in Stites precinct No. 1 is thrown out.

WAR COMRADES ATTEND FUNERAL OF MILTON MYERS

Milton H. Myers, a veteran of the Civil war, was buried yesterday with full military honors in the Maine township cemetery, a few days after he had celebrated his 101st birthday at the Barrington Rest home, where he resided.

Hundreds of persons filed silently past the veteran's casket as it lay in state in the Park Ridge Methodist church to view the slight figure of the centenarian, dressed in the faded blue uniform that he wore in his country's service.

Five Civil war veterans, each more than 100 years old, stood at the graveside while Capt. Thomas Ambrose, commander of the G. A. R. Memorial Association of Illinois, carefully draped an American flag across his comrade's casket. They heard again the rattle of musketry as an American Legion squad fired a last salute. Capt. Ambrose, who is 90 years old, read the official prayer of the G. A. R.

Services at the church were conducted by the Rev. T. Harry Kelly, pastor. His two sons, Walter R., a professor at the University of Minnesota, and Arthur L. of Park Ridge, were present.

AUTOIST GIVEN 1-14 YEARS FOR A MOTHER'S DEATH

Foster Poole, 34 years old, colored, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Ralph J. Dady in Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan to 1 to 14 years in prison on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the automobile death of a young mother.

Last Sept. 20, Poole's car killed Mrs. Frances Gerzel, 26, as she was wheeling her 6 months old son at Tenth street and Park avenue in North Chicago. The baby was hurled from the carriage but was uninjured.

Witnesses testified yesterday that Poole was speeding and appeared to be intoxicated. Poole denied he was intoxicated and said he lost control of the car when a tire blew out. The machine struck another car and then careened into the mother and child.

$7,100 Robbery

J. H. Kohnstamm, cashier at currency exchange, at telephone in money cage, beside hole robbers punched thru wall to get $7,100.

Four masked bandits used a battering ram yesterday to punch their way thru a tile brick wall into the offices of the Personal Service Currency exchange at 443 South Paulina street. Crawling thru the aperture, the bandit leader covered the two owners, admitted two confederates waiting at the front door, and escaped with $7,100 before the startled proprietors had time to set off either the alarm or the elaborate tear gas system installed for such an emergency.

COURT ORDERS MRS. PUCKETT'S SAFE OPENED

Probate Judge John F. O'Connell issued a court order yesterday to open the safe deposit box of Mrs. Ella Mae Puckett, who was murdered near Lafayette, Ind., last Friday. Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator, said he would ask the Lafayette police, who are holding the woman's husband, William R., 63 years old, as a suspect, to bring the vault keys to Chicago.

Rubens, who recently discovered Mrs. Puckett had a $2,500 savings account and deposit box in the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, announced he would appeal to the chief examiner of the state treasury department to assist him in a more thoro search of the Puckett home at 7840 Kenwood avenue.

Authorities have been looking for a revolver similar to the one used in the slaying. The husband said he had left one somewhere in the house. A revolver was found near the scene of the murder.

CAR DRIVER MUST APPLY BY DEC. 1 TO RETAIN NUMBER

Altho application blanks have not yet been distributed, motorists who desire to retain their 1942 auto license numbers must apply before Dec. 1, John Nash, chief clerk of the state automobile department, said yesterday. It is expected that application blanks for the new plates will be distributed next week. Applications must be accompanied by 1942 registration cards, Nash said.

The 1943 license plates will be of fiber, but the War Production board has authorized the automobile department to issue 148,964 pairs of steel plates which had already been completed prior to the freeze of license plate metal.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CIVILIAN HEROES OF COAST GUARD RECEIVE TRIBUTE

1,500 Here Giving Time to Protect Area.

More than 1,500 members of the auxiliary of the United States coast guard in the Chicago area have contributed without pay some 200,000 man hours and saved more than $100,000 in property and an uncounted number of lives, Lieut. Comm. Paul Date, director of the coast guard temporary reserves, told members of the Central Lions club in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

These men, Comm. Date said, are mostly too old or unfit physically for active service and contribute their time after their regular business hours so that younger men in the coast guard may be sent to active service.

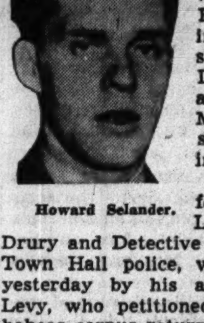
Only men owning or partly owning boats are asked to join the coast guard auxiliary. There are approximately 900 vessels in this service in the Chicago area, divided into seven divisions and 45 flotillas, so organized that in any emergency all 1,500 men and 900 vessels, or any part of them, could be mobilized within two hours.

Work of the auxiliary in the Chicago area is being duplicated, Commander Date said, in other sections of the country, particularly on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, where yachtsmen and boat owners often have gone out on military missions in unarmed boats.

He cited the instance of last June when several hundred auxiliary members on the California coast went some 300 miles from shore to give warning of the approach of any enemy vessels. These patrols faced a possible Japanese fleet without armament of any kind.

GALVIN MURDER CLEW HUNTED IN ASSAULT INQUIRY

Police were investigating yesterday the activities of Howard Selander, 26 years old, who gave his address as the Edgewater hotel, 5452 Broadway, hunting a clew to the slaying of Mrs. Lillian Galvin, 47, and her maid, Miss Edna Sibilski, 26, on Oct. 22 in Evanston.



Howard Selander.

Selander, sought for two weeks by Lieut. William Drury and Detective Peter Harlib of Town Hall police, was surrendered yesterday by his attorney, Harold Levy, who petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus returnable at 10 a. m. today before Chief Justice Sbarbaro in Criminal court.

Lieut. Drury said Selander was reported to have been marketing furs on the north side and to have been driving a gray sedan. Loot from the Galvin home, 3038 Normandy place, Evanston, included $3,500 worth of furs and neighbors reported twice having seen a gray sedan parked in front of the house with a man at the wheel. The only charge against Selander, however, is an assault complaint by Dr. Jerome Weil, 3149 Southport avenue, who said Selander struck him after an automobile collision Oct. 15.

LAW VIOLATION DISCOVERED IN HOSPITAL QUIZ

Evidence concerning practices at the Parkway sanitarium, mental hospital at 2612-16 Prairie avenue, which do not conform with the Illinois laws and regulations was turned over to Dr. Harry Hoffman, alienist for the state department of public welfare, yesterday by Ambrose Finn, chief inspector for the state department of registration and education.

Finn acted after several weeks' investigation of the sanitarium by his department after the suicides of a man and woman had been reported there.

Finn questioned Dr. Carl David, who lately has been connected with the sanitarium, he said, and also June Cass and Irene Maula, nurses.

He said he pointed out to Dr. Hoffman that Miss Cass, altho a registered nurse in Kansas, is not registered in Illinois, as required by law and the department of public welfare's regulations.

The chief investigator also said his inquiry disclosed no licensed physician was in charge of the hospital from Oct. 1 to Nov. 4, this year.

2 CARNEGIE STEEL FURNACES BLOW UP; 5 SCALDED

Youngstown, O., Nov. 12 (AP).—Two blast furnaces in the Ohio works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation here blew up tonight, scalding five workmen with steam and ruining several thousands tons of steel, police authorities said.

High winds were blamed for the accident. Power lines blew down, grounding on rails of the plant's transportation system. The plant was thrown into darkness and the pumping system supplying water for the jacketing of the furnaces was made inoperative. The jacketing became filled with steam, which finally exploded.

Army officials and FBI operatives began an investigation.

CIO CHIEFS TOSS VERBAL CLUBS AT EX-FRIEND LEWIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Nov. 12.—The convention of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, which for the past three days has been blasting away at the War Production board and "appeasers," got out the hammers this afternoon and swung them lustily at the head of John L. Lewis.

Lewis, who founded CIO and withdrew his United Mine Workers from the organization a few weeks ago, was described by Philip Murray, CIO president, as "an established national prevaricator" who ran away from his responsibilities. A dramatic touch was added when the delegates, voting a resolution condemning their old chief, stood for 10 seconds in mock tribute to "one who is gone."

Van A. Bittner, old time lieutenant of Lewis and now assistant president of the CIO steel workers, likewise was bitter in his attack. He said that he would never desert men he had persuaded to join a union, as Lewis had done.

Allan S. Haywood, a national CIO organizer, declared that Lewis, inveighing against Communists in CIO, should have recalled these were the same men they were in 1937 when he joined him.

ALDERMEN HUNT METHOD TO PLUG LOSSES ON WATER

Inspection fees that would pay the cost of finding and eliminating waste in the city's 4,393 free water accounts were urged yesterday by Ald. Joseph S. Gillespie [29th] at a meeting of the council subcommittee named to consider the problem.

Gillespie offered his proposal after H. L. Meites, superintendent of water, told the committee other cities charge maintenance fees for holders of free water accounts. He explained that in Chicago many free water users have no meters, and there is no way to determine whether water is wasted.

Meites said war priorities would bar obtaining meters for all the free accounts. He said the city was concerned over the problem because free water accounts have increased 78 per cent in the last 16 years, bringing last year's free output to an estimated value of $775,000.

The committee directed Supt. Meites to assemble full information on what other cities are doing and present a report to the committee within the next 10 days.

CITY FACES TWO WEEKS' SHORTAGE IN MILK SUPPLY

Chicago is scraping the bottom of its milk barrel, and only by dint of unusual effort on the part of dealers has every one been assured a normal supply of milk and cream.

F. J. Knox, sales manager of the Pure Milk association, said yesterday that the city had reached a crisis in its milk supply, but that if it is possible to keep distribution of the small supplies available going for the next two weeks, the worst will be over.

Production on farms has dropped to its normal seasonal low, while consumption in the city is up 15 per cent over last year. Knox said dealers are working with the lowest margin of surplus milk they have ever encountered.

"The first of next month should bring an increase in production that will relieve the situation," Knox said. "Herds will be moved from dwindling pastures to the barns then and full feeding will be resumed."

TREASURY MAPS DRIVE TO OPEN PUBLIC'S PURSE

Plan Includes Use of Supersalesmen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—The treasury reports the government has spent approximately 25 billion dollars in the last four and a half months as compared with about 8 billion dollars in the corresponding period last year and by the end of the month will owe the public more than 100 billion dollars.

So far the treasury has been borrowing vast sums of money every week or so from the nation's banks. According to treasury officers, the American people have too much money to spend in proportion to the amount of goods available. This situation forces up prices. When the treasury borrows from the banks it did not reduce the public's buying power.

Treasury experts believe that if they borrow directly from the people, thus cutting down their buying power, they may be able to slow down the rise in food, clothing, and commodity prices.

Will Use Supersalesmen.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced today the administration's change in its financing policy. He told a press conference the government planned on Nov. 30 to borrow an "unprecedented" amount of money. He hopes to borrow the major part of it directly from the American people by sale of bonds to individuals.

To get the vast sums of money required out of the people's pocketbooks—the treasury borrowed about 7 billion dollars last month—Morgenthau said the government was employing a force of supersalesmen. It has called in industrial sales managers, advertising men, bankers, and representatives of leading financial organizations to help out.

Morgenthau said that R. H. Grant, vice president in charge of sales for General Motors corporation, will organize a nation-wide sales staff, probably employing many of the high-pressure men of the automobile industry.

Experts to Confer.

Representatives of the New York Stock exchange, the Investment Bankers association, the National Association of Security Dealers, the American Bankers association, and the Association of Stock Exchange Firms have been called to Washington for consultation. The nation's financiers have been conferring with treasury officials in the capital since Saturday.

Miller McClintock, executive director, and Harold Thomas, vice chairman of the advertising council, will advise the treasury department in advertising the government's campaign to raise money. Morgenthau said all government publicity pieces to be issued in the future will carry the treasury's appeal to the public.

The treasury head said that early next week he plans to announce the type and amounts of securities that will be offered the public. Meanwhile, he said, the administration will intensify its efforts to raise the present figure of 23 million workers now investing 8 per cent of their pay in war saving bonds to at least 30 million workers setting aside 10 per cent of their earnings each pay day.

LARGE INCREASE IN PROFIT SHOWN BY PULLMAN CO.

The Pullman company, sleeping car subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., yesterday reported a large increase in profits for September and the nine months ended Sept. 30. Net profit for September was $1,006,106, compared with a net loss of $6,345 a year ago. Nine months' net income jumped to $6,173,420 from $1,782,110 during the first nine months of 1941.

The federal tax bill, on the basis of the 1942 revenue act, rose to $1,807,752 during September, compared with $38,901 a year ago, while for the nine months the tax provision totaled $7,714,086, against $605,167 for the corresponding period a year ago.

BUTTER RATIONS BROUGHT NEARER

Nov. 1 Storage Supplies Drop to 10 Year Low.

Civilian butter rationing was believed nearer yesterday as a result of the department of agriculture announcement that the nation's cold storage holdings of butter on Nov. 1 had shrunk to 87,037,000 pounds, smallest for that date since 1932. The total was less than half the 186,635,000 pounds held on Nov. 1, 1941. The withdrawal of 36,562,000 pounds from storage during October was the largest on record for that month.

Since Sept. 1, when stocks reached a 1942 peak of 152,198,000 pounds, butter stocks have dropped 65,161,000 pounds, three times the normal amount. Only normal withdrawals from storage during November, December and January would exhaust holdings by Feb. 1, according to trade estimates. Current net movement into storage is negligible.

Output Drop Is Seasonal.

Butter industry and government spokesmen are agreed that only civilian rationing can curb abnormal consumption, stimulated by record consumer buying power, and leave enough butter for the armed forces and lend-lease. The government wants a minimum of 10 million pounds a month but has been obtaining only a fraction of this amount. Ceilings prevent price rises that normally might act as a brake on consumption.

Production is 3 per cent under a year ago, and little hope is held that output can be increased. Dairy herds are being reduced or sold because of labor shortages and larger profits in hog raising, while more milk is being used for fluid consumption and drying.

Cheese at Record, but . . .

Holdings of cheese on Nov. 1 were 169,662,000 pounds, against 157,468,000 a year ago, while October withdrawals amounted to 55,199,000 pounds. Despite record supplies, cheese also is reported to be on the government's ration list. Production has fallen since last March and now is 13 per cent below 1941 levels. The government could use 30 million pounds a month.

Shell eggs in storage Nov. 1 totaled 3,098,000 cases of 30 dozens each, compared with 3,857,000 last year. Withdrawal of 2,323,000 cases was the second largest on record for October. Poultry holdings were 161,208,000 pounds, compared with 127,981,000 pounds on Nov. 1, 1941.

Despite record production, cold storage stocks of pork fell 15,323,000 pounds during October to 254,964,000 pounds, smallest for any month in four years and the third smallest Nov. 1 total on record.

Beef holdings climbed to 116,141,000 pounds, highest since May and largest Nov. 1 amount since 1919.

Lard storage of 50,769,000 pounds was the lowest since Dec. 1, 1937. Stocks a year ago were 173,156,000 pounds.

Tea Supply Reported Large Enough for Normal Demands

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—The Tea bureau said today public reaction to coffee rationing would determine whether it would be necessary to ration tea in the United States.

Benjamin Wood, managing director, said the bureau's third quarterly survey showed stocks on hand and expected shipments of tea between now and March 31, 1943, totaled 64 million pounds—equivalent to more than a year's needs under present War Production board regulations.

The coffee order, announced Oct. 26 and effective Nov. 28, reportedly has caused increased purchases of tea in grocery stores in some areas, said Wood, adding it was too early to judge their significance.

Rationing of tea is not necessary if the public continues to make purchases in a normal manner, he said, and grocers' stocks merely would be depleted for a short time should widespread, selfish buying develop.

"It could not wipe out tea stocks," said Wood, "because under the conservation program these are allocated to buying areas on schedule from packer and wholesaler supplies. It might, however, bring sufficient pressure upon the government to ration tea to protect the public from hoarding."

Total tea stocks on hand for civilian use in the United States on Sept. 30, said the bureau report, were 26,751,000 pounds after deducting 3,723,000 pounds held for army, lend-lease and other government agencies [not including stocks held in retail stores or on kitchen shelves].

The United States will receive 65 million pounds of tea annually under the British-American allocation plan, Wood said, of which about 12 million pounds will go to armed services.

Set Coffee Quotas

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—The inter-American coffee board announced today coffee quotas totaling 19,330,115 bags for the 14 Latin American countries signatory to its coffee agreement and said that it is prepared to increase the quotas at any time to facilitate the entry of coffee for consumption in the United States. The quotas are for the year ending next Sept. 30. United States imports last year were 14,922,880 bags.

ADVERTISERS ARE TOLD PUBLIC WISHES MORE FACTS ABOUT BUSINESS

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—The public wants to know more about business and its part in the war effort, Dr. Henry C. Links of the Psychological corporation told the Association of National Advertisers today.

Dr. Links said a survey completed last month confirmed that the public seeks inspiration in its advertising, a factor discussed earlier by T. Mills Shepard, vice president of Daniel Starch, Inc.

The survey, Link said, showed:

1. A growing confidence on the part of the public in the job that advertising is doing for the war effort.
2. While the public praises, it also criticizes, and shows distinct discrimination between types of advertising.
3. The public approves and has praised the scrap and war bond advertising campaigns.
4. The public believes that the army and navy "E" ads contribute to morale in the war effort.
5. The public belief that industry is doing a good job to help win the war is even higher now [in October] than it was six months earlier.
6. People want advertising to tell them about the regular products, but above all how to conserve what they have.
7. They want companies to tell about their war efforts—without too much boasting.
8. The public expects advertisers to give them inspiration, and a vision of the future for which we are fighting.

U. S. THREATENS TO TAKE EXCESS COPPER STOCKS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—The government today threatened to requisition for war uses 64 million pounds of copper held by manufacturers and distributors in idle or "excessive" inventories. Most of it is in the form of fabricated parts that will not be used in war production in the near future by present holders, officials said.

Col. C. R. Baxter, chief of materials redistribution for the War Production board, said more than 72,000 companies have so far offered to sell 125 million pounds of idle copper.

Approximately 6,500 other concerns, many with substantial stocks, have refused to dispose of their holdings, however, a WPB official said. In most instances, he said, the refusals have been made because the government offering price is below cost.

ADDRESS J F 136, TRIBUNE

DEMAND LONGER WORK WEEK AND END OF BUNGLING

Need of Man Power Declared Critical.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—In a stinging report to congress today in which it lambasted administration bungling of the man power problem, the Truman committee called for immediate lengthening of the work to 48 hours.

[Allison Aircraft engine plant plans 60 hour week to solve man power problem. Story on page 33.]

Declaring it is imperative that executive agencies take immediate action along certain lines toward solving the problem if the nation is to maintain essential production next year, the committee recommended that:

1. All recruiting by the armed services be stopped immediately.
2. A single head be made responsible for the man power program.

The committee said the President created a war man power commission last April with Paul V. McNutt at its head, and that the President and congress had expected and believed the commission at least would formulate tentative policies which its studies indicated should be established.

Charges Failure to Plan.

"That was seven months ago," the report recalled. "The studies are incomplete and no basic national man power policy or program has been formulated.

"There have been scores and hundreds of public utterances from Washington telling about the man power problem, criticizing the public for failure to coöperate in a nonexistent program to solve it, and threatening a draft labor or a draft of women or this or that form of compulsion. But there has been no over-all program or policy."

The committee declared that in the absence of any over-all policy and program for the mobilization of man power, it would "be a mistake for the congress to even consider passage of any drastic compulsory legislation."

Full Coöperation Expected.

"Compulsion in this field should be the very last resort in a democracy such as ours," said the report.

"The man power subcommittee is convinced that once a definite, clear-cut man power policy which makes sense is announced to the public, and the coöperation of management, labor, and agriculture asked in its execution, that such voluntary coöperation will be forthcoming in full measure from the overwhelming majority of the American people.

The senate group asserted there are three variables which must be adjusted to the man power resources before an effective over-all policy can be developed. These are:

1. The number of men to be taken for the armed services.
2. The amount of war production and the man power required to produce it to equip and supply our own forces and to meet our commitments to our allies.
3. The volume of man power required to supply essential civilian needs.

Production of civilian materials, it said, can and should be cut down as far as is necessary to win the war.

Pledge Curb on Carrier Probes; Rail Schedule Policy Adopted

Result of Parleys

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—Attorney General Francis Biddle said today in a statement concerning the proposed anti-trust investigation of the transportation industry that the justice department "intends to institute no proceedings against carriers or rate bureaus which will impede or obstruct the war effort."

Biddle's statement made only a passing reference to "other government agencies concerned with wartime transportation," but it is known that he and his aids have been conferring for several weeks with representatives of the war and navy departments, the office of Defense Transportation and the Office of Price Administration.

Planned to Expand Probe.

It was learned some time ago that the anti-trust division had begun an investigation which it planned to expand into what an official described as the largest inquiry of its type thus far.

When this became known, however, various government agencies which previously had been consulted began new conferences and Biddle's statement of policy was the result.

It is understood from usually reliable sources that the justice department will continue with the three grand jury investigations into rate matters which already have been started, but probably will not go beyond that.

Refers to Scope of Probe.

"There appears to be some misapprehension on the part of the general public as well as the carriers [rail, air, motor, and water] concerning the scope and objectives of the grand jury investigation into rate bureaus, rate conferences, and similar common carrier organizations recently instituted by the anti-trust division of the department of justice.

"In order to dispel whatever misconceptions may exist, I should like to state simply that no investigation into or disturbance of the existing normal and established activities of carrier rate bureaus and conferences is contemplated by the department. I feel that any such program at this time would unduly diffuse the activities and energy of the carriers and hence unnecessarily burden them at a time when they are engaged in the difficult and complex job of aiding the government in the prosecution of the war."

Changes Up to Roads

Members of the Western Association of Railway Executives at a meeting at the Union station yesterday voted to leave to the individual roads decisions as to whether to lengthen passenger schedules. The rail executives decided that they would not do anything which "would result in a waste of transportation."

Previously there had been some difference of opinion among the executives over proposals to extend passenger schedules as a war measure. However, most of them were opposed to any general slowing up of western passenger trains. Representatives of roads operating streamlined trains held that operation at reduced speeds would make it impossible to get all the possible transportation out of the trains.

It was decided to add 15 minutes to the running time of the streamliners between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis. Some run to St. Paul in 6 hours and to Minneapolis in 6½ hours. Fifteen minutes was added to the running time of an 8 hour train to Omaha.

The decisions made yesterday must be approved by the Office of Defense Transportation.

A meeting is scheduled to be held in Chicago today by freight officer committees representing the eastern and western roads. The purpose is to work out schedules to meet the conditions imposed by the lengthened running time of freight trains. Trains from Chicago to the western coast now make eighth morning delivery, contrasted with the recent seventh morning delivery.

The trains to the east are given third morning delivery from Chicago, and it is possible that this time may be lengthened.

U. S. STEEL SEEKS TO BUY RAIL LINES OF SUBSIDIARIES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—The United States Steel corporation asked the Interstate Commerce commission for authority to acquire from its subsidiaries the capital stock of 11 short line railroads in Alabama, Utah, Pennsylvania, Missouri, and Ohio at a total cost of $6,252,297.

Now with indirect stock control of the railroads, the corporation said it wishes to acquire direct control by purchasing the stocks at the value at which they are carried on the books of the subsidiaries.

TELLS OIL MEN CONTROL NEARS FOR REFINERIES

Industry Is Willing, Says Davies.

The government is preparing to tell every oil refinery how it must operate, Ralph K. Davies, deputy coördinator, disclosed to the industry yesterday. Decision to take the step was announced by Davies in an address to oil men attending the annual meeting of the American Petroleum institute in the Palmer House.

Ralph K. Davies.

Davies, questioned later, said that the petroleum industry committees which express the industry's attitude in their advisory capacity "didn't like the program but were completely willing to go thru with it." He said the plan was put before the committees, "which accepted 100 per cent even tho they did not like it."

Demands Disrupt Operation.

His announcement follows:

"The demands for refined products under today's conditions—demands which are on the must list—so disrupt normal operation, and transportation shortages so complicate movement, that it is clearly impossible to go along without scheduling from a general source the operating practice of each refinery.

"The need for this control must be apparent by now to every refiner in the business. All the natural balances have been badly upset. Such a thing as a completely free economy is no longer possible for obvious reasons. Refinery operation must be geared to production, transportation, and war demand programs, and be guided from Washington.

"Our office is undertaking therefore the preparation of operating schedules designed to meet this emergency situation. We shall do this work in close collaboration with the industry committees."

Says Private Enterprise on Trial.

Later Davies warned that the private enterprise system is on trial, and said none would want it to survive if it endangered the nation in time of peril.

"Perpetuation of the individual freedom of action and rivalry which in normal times are fundamentally beneficial cease to be justified in

You Need Not Put Off Setting Up Your Trust Funds

TRUST FUNDS are often established in a will. But they can also be established now, while you are living. By means of a Living Trust you can provide — at once — regular income for one or more dependents. You can set aside the funds which will be needed for the education of children and to give them the right financial start in life. You can supplement the income of a son in war work or in the armed forces. You can make a daughter financially independent for life.

Other purposes which can be achieved by these trusts are almost limitless. Living Trusts can be revocable or irrevocable. Substantial dollar economies sometimes result. By naming The First National Bank of Chicago trustee, you will delegate the duties of administration and investment management to an experienced, responsible organization.

Living Trusts deserve consideration in estate planning to fit present-day requirements. You and your lawyer are invited to discuss with one of the officers of our Trust Department the applicability of this type of trust to your situation. Such a discussion implies no obligation whatever on your part.

STOCKS UNEVEN; PROFIT CASHING CURB TO PRICES

Battle News Favorable to Peace Issues.

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—The battle news remained on the side of peace stocks in today's market, but profit cashing was a restrictive factor and trends generally were irregular.

Dealings dwindled after early activity and pressure lessened on most of the recently weak war issues but this group generally failed to recover much. Altho scattered strong spots were in evidence at the close, declines of fractions to a point or so were numerous.

There was some lightening of commitments on the idea victory enthusiasm recently may have been overdone. Conversely, special situations brought in buyers for individual favorites and real weakness was absent in most departments.

New York Central, strongest gainer of the day, was up ⅞ at 12⅛ as a result of Wednesday's $1 dividend, first since 1931.

CHICAGO LIST DECLINES.

Prices declined on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 19,000 shares. Zenith Radio, among the volume leaders, rose to a new high for the year at 17⅛, up ⅜.

Other volume leaders included Midland Utilities preferred, Peabody Coal B, Commonwealth Edison, New York Central, and Middle West corporation.

FOREIGN LOANS GAIN.

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—Dollar loans of occupied countries of Europe made new gains of fractions to a point or so in today's bond market as the main domestic list held in a narrow range.

Marking the third consecutive response to the new turn in war developments, Czecho-Slovakia 8s, Denmark 6s, Norway 4¼s, Oslo City 4½s, Warsaw 4½s, Australia 5s, and Argentine 4s were among loans making new progress on light demand.

PENNSY ORDERS $1 DIVIDEND FOR 11 YEAR RECORD

Directors of the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday declared a dividend of $1.50 a share on the capital stock, payable Dec. 18 to stockholders of record Nov. 21. The payment brought this year's total to $2.50 a capital share, the largest for any year since 1931 when $3.25 was paid. The other payment this year was $1 in May. Total 1941 disbursements were $2.

ALLISON TO WORK 60 HOUR WEEK TO GAIN MAN POWER

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12 [Special]. Men soon will be working 10 hours a day six days a week, and a constantly increasing number of women will be taken on, in the huge aviation engine plant of the Allison division of General Motors corporation. These are two ways that Allison will meet the growing man power problem, F. C. Kroeger, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the plant, said here today.

Kroeger said the 10 hour day should improve greatly efficiency in the plant and at the same time ease the problem of providing a supervisory force for the huge number of employés. Operating on a two shift basis instead of three eight hour day shifts will reduce materially the number of supervisory workers required, he explained.

Labor Trouble Is at Minimum.

Allison has been able to work during the war emergency with a minimum of labor troubles. Slow-downs and absenteeism such as have been encountered elsewhere have not been a problem at the Allison plant where production is on schedule. Output far exceeds year ago levels, but no detailed information may be made public.

Women workers will be able to work 10 hours as well as the men, he said, because very little of the work is fatiguing. With the ultramodern machinery in the plant the old heavy lifting is gone. He said women are doing a splendid job. Already, about 20 per cent of the workers are women. Indiana has suspended the eight hour law for women working in war plants, tho not for those in civilian jobs.

Builds Trained Force.

The company would pay overtime for hours worked in excess of the legal work week, now 40 hours.

Allison has licked one of its most difficult problems—building a force of trained men—thru a broad education program begun in 1940, which now is achieving results in the field.

The company had a most difficult problem in organizing a trained force because it had to teach men to deal with an engine capable of propelling planes at 400 miles an hour speeds. Such a simple little thing as leaving the cap loose on gasoline tanks—something that would not cause much trouble on a slower plane—might result in all the gas being siphoned from the tank at the high speeds.

15,000 Go Thru Schools.

To assure an adequate staff of trained men—both in the armed forces and civilian—the company has established a training school near its Indianapolis plant. Others are located in the field. About 15,000 men have been trained so far, 4,500 of them at the main school.

The school at the factory has for its primary job that of training men who will be instructors in the field. Specialists are being turned out for the various parts of the engine.

An interesting training course also has been established for so-called "fire squads"—small groups of men having a complete knowledge of an entire plane. They will be sent to areas where trouble has developed and it will be their job to leave service men in the field with the ability to carry on under any conditions.

Investors' Guide

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

I have been told the 1942 revenue law contains changes in provisions covering capital gains and losses which are vital to all investors. Tax advantages are said to have been offered which might not be available in 1943. Any light you can shed on this will be appreciated.—E. B. E.

Answer: Yes, changes in the new tax law affecting capital gains and losses give investors important tax advantages which may be available only this year. An explanation of these changes may be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to Investors' Guide.

OLD EXEMPTIONS.

I have been a private in the army since February this year. Has my personal income tax exemption been lowered in the 1942 revenue laws? I am unmarried.—P.L.E.

Answer: The 1942 tax law lowered personal exemptions for single men from $750 to $500, and for married men from $1,500 to $1,200. The new revenue act provides, however, that military and naval personnel below the rank of a commissioned officer set additional exemptions of $250 if single and $300 if married. The exemptions apply only against income received during military tenure, which in your case would be from February of this year.

CENSORED.

Does the Douglas Aircraft company still issue quarterly earnings reports? How do dividend payments on the capital stock compare for the last three years?—L. Y.

Answer: At the request of the war department and with the approval of the New York Stock exchange, Douglas Aircraft company will not issue periodic earnings statements for the duration of the war. Dividends totaled $5 in 1940, 1941, and to date this year.

PEAK PRICE.

In what year did Northern Pacific railroad stock sell for as high as $1,000 a share?—L. E.

Answer: In 1901, the road's shares sold for as much as $700 a share on the New York Stock exchange, with private sales reported as high as $1,000 a share.

NLRB ORDERS EDISON TO DISSOLVE UNION AND EMPLOYES' PLAN

The Chicago regional office of the National Labor Relations board yesterday announced it had ordered the Commonwealth Edison company, Chicago, to disband the employés' representation plan and the Utility Employés' union, and to "cease interference with the rights of [Edison] employés to engage in self-organization."

The board said the employés' representation plan was formed by the company in March, 1921, and that the union was formed about May, 1937. Both are company dominated, the board held, and it asserted that the utility union "was brought into being by employé representatives of the representation plan, as a device to perpetuate the dominated organization by means of a substitute organization to be made available as a successor to the plan in event the plan were outlawed by the board."

many situations," he said. "Pooling, sharing, combining in operation as a unit represent a necessary stripping for action in time of war. The road has been cleared for this legally and the centralized direction required is provided by the Office of Petroleum Coördination."

One refining official expressed belief that the OPC had decided on the far reaching step to prevent the War Production board from taking control of the oil industry from OPC under the WPB program for concentrating the production effort of numerous industries to save man power and direct materials into war goods.

Asked if the OPC acted to head off WPB control over the oil industry, Davies declined to confirm it.

URGES PRIVATE EFFORT TO SAVE PEACE BUSINESS

Because federal employment services are making no attempt to place persons in "nonessential" businesses, it is up to private job agencies to help solve man power problems in Illinois, Joseph T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, said yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the Illinois Board of Private Employment Agencies in the Illinois Athletic club.

Meek, who represents 30,000 merchants in the state, said the relief rolls and the amounts paid out in unemployment compensations are far too large at a time when there is talk of man power shortages and private businesses are "fighting for their right to live."

Meek asserted that bills now in congress advocating the complete federaliation of unemployment compensation and many other ideas being foisted on the American people by "long hairs" in Washington are threats to the individual's traditional freedom in seeking work. He said he

RESERVE BANKS' OPEN MARKET OPERATIONS ON MODERATE SCALE

Open market operations of the federal reserve banks were on a moderate scale during the last week, the federal reserve board's weekly report showed last night. Synthetic Rubber Output to Reach 1.1 Million Ton Basis by 1944; 'Loose Talk' Is Criticized

Do Job in Two Years

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 12 [Special].—By January, 1944, the chemical industry will be producing synthetic rubber at the rate of 1,100,000 tons annually, Dr. Charles Allen Thomas, Dayton, O., director of the Central Research laboratories of the Monsanto Chemical company, predicted here today.

Thomas said the natural rubber industry required 50 years to get its production on a 600,000 ton annual basis, but the chemical industry needs only two years to get synthetic rubber output on nearly twice as large a basis.

"After the war, instead of natural rubber alone, we shall have numerous chemical synthetic rubbers to fit specific needs. These rubbers will be all test-tube creations, each tailored to order, and I confidently predict that synthetic rubbers will capture a great many markets in which the natural product formerly enjoyed an unchallenged monopoly."

Barrier to Future Hitlers.

"In laboratories thruout the land investigations are going on behind closely guarded doors which may at any instant revolutionize the course of the war," he continued. "The nucleus of such a technological high command, if maintained active during peacetime, probably will constitute democracy's best assurance against a future Hitler."

After recalling improvements in the quality of gasoline from an average octane rating of 65 in 1920 to aviation fuels of 100 or higher, Thomas predicted that automobiles and "crash proof" planes soon will run on 150 octane fuel. At the same time, chemically synthesized lubricating oils will permit their motors to run at very high speeds, giving more power per unit of weight.

What? No Kitchens?

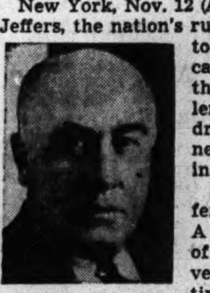
Thomas also discussed advances being made thru chemistry in plastics, medicine, and foods.

"The day may come when there will be no kitchens in the home," he said. "Food will be sent to the house via a pneumatic delivery tube, cooked and ready to serve. The modern housewife will talk not to a grocer but to a local community kitchen by radio television and may inquire, in an irritated voice, why her order of hot lamb chops, peas and vitamin biscuits has not reached her.

"When her dinner does arrive the food will be perfectly prepared, precisely the right temperature, and skillfully seasoned."

Jeffers Asks Assistance

New York, Nov. 12 (AP).—William M. Jeffers, the nation's rubber chief, said today "loose and careless talk" is the biggest problem he has in driving home the need for conserving rubber.



William M. Jeffers.

Some Do Not Read Details.

"Some of the people, accepting these statements at their face value and not troubling to read the details, conclude that mileage regulations are not necessary, and are an infringement of their rights."

Jeffers commented that every driver would like to believe there is some short cut to rubber conservation other than mileage rationing, but added: "Unfortunately there isn't."

The facts are, said Jeffers, that the Japanese cut off 90 per cent of our supplies and that as a result the United States is compressing into two years the building of a tremendous synthetic rubber industry which ordinarily would require a dozen years to build. Meanwhile the nation must conserve to bridge the two year gap until synthetics are rolling. That, he indicated, is the reason for nation-wide gasoline rationing and a 35 mile an hour speed limit.

"In Mood to Make Example."

Jeffers said he is "in the mood to make an example" of those who violate gasoline-tire mileage rules.

"The greatest reserve supply of rubber we have in this country is in the million tons of rubber in the tires of our passenger cars and trucks," Jeffers said. "We must stretch that million tons as far as it will possibly go—and maybe a little bit farther."

With your help we can give them that picture," the rubber chief said. "If there is no confusion the American people will go along with the rubber conservation program 100 per cent."

Latin Jungles Yield Up

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12 (AP).—Down in the jungles of Central America and the Amazon valley of South America natives are hacking their way into little or never before explored wilds and are bringing out natural rubber in quantities greatly exceeding expectations.

Trading posts are springing up thruout the 16 Latin-American republics with which the state department has made agreements for exploitation of wild rubber resources. The Board of Economic Warfare maps the program, the Rubber Reserve company, subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, executes it.

The arrival in Dallas, Tex., early this month of Tom Braniff, air line operator, with a plane bearing 4,000 pounds of crude rubber from Nicaragua, exemplifies the rapid strides being made in efforts to obtain in the western hemisphere rubber supplies to partially offset the loss of normal sources when the Japanese overran the East Indies.

Boats to Be Used Mainly.

Transportation of crude rubber from Latin American countries, however, will be accomplished largely by boat, an official of the BEW said, but whenever planes to the United States have available cargo space they are to be loaded with crude rubber.

Speaking of the Nicaragua rubber resources, the BEW officials said:

"There hadn't been a hatfull of rubber shipped out of there in 30 years. On the basis of previous surveys, we estimated when we started this program that importations from Nicaragua might average 200 tons a year. It begins to look now like we may get 5 or 10 times that much."

The same pleasant surprise in rubber yields is turning up elsewhere. Production in Panama was described as two or three times more than expected.

Established Units Serve.

The personnel and industrial organization of large American companies long established in Latin American countries are being utilized as much as possible. For example, big chewing gum and copra industries, with their thousands of native employés were called upon to serve.

Almost impenetrable jungles had to be pierced. Equipment had to be rushed down by boat, train and plane from American factories—machetes, tin pails for catching latex, medical supplies.

Many natives had to be taught, and still are being taught, how to recognize rubber trees and how to go about tapping them. The whole program is being developed so that they bring theil ratex to the remote "trading posts." From these original gathering points the latex is concentrated to still more focal points and so on until ready for shipment to the United States.

Under the agreements reached between the state department and the Latin American governments, this country is to acquire all of the natural rubber produced in excess of their own essential needs.

Congoleum-Nairn to Pay Wage Dividend of $100,000

New York, Nov. 12 [Special].—Albert W. Hawkes, president of Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., today informed all the firm's employés that a wage dividend aggregating more than $100,000 will be paid about Dec. 18 at the rate of one-half of 1 per cent of each employé's five year total earnings not exceeding $2,000 a year. It is the fourth such distribution since 1939.

Legionnaires Urge Gas for Business Travelers

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 12 [Special].—John W. Dow of Bloomington, president of the American Travelers association, announced today that division 3 and 4 of the Illinois department of the American Legion, representing 25,000 Legionnaires, had passed a resolution asserting that "any citizen who uses his automobile for necessary travel in earning a living should at no time be hindered by rationing of gasoline.

HOG PRICES FALL TO 7 MONTH LOW ON BIG SUPPLIES

The fall movement of hogs to market was the largest of the season yesterday and drove prices to the lowest levels in seven months. Top grades at the Chicago stock yards sold at $14 a hundred pounds, lowest since April 3 and $1.75 below the 22 year peak established five weeks ago. Packers paid an average of $13.90, the lowest in seven months and $1.70 below the high last month.

Farmers shipped 23,000 hogs to the Chicago yards, including directs to packers, the second largest Thursday supply since February.

EXCEPTING OATS, GRAINS ADVANCE IN DULL TRADE

Grain futures prices, with the exception of oats, moved slightly higher on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, but markets continued dull and trading was restricted. The generally firm tone was attributed more to lack of selling pressure than to buying.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel higher. Corn advanced ⅛ to ½ cent and ry, ⅜ to ⅝ cent. Oats were unchanged to ⅛ cent lower. Soy beans eased ¼ to ¾ cent in a nominal market.

The cash corn market attracted major interest as prices advanced 1 to 1½ cent a bushel compared with the December future to the highest levels since Oct. 2.

DON'T BORROW
Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.

HOW NEW FRONT MENACES AXIS

This is a newly revised map of Central Europe, the greater part of the Mediterranean Sea, and much of North Africa. It is presented with the object of providing readers with a geographical understanding of the sensational new war developments, which include the invasion of Morocco and Algeria in North Africa by an American expeditionary force under General Eisenhower; the movement by axis forces, in violation of armistice terms, into what previously was unoccupied France; and the resultant fresh break between France and the European axis powers. The map suggests the possible strategy of the united nations, revealing the proximity of vulnerable Italy, Sicily, and Sardinia to Tunisia in North Africa, where an allied force could be based for a thrust at axis Europe.

For preserving Tribune color maps, etc., leatherette bound, loose-leaf scrapbooks in full page size now are available; $2.50 each at Tribune Public Service offices, or $3.15 each by insured delivery
